High Supports Approval Seen By Ellender

Senator Voices Hope Eisenhower Will Sign Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) renewing his prediction that the Senate will approve rigid price supports as part of the new farm bill, expressed hope tonight that President Eisenhower "will permit it to become law."

"This is an election year and it is extremely difficult to predict what the President will do," Ellender said in a speech recorded for radio station WWL-New Orleans.

He said Eisenhower's rejection of the natural gas bill was "a political veto" that cast a reflection over the Senate.

"The President's implication was plain," he said. "He implied that the (gas) bill was passed because unscrupulous and self-seeking individuals expended large amounts of money 'lobbying' for its passage."

"That some persons interested in passage of the bill had more money than judgment is beyond dispute," Ellender said, adding that a special lobbying investigation ordered by the Senate should get all facts.

As floor manager for the controversial farm bill, Ellender will ask Senate leaders Monday for a time limit on debate so as to assure a final vote before the week ends.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who has been leading opposition against rigid supports in the soil bank measure, told a reporter he will cooperate in getting a decision this week.

Ellender, taking some new jabs at Secretary of Agriculture Benson, disagreed with the contention that high-level supports had "prived us out of export markets."

He said the administration program of flexible and lower supports would not regain former world trade because foreign nations would undersell us no matter how low U.S. products were offered abroad.

An effort to match cotton export levels of Mexico and other countries "would bankrupt the American cotton farmer," he said.

Ellender declared that if Benson wants to push cotton "down to about 25 cents a pound, then I

NORCO La. Feb. 25 (AP) —A tugboat collided with a barge in the Mississippi River here today and sank. Two of the three crewmen apparently drowned.

The victims were identified as Alex Lirette about 50, and John Abbie Parfait, about 30, both of Dulac in Terrebonne Parish. No bodies have been recovered.

The collision occurred at the Shell Oil Co. loading dock.

Joseph Solet, operator of the tug and cousin of the victims, said he leaped onto the moored barge after his attempts to warn Lirette and Parfair failed. He said they probably couldn't hear because of the engine noise.

The tug, the Charles H, was pushing an oil barge toward the dock when the connecting cables snapped, Solet said. The fast moving current swept the 50-foot tug into a barge that was tied up at the dock.

"When I saw the tug was going to hit the moored barge, I tried everything, reverse and forward speeds, to keep from hitting it. Nothing seemed to work," Solet said.

The tug sank in water about 45 feet deep. Jesse Levy of the Caravan Towing Co. in Harvey owned the vessel.

Sen. Byrd Asks Mass Resistance To Integration

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called today for "massive resistence" in the South to challenge the Supreme Court's order for racial integration in the public schools.

Byrd made it clear in an interview he is not advocating or condoning violence in opposing enforcement of the order but sahd he wants Southern states to stick together in declaring the court's opinion unconstitutional.

"If we can organize the Southern states for massive resistance to this order I think that in time the rest of the country will realize that racial integration is not going to be accepted in the South," he said.

"In interposition, the South has a perfectly legal means of appeal from the Supreme Court's order."

Interposition is a doctrine under which some students of constitutional government have contended the states could refuse to implement within their own confines a Supreme Court decision they felt did not comply with the Constitution. Legislatures of some of the Southern states already have passed resolutions of this type.

While Byrd did not cast it in that light, his call for Southern unity on the school issue apparently was akin to the "passive resistance" urged by some proponents of racial integration.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) has urged a one-hour period of nationwide nonactivity by Negroes for boycotting segregated city buses.

The White House told Powell today it hopes he and his House colleagues will help get congressional approval for President Eisenhower's proposal to create a commission to consider civil rights problems.

In his State of the Union Message last month, Eisenhower urged Congress to create a bipartisan commission to examine charges that in some communities "Negro citizens are being deprived of their right to vote and are likewise being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures." He said he would submit later a proposal for expansion of federal efforts "to have every person judged and measured by what he is, rather than by his color, race or religion." This proposal has not yet been submitted.

Bryce N. Harlow, administrative assistant to the President, wrote Powell saying that "unfortunately" there had been no action to carry out the President's suggestion for

Stevenson Firm In Stand Against Race Segregation

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 25 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson spoke strongly tonight in favor of elimination of racial barriers.

Asserting America is nothing unless it stands for equal treatment for all citizens under the law, Stevenson said freedom is unfinished business "until all citizens may vote and live and go to school and work without encountering in their daily lives barriers which we reject in our law, our conscience and our religion."

The Supreme Court's desegregation decisions, he said, "speak clearly the law and the conscience of this land; they recognize that a time for transition and compliance is necessary, time for the readjustments that have to be made. But they do not

Agriculture Official Blasts Action

Welfare Board Refusal To Extend Distribution Of Surplus Food Rapped

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25 (AP)—A Louisiana agricultural official today criticized what he termed the State Welfare Board's "lack of response to public needs" in delaying expansion of federal food relief.

Woodrow W. Roberts, executive assistant to Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce, said in a statement:

"The refusal of the State Welfare Board to approve Commissioner Pearce's request for immediately expanding distribution of government-held surplus foods shows complete lack of response to public needs."

Louisiana in recent weeks began its largest federal food relief program since depression days, handing out federal surplus commodities to farm families hard hit by failing crops and prices.

Pearce several weeks ago asked the Welfare Department, which certifies those elizible for the food relief, to take advantage of the free commodities and authorize distribution to all needy persons.

In yesterday's meeting, the board voted to wait for future federal action. Members noted that Congress has a program under consideration to issue stamps entitling the needy to obtain surplus commodities.

The present Louisiana farmer relief program covers 13 of the state's 64 parishes, with 170,000 persons receiving the commodities. About 200,000 will share in the program eventually. It ends in May.

Board Chairman James C. Bolton, Alexandria, informed of Robert's remarks, said "the board's action was sound . . . . I don't feel any additional comment is called for."

Roberts insisted Pearce felt immediate expansion would serve two purposes: get the food to more needy persons and help get rid of surplus federal commodities.

Farm troubles, Roberts contended, were largely brought about by farm programs of the past which

Medics Rescue Three Survivors Of Plane Crash

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 25 (AP) — Medical Corps parachutists ferried by a helicopter found three survivors tonight where a U.S. Air Force transport crashed in a snowstorm 50 miles north of Madrid.

The other three men aboard perished in the crash, an Air Force spokesman said. Names released did not identify personnel as survivor or dead.

The C47 transport, carrying six men attached to the small American military aid mission to Spain, crashed last night when only minutes from a landing here. It was flying from Chateauroux, France.

Announcement of the finding of three survivors was made by the Air Force after the wreckage had been spotted in the snow-covered Guadarrama Mountains by another C-47 transport piloted by Capt. Robert L. Hess of the U.S. Air Force in Spain. Ten Spanish and American planes had searched for the wreckage since dawn.

The plane crashed at 6,000 feet, halfway between the Santillana res-

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee named as other members of the subcommittee Sens. Jackson (D-Wash), Ervin (D-NC), Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Duff (R-Pa). Jackson also has been outspoken in criticism of the administration's air-atomic program.

Peron Asked To Leave U.S.-Owned Hotel In Panama

PANAMA, Feb. 25—UP—Former Argentine President Juan Peron said today he had been notified to get out of the U. S.-owned hotel at Colon but he demanded the notice be put in writing.

The notice was sent to the ousted dictator by an official of the Panama Canal Co., which owns the Washington Hotel. Peron has been staying there since November.

Earlier in the day, the State Department in Washington said steps had been taken to get Peron out of the hotel. There had been protests in Congress.

Ethyl Strike Ends; Workers Return To Jobs

3-Day Walkout Of 2,300 Settled In Saturday Talks

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Strikers in an hour-long meeting today okayed terms of a new contract with the Ethyl Corp. plant here, ending a three-day walkout by 2,300 union workers.

President Willie Dipaola of local 12,900, United Mine Workers, district 50, said the union vote, conducted in a packed junior high school gymnasium, was almost unanimous.

The men begin returning to work with the "dog shift" which reports at 11 p.m. (CST) tonight.

The ethyl plant is the world's largest producer of gasoline antiknock compound. Supervisory personnel had continued operations on limited basis.

There was no disorder during the strike in the heart of Baton Rouge's vast industrial empire stretched along the Mississippi River.

And Dipaola, in a brief statement after the union membership session, praised workers for their orderly conduct during the walkout.

Management and union leaders reached accord at 12:05 a.m., after a night-long parley, and the afternoon union session ratified the pact.

Pay was a minor issue, with major differences involving benefit provisions and job classifications.

Dipaola said union workers were "well satisfied."

While terms of the approved contract were not spelled out, it is understood pay will be increased 15 cents an hour or six per cent, whichever is greater. Average pay under the old contract was $2.71. The wage boost also included improvements in shift pay, with 8 cents the new extra rate for the 3-11 shift and 16 cents extra for the 11-7 shift.

Wind Here Clocked At 51 M. P. H.

Gusts of wind up to 51 miles per hour in the Monroe - West Monroe area early Saturday were reported last night by C.A.A. officials at Selman Field. The wind hurled dust and sand through Twin Cities streets.

No serious damages were reported.

The highest wind speed occurred at 5:15 a.m. Saturday, shortly before the wind shifted at 5:30 a.m. and quieted considerably. The wind velocity built up during the night after it was clocked at 25 miles per hour at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

At midnight it had risen to 35 miles per hour and continued to rise until it reached the peak at 5:15 a.m.

U. S. Government weather forecasters predict that Northeast area residents probably will witness partly cloudy and mild weather today.

C. A. A. officials at Selman Field last night reported that the highest mercury reading yesterday was 59, 15 degrees below Friday's highest recording. Lowest reading yesterday was reported at 50 degrees which was also 15 degrees below the lowest Friday reading.

Florida Soldier Slain At Polk In Effort To Escape

FORT POLK, La. Feb. 25—UP—An 18-year-old Florida soldier was shot and killed today by military guards in a stockade break, and three other infantrymen were still at large.

Army officials identified the youth as Pvt. John A. Roche, Pensacola, Fla., awaiting trial on charges of carnal knowledge. He was shot and killed as he attempted to climb over the fence of the heavily-guarded stockade by a tower guard.

Fulbright Assails Dulles And Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—Sen. J. William Fulbright said Saturday that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have "failed utterly" to give the nation the positive leadership it needs in foreign affairs.

As a result, the Arkansas Democrat said in a United Press interview, "we are in a very dangerous situation" in the continuing cold war maneuvering with Soviet Russia. "Right now we are losing, despite what Dulles says."

Damage High; Hundreds Left Without Homes

East St. Louis Area Target Of Lethal Tornado

SUMMERFIELD, Ill., Feb. 25 (AP)—A death - dealing tornado ripped across a Southern Illinois county early today, leaving six dead, hundreds homeless and more than a million dollars worth of damage.

This little town of 500 bore the brunt of the savage twister which struck when most persons were asleep.

Three of the dead and at least six of the dozen injured were counted here. About half the town's 106 buildings, residence and business, were either demolished or damaged.

"It sounded like a terrible funnel which was going to suck you up," said Mrs. Arnold Beutler, a housewife living at the southwestern edge of Summerfield. She was awake caring for her sick husband.

Millstadt, a small St. Clair County town along the Mississippi River just south of St. Louis, was the first town hit. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freese were killed in the rubble of their home there.

Willard Holloway Jr., 4, was killed in the East St. Louis suburb of Centerville.

Mayor Eldon Loehring of Summerfield, dressed in coveralls and himself a rescue worker, estimated

Volunteers Ready For Heart Drive In Ouachita Area

A local battle will be waged today—"Heart Sunday" —in the long struggle against heart disease, the leading cause of death in this country, when hundreds of Ouachita parish Heart Fund volunteers begin a parish-wide collection at 2 p.m., Mrs. T. Mickel, Heart Sunday chairman, said Saturday.

Hearts all over the land are in trouble and much scientific research is necessary to help them, she added. That is why everyone is asked to "open your heart and dig deep in your pocket."

Nearly 800,000 deaths are caused each year in the United States by diseases of the heart, the chairman said.

She said that Heart Sunday volunteers who call on area residents this afternoon "are neither experts on the heart disease problems nor solicitors. Their basic mission involves nothing more than giving you, their neighbors, an opportunity to make a wise investment in the continuing fight against diseases of the heart and circulation."

The Heart Sunday chairman appealed to residents, "Make your Heart Fund volunteer feel welcome and let her know that you appreciate her efforts in behalf of hearts everywhere. Open your heart and give generously."

Mrs. Mickel explained, "All we ask, is that you consider the magnitude of the heart problem, search

Ike Returns To Capital; No Word Given On Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower came back from an 11-day Georgia vacation today without saying whether he has yet made up his mind to seek a second term.

The President arrived at National Airport aboard his private plane, Columbine III, at 1:40 p.m. and went directly to the White House.

He had flown up from Moultrie, Ga., not far from the Thomasville, plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, his host for the hunting and golfing vacation.

As he climbed into the plane at Moultrie a woman shook a finger at him and yelled: "Stand right up there and tell us you're going to run."

The President laughed heartily, but made no reply.

The woman was Mrs. Rebecca Kilgore, who runs a food concession at Spence Air Force Base, Moultrie.

Humphrey flew back with the President. On their arrival here, reporters asked the secretary whether he had learned the "answer to the big one" — that is, whether Eisenhower had disclosed his second term intentions.

"Not a word, boys," Humphrey said with a laugh. "The quail still are flying high."

In the party aboard the plane were Mrs. Eisenhower; Mrs. Humphrey; and Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law.

The trip took 2 hours and 31 minutes.

The President, assisting Mrs. Eisenhower, tipped his hat and waved to several hundred spectators as he walked down the ramp to get to his automobile.

Medics Rescue Three Survivors Of Plane Crash

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 25 (AP) — Medical Corps parachutists ferried by a helicopter found three survivors tonight where a U.S. Air Force transport crashed in a snowstorm 50 miles north of Madrid.

The other three men aboard perished in the crash, an Air Force spokesman said. Names released did not identify personnel as survivor or dead.

The C47 transport, carrying six men attached to the small American military aid mission to Spain, crashed last night when only minutes from a landing here. It was flying from Chateauroux, France.

Announcement of the finding of three survivors was made by the Air Force after the wreckage had been spotted in the snow-covered Guadarrama Mountains by another C-47 transport piloted by Capt. Robert L. Hess of the U.S. Air Force in Spain. Ten Spanish and American planes had searched for the wreckage since dawn.

Symington Heads Senatorial Probe Of U.S. Air Force

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force and a sharp critic of administration defense policies, was named today to direct a special Senate investigation of Air Force capabilities.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee named as other members of the subcommittee Sens. Jackson (D-Wash), Ervin (D-NC), Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Duff (R-Pa). Jackson also has been outspoken in criticism of the administration's air-atomic program.

Peron Asked To Leave U.S.-Owned Hotel In Panama

PANAMA, Feb. 25—UP—Former Argentine President Juan Peron said today he had been notified to get out of the U. S.-owned hotel at Colon but he demanded the notice be put in writing.

The notice was sent to the ousted dictator by an official of the Panama Canal Co., which owns the Washington Hotel. Peron has been staying there since November.

Earlier in the day, the State Department in Washington said steps had been taken to get Peron out of the hotel. There had been protests in Congress.

Ethyl Strike Ends; Workers Return To Jobs

3-Day Walkout Of 2,300 Settled In Saturday Talks

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Strikers in an hour-long meeting today okayed terms of a new contract with the Ethyl Corp. plant here, ending a three-day walkout by 2,300 union workers.

President Willie Dipaola of local 12,900, United Mine Workers, district 50, said the union vote, conducted in a packed junior high school gymnasium, was almost unanimous.

The men begin returning to work with the "dog shift" which reports at 11 p.m. (CST) tonight.

The ethyl plant is the world's largest producer of gasoline antiknock compound. Supervisory personnel had continued operations on limited basis.

There was no disorder during the strike in the heart of Baton Rouge's vast industrial empire stretched along the Mississippi River.

And Dipaola, in a brief statement after the union membership session, praised workers for their orderly conduct during the walkout.

Management and union leaders reached accord at 12:05 a.m., after a night-long parley, and the afternoon union session ratified the pact.

Pay was a minor issue, with major differences involving benefit provisions and job classifications.

Dipaola said union workers were "well satisfied."

While terms of the approved contract were not spelled out, it is understood pay will be increased 15 cents an hour or six per cent, whichever is greater. Average pay under the old contract was $2.71. The wage boost also included improvements in shift pay, with 8 cents the new extra rate for the 3-11 shift and 16 cents extra for the 11-7 shift.

Ike Returns To Capital; No Word Given On Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower came back from an 11-day Georgia vacation today without saying whether he has yet made up his mind to seek a second term.

The President arrived at National Airport aboard his private plane, Columbine III, at 1:40 p.m. and went directly to the White House.

He had flown up from Moultrie, Ga., not far from the Thomasville, plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, his host for the hunting and golfing vacation.

As he climbed into the plane at Moultrie a woman shook a finger at him and yelled: "Stand right up there and tell us you're going to run."

The President laughed heartily, but made no reply.

The woman was Mrs. Rebecca Kilgore, who runs a food concession at Spence Air Force Base, Moultrie.

Humphrey flew back with the President. On their arrival here, reporters asked the secretary whether he had learned the "answer to the big one" — that is, whether Eisenhower had disclosed his second term intentions.

"Not a word, boys," Humphrey said with a laugh. "The quail still are flying high."

In the party aboard the plane were Mrs. Eisenhower; Mrs. Humphrey; and Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law.

The trip took 2 hours and 31 minutes.

The President, assisting Mrs. Eisenhower, tipped his hat and waved to several hundred spectators as he walked down the ramp to get to his automobile.

ATTEMPTS FRUITLESS—A picture of dejection, this five - year - old boy was found whimpering outside a filling station in Tucumcari, N. M., last Monday. Attempts to identify the lad have been fruitless. He is in a local hospital for treatment of bruises, a broken nose and other signs of mistreatment.

Wind Here Clocked At 51 M. P. H.

Gusts of wind up to 51 miles per hour in the Monroe - West Monroe area early Saturday were reported last night by C.A.A. officials at Selman Field. The wind hurled dust and sand through Twin Cities streets.

No serious damages were reported.

The highest wind speed occurred at 5:15 a.m. Saturday, shortly before the wind shifted at 5:30 a.m. and quieted considerably. The wind velocity built up during the night after it was clocked at 25 miles per hour at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

At midnight it had risen to 35 miles per hour and continued to rise until it reached the peak at 5:15 a.m.

U. S. Government weather forecasters predict that Northeast area residents probably will witness partly cloudy and mild weather today.

C. A. A. officials at Selman Field last night reported that the highest mercury reading yesterday was 59, 15 degrees below Friday's highest recording. Lowest reading yesterday was reported at 50 degrees which was also 15 degrees below the lowest Friday reading.

Florida Soldier Slain At Polk In Effort To Escape

FORT POLK, La. Feb. 25—UP—An 18-year-old Florida soldier was shot and killed today by military guards in a stockade break, and three other infantrymen were still at large.

Army officials identified the youth as Pvt. John A. Roche, Pensacola, Fla., awaiting trial on charges of carnal knowledge. He was shot and killed as he attempted to climb over the fence of the heavily-guarded stockade by a tower guard.

Fulbright Assails Dulles And Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—Sen. J. William Fulbright said Saturday that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have "failed utterly" to give the nation the positive leadership it needs in foreign affairs.

As a result, the Arkansas Democrat said in a United Press interview, "we are in a very dangerous situation" in the continuing cold war maneuvering with Soviet Russia. "Right now we are losing, despite what Dulles says."

Damage High; Hundreds Left Without Homes

East St. Louis Area Target Of Lethal Tornado

SUMMERFIELD, Ill., Feb. 25 (AP)—A death - dealing tornado ripped across a Southern Illinois county early today, leaving six dead, hundreds homeless and more than a million dollars worth of damage.

This little town of 500 bore the brunt of the savage twister which struck when most persons were asleep.

Three of the dead and at least six of the dozen injured were counted here. About half the town's 106 buildings, residence and business, were either demolished or damaged.

"It sounded like a terrible funnel which was going to suck you up," said Mrs. Arnold Beutler, a housewife living at the southwestern edge of Summerfield. She was awake caring for her sick husband.

Millstadt, a small St. Clair County town along the Mississippi River just south of St. Louis, was the first town hit. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freese were killed in the rubble of their home there.

Willard Holloway Jr., 4, was killed in the East St. Louis suburb of Centerville.

Mayor Eldon Loehring of Summerfield, dressed in coveralls and himself a rescue worker, estimated

Volunteers Ready For Heart Drive In Ouachita Area

A local battle will be waged today—"Heart Sunday" —in the long struggle against heart disease, the leading cause of death in this country, when hundreds of Ouachita parish Heart Fund volunteers begin a parish-wide collection at 2 p.m., Mrs. T. Mickel, Heart Sunday chairman, said Saturday.

Hearts all over the land are in trouble and much scientific research is necessary to help them, she added. That is why everyone is asked to "open your heart and dig deep in your pocket."

Nearly 800,000 deaths are caused each year in the United States by diseases of the heart, the chairman said.

She said that Heart Sunday volunteers who call on area residents this afternoon "are neither experts on the heart disease problems nor solicitors. Their basic mission involves nothing more than giving you, their neighbors, an opportunity to make a wise investment in the continuing fight against diseases of the heart and circulation."

The Heart Sunday chairman appealed to residents, "Make your Heart Fund volunteer feel welcome and let her know that you appreciate her efforts in behalf of hearts everywhere. Open your heart and give generously."

Mrs. Mickel explained, "All we ask, is that you consider the magnitude of the heart problem, search

Shreveport Tot Undergoes Delicate Heart Surgery At New Orleans Wednesday

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Four Charity Hospital surgeons will take the heart of three-year-old Charles Procell in their hands Wednesday in an operation they hope will give him normal life.

Charles, son of Mrs. Beth Atkinson of 310 Perrie Ave., Shreveport, lies weak and listless in a hospital ward. His lips blue, he pants for breath with the slightest exertion.

Surgeons hope the boy will be playing cops and robbers in his back yard soon. Without the operation, they say, he might not make it through another year.

The surgeons will attempt to correct four heart deformities that have plagued Charles since birth. The deformities are causing a flow of unpurified blood through his body. Two-thirds of his blood does not go through his lungs as it should.

To correct the condition, surgeons will do one of two things:

1. Take the left arm branch of the aorta artery, which is the main pipeline for distributing fresh blood to the body. Curve the branch over and plug it into the pulmonary artery, which leads to the lungs.

2. Clamp the pulmonary and aorta arteries together and cut an opening between them. This will allow blood from the high pressure aorta to flow into the pulmonary and on to the lungs.

Either operation will partially correct Charles' condition, surgeons say. Both are highly delicate. The operating surgeon will decide on which step to take when he opens the boy's chest.

Because of the danger in giving the boy an anaesthetic, doctors will cool his body to about 10 degrees below normal during the operation.

This will be done by placing his body in a rubber blanket and circulating ice water through coils inside the blanket.

Usually, in cases such as Charles', surgeons wait until the child is four years old, but the boy is getting the operation a year early because his condition has been getting worse.

"He has a tired old heart," a surgeon said, because of its overwork in trying to supply fresh blood to Charles body. "Another year might be too much for it."

Science Fair To Be Held March 24

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 25 (Special) — Entry blanks for the Northwestern State College Regional Science Fair — to be held here on March 24 — should be in the hands of the NSC Science Fair Committee by March 12, Dr. Alan T. Crosby, committee chairman, said here today.

Interest in the forthcoming event is high this year, Dr. Crosby has stated, and a new high in entries is expected for this, the second of its kind to be held here.

Another indication of increased interest in the regional meeting is that local science fairs are being staged at Natchitoches, Coushatta, and Readhimer high schools. It is expected that the best exhibits from each of these local fairs will be entered in the NSC event.

Recently, the NSC Science Fair Committee — composed of Dr. Crosby, Dr. Yvonne Phillips, Dr. George Ware, John Manning and W. E. Timon, Jr. — and other NSC faculty members, completed the visitation program to various schools in the area with visits to Pollock in Grant Parish, Leesville in Vernon and the Natchitoches elementary school.

The committee members pointed out that even though its designated areas consist of Natchitoches, Rapides, Avoyelles, Vernon, Grant, Sabine, La Salle, Catahoula and Concordia parishes, it will accept entries from other parish schools if students there have not exhibited and do not intend to exhibit in any other regional science fair.

Baptist Pastor Explains Refusal To Talk In Miss.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—Dr. Blake Smith, University Baptist Church pastor, says he and three other scheduled speakers who withdrew from Mississippi State College's Religious Emphasis Week program did so to maintain self-respect.

"We withdrew from the campus because we had to maintain our own self-respect and because we did not want to cause any embarrassment to a fine institution like Mississippi State," Dr. Smith said after returning home.

The ministers had been told they were not free to say publicly that "Christianity and segregation are incompatible."

"Texas has its problems, but thank God we can discuss them," Dr. Smith told a reporter.

The pastor said he believes the events causing his withdrawal from the program were precipitated by what he called an "irresponsible and inflammatory" Mississippi press and by political pressure exerted by the Citizens Council.

Dr. Smith described the spirit of the students and administration at Mississippi State College as "wonderful."

"On the first day, we discovered that the race question eclipsed every other issue," said Dr. Smith.

"The university administration requested us not to discuss the subject on or off the campus, even when the question was raised by students, and not to issue any statements to the press concerning our personal convictions on this subject, even after one of our team has been misrepresented by the press.

"Four of us felt we could not accede to this request and withdrew."

One-Third Of Democrats In Senate Favor Adlai

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—More than a third of the Democrats in the Senate now favor Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, a United Press survey revealed Saturday.

Scattered support was indicated for other possibilities but a majority of the 49 Democratic senators were still uncommitted and unwilling yet to declare a choice, publicly or privately.

A check of 44 senators or their offices showed eight publicly backing Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1952, for the 1956 nomination. Nine others, who did not want to be identified, were listed as favoring or leaning toward the former Illinois governor.

The eight who have publicly endorsed Stevenson are Sens. Clinton P. Anderson (N.M.), Paul H. Douglas (Ill.), Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), A. S. Mike Monroney (Okla.), Richard L. Neuberger (Ore.) John J. Sparkman (Ala.), Hebert H. Lehman (N.Y.) and James E. Murray (Mont.).

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is matched against Stevenson in four of the forthcoming state presidential primaries, has not yet been endorsed by any of his fellow Democratic senators.

Similarly there was no outright endorsement for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who is now considered among the three leading candidates for the nomination. Some Democrats believed Sen. Robert S. Kerr (Okla.) favored Harriman, but his office denied he was committed to any candidate.

The survey indicated much indecision still prevailing in the South. A number of southerners would like to support Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson or Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who was backed by most of the South in 1952.

Both of those senators, however, have discouraged moves in their behalf. Johnson suffered a heart attack last summer.

35 Persons Die In East German Train Disaster

BERLIN, Feb. 25 —UP— A double-engined freight train slammed into a passenger train in Communist East Germany Saturday, killing 35 persons and seriously injuring 40 others in the worst East German rail disaster since the war.

The East German Radio said a freight train with two engines slammed into the side of a passenger express, smashing one passenger car and derailing several others near the Bornitz railroad station in Saxony.

Doctors from nearby hospitals, Communist peoples police and railroad officials rushed to the scene to begin salvage operations, the broadcast said.

The radio said the two engines of the freight and the locomotive of the passenger train turned over.

"Salvage crews found the bodies of 35 persons killed in the crash," the radio said.

"Forty others who were seriously injured were given first aid immediately and were then rushed to nearby hospitals."

The broadcast said Transport Minister Erwin Kramer took personal charge of aid and salvage efforts.

Investigation into the cause of the wreck "has not yet been completed," it said.

The collision occurred between the towns of Riesa and Oschatz in the province of Saxony. The passenger express was en route from Dresden.

Accident Victim Dies Of Injuries

State trooper L. C. Sims said Langley was a passenger in a car driven by George E. Miller, 24, Pine Bluff, Ark. Sims said the car ran off the highway and overturned last night.

Langley's body will be taken to Princeton for burial.

Ex-Police Chief Appeals 15-Year Arson Sentence

JASPER, Ala., Feb. 25 (AP) —Former police chief John Burton quickly appealed a 15-year arson sentence and was allowed $6,000 bond today, but remained in jail as an escaped prisoner.

Court officials said the 35-year-old ex-officer, farmer and businessman must complete a 90-day sentence from which he escaped in 1952 before he can make bond.

Circuit Judge Arthur Fite passed sentence on the former Cherokee, Ala., police chief, whom a jury convicted of first degree arson for a fire that caused the death of David Borden, 28.

The state charged during the five-day trial that Burton, accompanied by Borden, set fire to a home he owned near here last Nov. 1. It was alleged that Burton hoped to collect about $2,000 in insurance. Borden died from burns suffered in the blaze.

LSU Foresters Test New Herbicide Sprays To Rid Hardwood In Pine Areas

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 5 (AP) — Louisiana State University foresters are spraying experimental forests with herbicides from the air in an effort to thin out low value hardwood trees from pine forests.

Dr. Paul Y. Burns, director of the LSU school of forestry, said this was one of the first times aerial spraying of forests has been tried in the South. The LSU agricultural experiment station is sponsoring the project.

The aerial foresters sprinkled a fine rain of chemicals on six eight-acre plots near Many. A check showed the chemical 2,4,5,-T (tricholorophenoxacetic acid mixed) with water was a promising hardwood killer.

Burns, reported not a single pine tree was damaged. He said the chemical, a growth harmone, disrupts the growth regulating mechanisms of hardwoods. It effectively destroys both large and small trees.

He predicted a "great future" for aerial spraying but warned "it is too early to recommend treatment because the project is still in the experimental stages."

Removal of hardwoods from pine forests is "like weeding a flower bed," Burns said. "In the South, the hardwood problem is more serious than in other parts of the country, because Southern hardwoods, like blackjack oak, hickory and gum, retard pine growth."

He said after the hardwoods are removed, pines grow faster and the quality of the wood increases, important for the Southern pulp and paper industries.

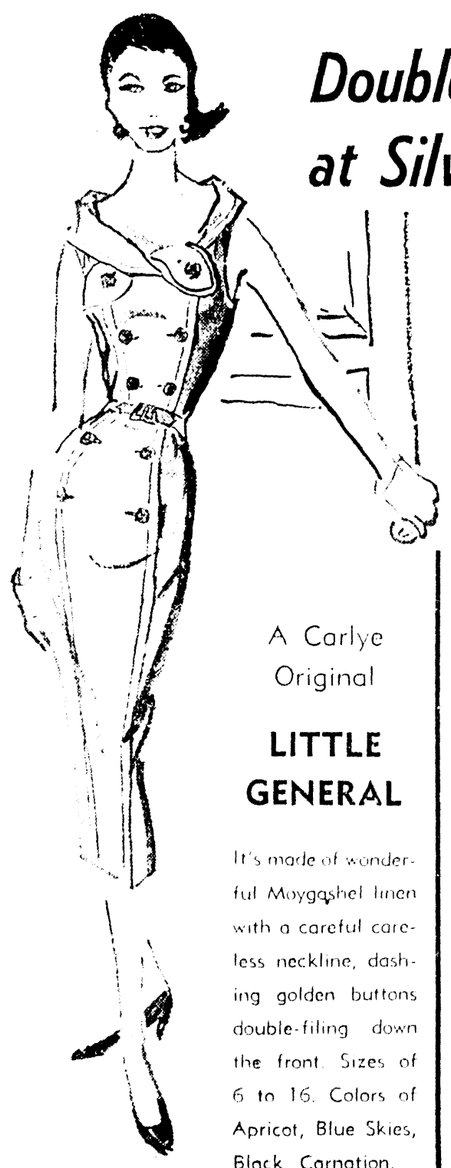

Burns said the experiments would continue in April on new forest plots.

Dr. Smith described the spirit of the students and administration at Mississippi State College as "wonderful."

"On the first day, we discovered that the race question eclipsed every other issue," said Dr. Smith.

"The university administration requested us not to discuss the subject on or off the campus, even when the question was raised by students, and not to issue any statements to the press concerning our personal convictions on this subject, even after one of our team has been misrepresented by the press.

"Four of us felt we could not accede to this request and withdrew."

Science Fair To Be Held March 24

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 25 (Special) — Entry blanks for the Northwestern State College Regional Science Fair — to be held here on March 24 — should be in the hands of the NSC Science Fair Committee by March 12, Dr. Alan T. Crosby, committee chairman, said here today.

Interest in the forthcoming event is high this year, Dr. Crosby has stated, and a new high in entries is expected for this, the second of its kind to be held here.

Another indication of increased interest in the regional meeting is that local science fairs are being staged at Natchitoches, Coushatta, and Readhimer high schools. It is expected that the best exhibits from each of these local fairs will be entered in the NSC event.

Recently, the NSC Science Fair Committee — composed of Dr. Crosby, Dr. Yvonne Phillips, Dr. George Ware, John Manning and W. E. Timon, Jr. — and other NSC faculty members, completed the visitation program to various schools in the area with visits to Pollock in Grant Parish, Leesville in Vernon and the Natchitoches elementary school.

The committee members pointed out that even though its designated areas consist of Natchitoches, Rapides, Avoyelles, Vernon, Grant, Sabine, La Salle, Catahoula and Concordia parishes, it will accept entries from other parish schools if students there have not ex-

One-Third Of Democrats In Senate Favor Adlai

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—More than a third of the Democrats in the Senate now favor Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, a United Press survey revealed Saturday.

Scattered support was indicated for other possibilities but a majority of the 49 Democratic senators were still uncommitted and unwilling yet to declare a choice, publicly or privately.

A check of 44 senators or their offices showed eight publicly backing Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1952, for the 1956 nomination. Nine others, who did not want to be identified, were listed as favoring or leaning toward the former Illinois governor.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is matched against Stevenson in four of the forthcoming state presidential primaries, has not yet been endorsed by any of his fellow Democratic senators.

Similarly there was no outright endorsement for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who is now considered among the three leading candidates for the nomination. Some Democrats believed Sen. Robert S. Kerr (Okla.) favored Harriman, but his office denied he was committed to any candidate.

The survey indicated much indecision still prevailing in the South. A number of southerners would like to support Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson or Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who was backed by most of the South in 1952.

Both of those senators, however, have discouraged moves in their behalf. Johnson suffered a heart attack last summer.

35 Persons Die In East German Train Disaster

BERLIN, Feb. 25 —UP— A double-engined freight train slammed into a passenger train in Communist East Germany Saturday, killing 35 persons and seriously injuring 40 others in the worst East German rail disaster since the war.

The East German Radio said a freight train with two engines slammed into the side of a passenger express, smashing one passenger car and derailing several others near the Bornitz railroad station in Saxony.

Doctors from nearby hospitals, Communist peoples police and railroad officials rushed to the scene to begin salvage operations, the broadcast said.

The radio said the two engines of the freight and the locomotive of the passenger train turned over.

"Salvage crews found the bodies of 35 persons killed in the crash," the radio said.

"Forty others who were seriously injured were given first aid immediately and were then rushed to nearby hospitals."

The broadcast said Transport Minister Erwin Kramer took personal charge of aid and salvage efforts.

Investigation into the cause of the wreck "has not yet been completed," it said.

The collision occurred between the towns of Riesa and Oschatz in the province of Saxony. The passenger express was en route from Dresden.

Accident Victim Dies Of Injuries

State trooper L. C. Sims said Langley was a passenger in a car driven by George E. Miller, 24, Pine Bluff, Ark. Sims said the car ran off the highway and overturned last night.

Langley's body will be taken to Princeton for burial.

BOUNTY FOR CHURCH

OAKTOWN, Ind. —(UP)— Disturbed by wolves attacking their cattle, a group of farmers staged a hunt. They tramped through nearby fields, sighted six wolves and killed two of them. The scalps were given to the Shaker Prairie Church, which collected a bounty on the animals.

LITTLE MEN

DOWAGIAC, Mich. —(UP) — Cass County Normal, which hasn't any male students this year, borrowed two teachers and two students from Dowagiac High to appear in male roles in its annual play. The play was "Little Women."

Interest in taxidermy has taken on tremendous proportions at Northeast State since Bobby Walker came to the campus.

The Rayville sophomore in agriculture education spends much of his extra time mounting animals, fish and birds which will add to the collection in the Science Department. Walker's enthusiasm in this phase of work has spread among students, and now he is training them in mounting specimens to quickly accumulate a large display for the college.

Specimens will be used in teaching and demonstrating wild life, Dr. Hansell F. Cross, of Northeast's science faculty, explained. Animals are given to the college by members of the Wild Life Association and other persons, and Bobby, a student laboratory assistant, then begins having fun in mounting them.

"It's a real pleasure to fish and hunt," Walker says, "but it's more interesting to mount game." Taxidermy can be a big help in conservation, too, he explains. Instead of killing so many birds and animals, the time is spent in mounting specimens.

This hobby took on greater emphasis after Walker began a correspondence course in taxidermy. Requirements called for pictures of things which he had mounted before he could receive his diploma. So his work at Northeast was prepared for by experience at home where he dealt with squirrels, raccoons, a deer head, fish, and other specimens.

Taxidermy is a tedious art, the student said. Making the animal or bird look real requires patience, skill, and a knowledge of chemistry. Certain solutions are used to preserve the skin, then a powdered preservative is placed inside just before the animal is sewed. Excelsior, and cotton are used in stuffing the animal, and papier-mache is employed in making the forms for mounting.

Some of the most tedious aspects of the process involve the placing of eyes, working with facial features, obtaining proper form of muscles. Sometimes the skin needs touching up or a bit of paint must be used around the eyelids or mouth. Torn skin should be patched, and extreme care should be used in handling preservatives as the hair will fall if the solution is too strong.

Judgement must be used in ordering eyes for the animal, bird or fish as specimens call for a variety of sizes, shapes and colors. Where pupils of the cat's eyes slant those of the raccoon and fox are round.

Bobby's collection of mountings include a snake. Different specimens call for different procedures, he explained. "It is harder to work with animals than fish or birds, but I prefer to mount animals." The biggest animal that he has mounted is a bob cat. Now he is busy with a deer head. In his collection is a yellow coon, in which he takes special pride because of the rarity of the animal in this area.

Cancer Society Parish Unit To Host Area Group

The Ouachita Unit of the American Cancer Society will be host to cancer workers from the Fifth District parishes at a dinner meeting to be held in the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 29th, according to Mrs. Fred Petty, chairman of the local Unit.

This will be the first of a series of meetings to be held over the state in the coming month. Volunteer workers from northeast Louisiana who are unable to attend the Feb. 29th meeting are urged to contact the regional office in Monroe, 408 Hudson Lane, to make reservations to attend either the Shreveport meeting at noon on March 2nd or the meeting in Alexandria at noon on the 28th of March, officials said.

George M. Rorex, Ouachita Unit 1956 campaign chairman, will preside and Dr. Roy L. Robertson, Monroe surgeon and member of the local board, will deliver the inspirational message to the volunteers who will combine life-saving education of the public with their fund raising in April.

Mrs. Marian M. Simmons, executive secretary of the Louisiana Division of the A.C.S.; Henry P. Houser, director of public information, from the state office in New Orleans, and C. J. Bergeron, field representative for southwestern Louisiana will be in attendance to lead training discussions on campaigning planning, record keeping, quotas and publicity.

Perry White, president of the "Lost Chord" Club of Monroe, will conclude the meeting with an inspiring encouragement on importance of the educational program which emphasizes the teaching of the seven danger signals which may mean cancer and the importance of regular physical examinations as the best insurance against cancer. His message will emphasize the appropriateness of this year's Crusade slogan for April, "Fight Cancer With A Checkup and A Check."

After the meeting which will be dismissed promptly at 8:00 p.m., there will be an optional feature for those who wish to remain to preview a new film on fund raising for the ACS. The film, "A Statement of Policy by the American Cancer Society" will be shown at 8:15 with Mr. O. T. Trapp, of the Ouachita Health Unit as projectionist.

The film is a new one in which Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman for the board of General Motors, and Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, deliver strong appeals for public support of the ACS policy on federated fund raising.

Civic leaders and all interested persons are invited to come to the film showing at 8:15 in the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel immediately after the campaign training meeting.

and must be accorded a large part of the success of the Ouachita parish schools of today. When he took charge, there was a single building used for the parish system, four teachers and 70 pupils comprised the setup. Today we have thousands of children enrolled in the parish schools with two large high schools, one in Monroe and one in West Monroe, and two high schools for colored.

Besides the tremendous progress of parish schools under the direction of T. O. Brown, one must not forget that he and Judge Percy Sandel were the two who did most to get established Ouachita Parish Junior college, which is now the proud Northeast Louisiana State College. It was quite suitable that the main building of this college should be named Brown Hall. We hope that sometime, not far off, there will also be a building named Percy Sandel hall.

The current semester at Northeast State college will see new building projects that will call for a sum no less than $850,000, states President Lewis C. Slater.

The erection of a second woman's dormitory started the last week. The cost is placed at $300,000. Its completion has been set for next autumn.

A first unit of a new and completely modern agriculture building is planned to be initiated during this semester.

But these are not all. An infirmary costing $50,000 and a student center addition is proposed at a cost of $100,000.

The music building is to be doubled in size at an expenditure of $200,000.

The huge modern classroom building nearing completion at the east end of the campus, facing on DeSiard Street, is to be in use this September and will house faculty offices, classrooms, faculty lounge and an ampitheatre seating up to 300 in numbers.

The new dormitory for men will be used for the first time this fall, and there are plans for still more buildings on the campus of this fast-growing college.

Congratulations to Richard Wainwright, 17, member of the senior class at Ouachita Parish High school, who won the American Legion annual oratorical contest for high schools. His success here at the past week end will afford for him the privilege of representing Monroe in a higher American Legion sponsored oratorical contest. His winning was over Larry McCarthy by a narrow margin.

He declared that the Constitution is the sum total of the ideals of a free people, as basis of his talk.

The contest is nationwide in scope and in the end a nationwide winner is named. We hope that Wainwright will have another honor that he will be the nation winner. He stands a good chance.

W. E. (Ned) Wilson, formerly of Monroe, now of Shreveport, where he is a high official of United Gas, has just been given another recognition. He has been named as head of the Community Chest for Caddo and Bossier parishes.

Jimmy Haddox, senior in West Monroe High school, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Haddox, has been honored by being named "Best Citizen", an award that is given each year by the Chief Tuquahome chapter of the D. A. R. in West Monroe.

The "Best Girl Citizen" was announced similarly some days ago. This honor was accorded to Miss Mary Ann Allen.

Miss Mary O'Kelly, buyer for a Monroe store, left Saturday for New York. She will be away for ten days. These trips are always a pleasure for Miss O'Kelly for it enables her to rub shoulders with representatives of many large retail concerns in the nation.

A small army will go forth this afternoon to obtain support, house to house, for the financing of the heart campaign. Today has been named "Heart Day" and it is sought to raise a substantial sum to be used in connection with further research work on the causes and prevention of this disease. All who are contacted should give generously to this worthy cause.

This column suggested that it is desired to have persons who have birthday on Leap Year Day, February 29 of any year, phone this information to the editor of this column.

The first one to so telephone this information is Tommie Christy, 214 Bancroft, West Monroe. He was born February 29, 1928.

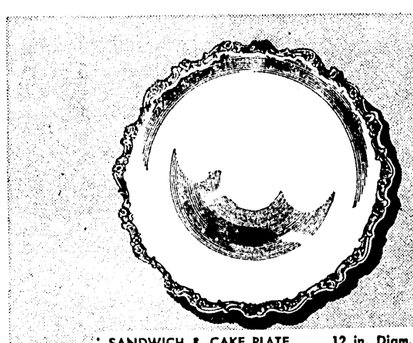

Mrs. Hattie McCormick, Calhoun R. F. D. 1 was born on a February 29 and this year will be 82 years of age.

Also Donald, age 16, was born on February 29. He lives at 103 Reagan street, West Monroe. Attends high school.

Thirteen 'Paradises' To Confederate

Thirteen tropical islands of the Caribbean, famed in song and story, have agreed to unite within the next two years as a Federation of the British Commonwealth.

An accord setting up the Federation was signed in London Thursday by representatives of the islands and the British Parliament and the Crown.

The glittering hope of eventual Commonwealth status, like that of such proud nations as Canada and Australia, now looms bright in these ancient and fascinatingly beautiful islands.

Britain's policy of steering its territories toward commonwealth status has paid off in this instance, as in many others.

The proposal of a union among the widely scattered Caribbean colonies, stretching for a thousand miles, has been discussed for a century or more.

During the past nine years this proposal has been deliberated intensively; and despite racial differences between Spanish, English, Danish and Negro populations of these various islands the spirit of unity has at length triumphed.

Three million persons will be represented in the new Federation—stretching from Trinidad, near the South American coast to the northern reaches of the Windward and Leeward Islands.

There are holdouts, including British Guiana, British Honduras and the British Virgin Islands group, based on prevailing economic reasons; yet these domains are not hostile, and may come into the Federation later.

Federation status will enable these islands to speak with one voice in world assemblies, as a West Indian nation, although scattered geographically over a million square miles of territory.

The islands produce sugar, cocoa, nutmeg, cotton, a wide variety of fruits, bauxite, cattle, tobacco, coffee, rare hardwood timbers such as mahogany, oil, pitch, cement, cocoanut, and numerous other products.

Each on its own would be hopelessly insufficient. Banded together, with British aid in the new projected Federation, the collective future of these ancient lands would seem to be exceedingly bright.

Here, where the rainy season is only a token and the trade wind blows eleven months, and the climate is delightful the year round, a new "nation" is being born.

It will be by far the oldest "nation" in the Western Hemisphere since the discoverer Columbus first roamed the Caribbean, mistaking it for India, exploring its dazzingly beautiful white coral beaches and coral inlets and verdant volcano-clad peaks.

Here, also, great history was wrought, and the names of immortals such as Drake and the freebooter Morgan and Sir William Penn are written in large remembered type.

These golden islands, fascinating and luring, perennially attractive to tourists, guardians of old cultures and civilizations, deserve a place in the bright shining sun that favors them the year round.

So, everybody should wish the new Federation the best of luck.

'Creepy Peepy' Warfare

Old-time soldiers long have been critical of what they call the soft life led by modern soldiers. This traditional feud between the seasoned oldtimers and the green recruits is generated by a combination of envy, pride, and a little wistfulness. But imagine the reaction of the oldtimers when they learn the pentagon has now progressed to the point where future generals will plan their next battle moves watching a TV set.

Fantastic? Not at all. A television camera and transmitter so light it can be carried by one man is the latest weapon to be unveiled by the Army. Furthermore, military experts expect great things of the "Creepy-Peepy."

Of more practical importance to fast changing battle scenes, the set is designed to be operated manually as well as automatically. This will enable a forward observer to carry the camera anywhere and record everything as it happens. Thus, commanders will be able, via several strategically placed cameras, to observe the entire battle front as the fighting progresses, instead of by the often delayed mediums of telephone and radio.

This lightweight television camera is more than a military weapon. Its peacetime applications are many. To consider one use, reporters could considerably speed up news reporting by actually "shooting" such actions as fires, accidents and police cases as they happen and transmitting them directly to their newspapers or television stations.

There are many other obvious uses to which such a device can be put. It appears the "Creepy-Peepy" has a rosy future ahead of it.

Non-Farm Subsidies

Federal Maritime Commission, with one stroke of the pen, declared the Great Lakes-Western Europe shipping route "essential." Under this ruling eight or nine small, shallow-draft ships flying the U. S. flag are eligible for an annual subsidy of $2.5 to $3 million.

In the past such subsidies went to lines which specifically applied for them and which were able to prove in detail that their routes were "essential to the trade and economy" of the U. S. In this case the government handed out the subsidy on its own initiative.

When the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed, larger ships will travel the newly-subsidized route. Not only can they demand subsidies for operations, but they are expected to seek construction subsidies.

IQ of college students has dropped 10 points in 20 years, according to the dean of Oklahoma City University. What does he expect—quality as well as quantity?

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

When People Are Prosperous...

It is a serious fact that on the whole the American people are bored with politics and with all the intricate maneuvers that need to be reported if the complete story is to be told. The people, for the most part, are prosperous. They have no very serious complaints as of the moment. They have had about 20 years of Red and Nationalist China, Burma and Pakistan and they would like to hear a good joke about Squedunk. There is a retreat from wisdom and even knowledge. This would not be the time to write a book, "Every Man His Own Pundit."

There is another trouble for the politicians and that is that the people have seen the same faces for too long and ubiquity breeds contempt. It is about time that some new characters showed up to stir the minds and hearts of men and women. Since the Republican and Democratic parties got to being like Siamese twins in ideas and methods, the leadership more or less looks alike. If a composite picture were made of the leading American politicians, the picture would come out looking like Harold Stassen who always has a smirk on when photographs are being taken. And Harold always is where photographs are being taken.

In fact, I read an interesting article written by a publisher the other day and I was engrossed until I came to his picture, which while unrelated to the article was put in to show what he looked like. Well, he looked as though he had just seen a strip tease or a fat man fall on a banana peel or something like that. And I could not help thinking what he was laughing about because the article dealt with hunger and misery and such conditions and should have been written between 1946 and 1948 when it might have done some good and saved some lives. But the truth is that if you take a picture and you don't laugh, the people may not want to read what you write. So, you take a laughing picture and then the gloomy stuff goes down better. At any rate, it was not written by a gloomy person.

Why a laughing face gives the impression of truthfulness in this era, I do not know, except that in an age of prosperity, unpleasant truths sound untruthful. It is like a card I received as a Valentine which asked, if you're such a genius, why aren't you rich? It is a good question unless you ask, rich in what? My friend, I am sure, meant money-rich. Well, I know lots of people who are money-rich who have no idea how poor they are. Take, for instance, those party-givers who vie with each other not to amuse their friends most but to get the most bizarre publicity. It costs them a fortune to be ridiculed and they like it because if they were not ridiculed, they would not be noticed. So their money really means nothing to them, but what they want is to be rich in notices. It is publicity that they need not to advance some good cause or even themselves, but just to have publicity.

And the people read it and say that it's all a fake and enjoy it and want more of it. Life has not yet become sufficiently serious in this country so that we do not like to be faked. In fact, if Diogenes were to run for public office in most parts of the country he would be regarded as just as much of a bore as Senator Francis Case of South Dakota who made such a fuss about getting 25 $100 bills from an unknown source for no purpose whatsoever. Senator Case, I am told, is a man of immaculate virtue but even such a man ought to know that one of the most usual ways for $100 bills to keep in circulation is by contributing them to candidates and parties and then nobody keeps a record. Senator Case's colleagues must wonder whether anyone ever told him about the bees and the birds and such creatures.

At any rate, Ike vetoed the gas bill for the wrong reasons and probably lost the Texas vote which would not have gone Republican in 1956 anyhow. Nor will that veto help him to carry New York State where the issue in 1956 is why the Arabs get arms and Israel cannot get arms. On this issue, the Republican Party will lose the State of New York and probably New Jersey and Connecticut and the situation will not be changed because Ike can play golf in the rain which nobody cares about here. Each place has its own interests and its own problems but when folks are prosperous, they do not worry about side-issues. What concerns them is what makes them happy or unhappy and what makes many of them unhappy here is the argument over arms for the Arabs or for Israel. In Alabama, it is something else.

I got through that one without once mentioning Khrushchev. It was an achievement.

Senate Calls For Orderly Procedure

That questionable toast, "Here's mud in your eye" comes to mind as the aftermath of the "narrow investigation" by the George Select subcommittee into the proffered $2500 campaign contribution to Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) expands into something bigger.

The South Dakota offer was directly responsible for President Eisenhower's veto of the bill which would have lifted federal regulation from oil and gas producers. It amounted to no more than a grain of mud in the Senate's eye, but the senators rubbed it and now the eye is red and inflamed.

This is the very worst time, many senators reasoned to conduct a full fledged lobbying investigation. Yet to sidestep it completely was to raise doubts of the probity of the U. S. Senate. And to push it could turn up a succession of more or less important details, many of them distracting in their implications.

The Neff incident is a good example. Regardless of the motives of John D. Neff, the Lexington lawyer who tried to give Senator Case a campaign contribution, Case was not involved, and had he not chosen to make the incident public, nothing might have been heard of it. By reluctantly giving the name of the donor and the fact that he was connected with a major oil company, Case switched the contest over the oil and gas bill into another channel, and there it came to grief.

An additional fact, though of minor importance, is that the Superior Oil Co. an official of which contributed the money rejected by Case, is a lone wolf among the oil and gas companies. It is not a member of the General Gas Committee, a registered lobby which fought long and hard for the bill.

The General Gas Committee complying with the lobby registration act, reported to Congress that it had spent $87,709.99 in 1955. Its expenditure statement for the first quarter of 1956 is not yet due.

That figure is not large as lobby expenditures go. It represents office expense and the hiring of public relations men and other experts. Possibly some of them do try to influence the votes of members of Congress, but not through campaign contributions. That would be crude and just as risky as the Case incident.

No attempt is being made to minimize the importance of that incident. Leaders of both parties, however, do not think it should be made the incentive for a fishing expedition, in which much fragmentary testimony could be developed, possibly reflecting undeservedly on some members of Congress.

Senator Albert Gore (Dem. — Tenn.) described by the New York Times as "respected, industrious and eloquent" whose elections subcommittee of three members was originally scheduled to make a sweeping inquiry into campaign contributions — possibly so sweeping that it would mean "mud in the eye" for several senators, chiefly on the disclosures, which are said to be likely, that they received campaign contributions from persons connected with the oil and gas industry. Whether that condemns them would be for their constituent to decide.

The minority member of the subcommittee, Senator Carl Curtis (Rep. - Neb.) said that he would inquire into contributions by labor organizations so that voters could have both sides of the picture. At that point the two Senate leaders, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas and Senator William F. Knowland, California, stepped in, not for the purpose of stifling the inquiry, but giving it better balance. Precedent was found in the special committee of six senators created to hear the censure charges against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy in 1954, when the Senate was under Republican control.

This is not a gesture by senators of both parties to ward off stray clods of mud which might light in their eyes. It does not deserve the outcry that Senator Gore will be restricted in its inquiry. But the expanded committee would decide in which direction to move, rather than trying to move in several directions at once.

What Thanks To God?

HOW often do we thank our God . . . For favors large and small? . . . Do we remember to express . . . Our gratitude at all? . . . We do not hesitate to ask . . . For one more kindly deed . . . That will provide some comfort or . . . Relief we think we need . . . We know our God is generous . . . And He fulfills our prayers . . . With loving help in worldly and . . . In spiritual affairs . . . But how appreciative are we . . . When we receive His aid . . . In seeking joy or wishing that . . . Some fear will swiftly fade? . . . Oh, we are grateful in our hearts . . . Which surely God must know . . . And yet how often do we take . . . The time to tell Him so?

Congressional Quiz

Score yourself on this quiz. If you can ring up seven points (out of a possible 12), you're probably "well informed" on the background of current issues.

1. Q—Five living Americans won the Presidential nomination of a major party — and lost the election. Credit yourself one point for each you can name.

A—The candidates, and the year in which each was defeated: Democrat James M. Cox, (1920); Republicans Herbert Hoover (1932), Alfred M. Landon (1936) and Thomas E. Dewey (1944, 1948); and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson (1952).

2. Q—Guess how much it costs the Post Office Department to deliver your three-cent letter: 1¼ cents; 2½ cents; 3 and one-third cents?

A—3 and one-third cents is correct — and the Post Office says the cost soon will rise because of wage increases for postal employes. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield claims his department is losing $1,000 a minute.

3. Q—True or false: Lobbies reported spending less to influence Congress in 1955 than in any previous year.

A—Surprisingly, true, according to a Congressional Quarterly tabulation. Registrations filed through Jan. 31 show that reported spending hit a new low of $4.2 million—a drop of more than $6 million from the peak year 1950. But many pressure groups have in recent months changed their reporting techniques as a result of a 1954 Supreme Court decision that narrowed the definition of "lobbying." Actually, more organizations filed reports in 1955 than the year before.

4. Q—Which 20th century President began his term with the opposition party holding more seats in the House of Representatives than his own party? (Take 4 points for correct answer.)

A—Woodrow Wilson, who won the Presidency by a narrow margin over Charles Evans Hughes in 1916. In the same year, 210 House Democrats were elected, and 216 Republicans — along with nine Members of other parties. With the help of the minor party Members, Democrats were able to organize the House in 1917.

5. Q—True or false: Foreign aid costs each U. S. citizen about $26 per year.

A—At the present level of spending, true. That's about one-third of average weekly earnings in manufacturing ($80), or less than two days' pay. The annual aid total: $4.2 billion.

Big Government Or Big People

Generally speaking, people are divided politically into two groups. I do not mean Republicans and Democrats.

Those party labels have actually switched philosophical sides over the years. Each brand name had a different definition just fifty years ago.

In this country and elsewhere, however, ever where they have a multiplicity of political organizations. . .

People are still divided . . . generally . . . into two groups:

Those who believe in big government . . .

And those who believe in big people.

Remember that simplification. It will help during an election year for you to understand what otherwise seems sometimes most obscure, abstract, complex . . .

Some people believe in big government. Some believe in big people. You can't have both.

The bigger you make your government, the more it taxes, regulates, regiments and otherwise controls and "fences in" individuals.

It begins with little compromises. We turn over to government to do for us that which we had been doing for ourselves. To perform these increased responsibilities, the government has to get bigger.

Historically, the end result of such a system is that the individual is taxed out of all private property. Then you have a super government, but the people are little more than cattle.

When that happens, individuals in the managed masses become digits on an economic chart. The man who farms is a statistic, the home owner is a person who occupies so many square feet of space in a public housing project, the laborer is a production digit until old enough to become a social security digit.

That's as I say, in Rome and Spain and Greece and China it began with little compromises."

The way the lines are drawn now, you believe in big people. . .

In part of the United States you are labelled a Republican. . .

In another part of the United States you are labelled a Democrat.

This, then, is a more reliable definition:

Big government . . . or big people.

And as the electioneering orator tries to work both sides of the street, challenge him.

During the speechmaking of this critical political year, the hopeful either believe in big government or in big people.

Any claims to the contrary notwithstanding, no one political party —as political parties are presently constituted in the United States — has a monopoly on either point of view.

Both Democrats and Republicans include some of each.

If the candidate tries to ride into office on the coat tails of somebody else . . .

Or if he seeks to obscure his true position by talking out of both sides of his mouth, flush him out and nail him down with questions that will prove whether he proposes that we walk erect like men or be herded like beasts.

Big government or big people; make him choose sides.

Irked At Hitchhiker

5319 DeSlard St.
Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Upon reading your writer Johnny Yeldel's letter (Sunday in the Forum) blasting us neighbors with cars who don't pick up the "lowly hitchhiker" — I am irked to say the least.

I am sure he isn't the only person from Bastrop who visits Monroe, therefore I'm at a loss to know how other good people from his town get to and fro — I don't see droves of hitchhikers on the road to Bastrop every day.

Furthermore, I'd think that after hitchhiking so many years he could by this time afford to buy a car—after all, look at the money he has saved. He states he's been doing this for years, thousands of rides. I bet he has saved enough to buy a Cadillac.

Finally, he should be thankful that some of those hitchhikers he has carried thousands of miles didn't decide to bump him off and take his car and his money. They do it every day — or doesn't he read the newspaper? Maybe he's waiting for a free subscription.

—Remember The Maine

Route 5, Box 290
Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I think you should change the tone of your article on—Remember The Maine. You may not know the facts concerning the sinking of the ship at Havana, Cuba: at least you failed to give a correct picture of that terrible disaster. I was 26 at the time the Maine was blown up and I remember very well the important facts about the explosion. I remember quite well how the newspapers, our rulers, and nearly every individual cursed and abused Spain for blowing up our ship. Everybody was wild about it, there was nothing too bad for our people to say about Spain.

Spain denied the charges and said she knew nothing about the terrible tragedy, but we kept cursing her and would listen to no reason at all. We had no evidence whatever to believe that Spain was guilty, but we went to war against her just the same. Many a good man, not knowing the facts, believed that Spain was the cause of our ship being destroyed, but it is not so—Spain never had a thing to do with that terrible slaughter. To prove what I say — no one has ever produced a bit of evidence—besides, as positive proof, the sunken ship was raised some years later and it showed definitely that the explosion was from the magazine on the inside of the ship.

Spain could not possibly have caused the explosion on the inside, unless it had been by some one on the ship. Just why some honest person doesn't publish the story in its true form is a puzzle to me. In 1898 and before this date our people were just itching to get into war with Spain—why? Because we were jealous of her power and influence in the western world and were willing to grab at any thing to get her away from here.

I don't suppose you ever heard anything like this before—but it is true just the same.

Wants Two-Party System In Louisiana

1304 Country Club Road,
Bastrop, Louisiana.

Editor, Morning World:

Announcement and comments that Republican candidates for police jury in Ward 10 will run for election against the three Democratic nominees on April 17 has evoked keen interest among readers of your paper out of Monroe who are eager to see a two-party system develop in Louisiana.

It is apparent to those of us who come from two - party states that real issues are fought out in campaigns and that higher calibre men and women are likely to be elected where there are two opposing slates.

This takes place of course, in a general election where voters vote according to their best judgment and not according to strict party lines. Thus, the public welfare is better served.

Your papers have been generous and fair to all the candidates and are doing the voters a real service when you call attention to the real meaning of a general election. Keep it up!

Thirteen 'Paradises' To Confederate

Thirteen tropical islands of the Caribbean, famed in song and story, have agreed to unite within the next two years as a Federation of the British Commonwealth.

An accord setting up the Federation was signed in London Thursday by representatives of the islands and the British Parliament and the Crown.

The glittering hope of eventual Commonwealth status, like that of such proud nations as Canada and Australia, now looms bright in these ancient and fascinatingly beautiful islands.

Britain's policy of steering its territories toward commonwealth status has paid off in this instance, as in many others.

The proposal of a union among the widely scattered Caribbean colonies, stretching for a thousand miles, has been discussed for a century or more.

During the past nine years this proposal has been deliberated intensively; and despite racial differences between Spanish, English, Danish and Negro populations of these various islands the spirit of unity has at length triumphed.

Three million persons will be represented in the new Federation—stretching from Trinidad, near the South American coast to the northern reaches of the Windward and Leeward Islands.

There are holdouts, including British Guiana, British Honduras and the British Virgin Islands group, based on prevailing economic reasons; yet these domains are not hostile, and may come into the Federation later.

Federation status will enable these islands to speak with one voice in world assemblies, as a West Indian nation, although scattered geographically over a million square miles of territory.

The islands produce sugar, cocoa, nutmeg, cotton, a wide variety of fruits, bauxite, cattle, tobacco, coffee, rare hardwood timbers such as mahogany, oil, pitch, cement, cocoanut, and numerous other products.

Each on its own would be hopelessly insufficient. Banded together, with British aid in the new projected Federation, the collective future of these ancient lands would seem to be exceedingly bright.

Here, where the rainy season is only a token and the trade wind blows eleven months, and the climate is delightful the year round, a new "nation" is being born.

It will be by far the oldest "nation" in the Western Hemisphere since the discoverer Columbus first roamed the Caribbean, mistaking it for India, exploring its dazzingly beautiful white coral beaches and coral inlets and verdant volcano-clad peaks.

Here, also, great history was wrought, and the names of immortals such as Drake and the freebooter Morgan and Sir William Penn are written in large remembered type.

These golden islands, fascinating and luring, perennially attractive to tourists, guardians of old cultures and civilizations, deserve a place in the bright shining sun that favors them the year round.

So, everybody should wish the new Federation the best of luck.

'Creepy Peepy' Warfare

Old-time soldiers long have been critical of what they call the soft life led by modern soldiers. This traditional feud between the seasoned oldtimers and the green recruits is generated by a combination of envy, pride, and a little wistfulness. But imagine the reaction of the oldtimers when they learn the pentagon has now progressed to the point where future generals will plan their next battle moves watching a TV set.

Fantastic? Not at all. A television camera and transmitter so light it can be carried by one man is the latest weapon to be unveiled by the Army. Furthermore, military experts expect great things of the "Creepy-Peepy."

Weighing only 55 pounds, the camera and transmitter are designed to be placed near the strategic site under cover of darkness. Triggered by an electric signal, the camera will automatically give behind-the-line observers a two hour showing of everything within sight of its lenses.

Of more practical importance to fast changing battle scenes, the set is designed to be operated manually as well as automatically. This will enable a forward observer to carry the camera anywhere and record everything as it happens. Thus, commanders will be able, via several strategically placed cameras, to observe the entire battle front as the fighting progresses, instead of by the often delayed mediums of telephone and radio.

This lightweight television camera is more than a military weapon. Its peacetime applications are many. To consider one use, reporters could considerably speed up news reporting by actually "shooting" such actions as fires, accidents and police cases as they happen and transmitting them directly to their newspapers or television stations.

There are many other obvious uses to which such a device can be put. It appears the "Creepy-Peepy" has a rosy future ahead of it.

Non-Farm Subsidies

Federal Maritime Commission, with one stroke of the pen, declared the Great Lakes-Western Europe shipping route "essential." Under this ruling eight or nine small, shallow-draft ships flying the U. S. flag are eligible for an annual subsidy of $2.5 to $3 million.

In the past such subsidies went to lines which specifically applied for them and which were able to prove in detail that their routes were "essential to the trade and economy" of the U. S. In this case the government handed out the subsidy on its own initiative.

When the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed, larger ships will travel the newly-subsidized route. Not only can they demand subsidies for operations, but they are expected to seek construction subsidies.

IQ of college students has dropped 10 points in 20 years, according to the dean of Oklahoma City University. What does he expect—quality as well as quantity?

THESE DAYS

When People Are Prosperous . . .

It is a serious fact that on the whole the American people are bored with politics and with all the intricate maneuvers that need to be reported if the complete story is to be told. The people, for the most part, are prosperous. They have no very serious complaints as of the moment. They have had about 20 years of Red and Nationalist China, Burma and Pakistan and they would like to hear a good joke about Squedunk. There is a retreat from wisdom and even knowledge. This would not be the time to write a book, "Every Man His Own Pundit."

There is another trouble for the politicians and that is that the people have seen the same faces for too long and ubiquity breeds contempt. It is about time that some new characters showed up to stir the minds and hearts of men and women. Since the Republican and Democratic parties got to being like Siamese twins in ideas and methods, the leadership more or less looks alike. If a composite picture were made of the leading American politicians, the picture would come out looking like Harold Stassen who always has a smirk on when photographs are being taken. And Harold always is where photographs are being taken.

In fact, I read an interesting article written by a publisher the other day and I was engrossed until I came to his picture, which while unrelated to the article was put in to show what he looked like. Well, he looked as though he had just seen a strip tease or a fat man fall on a banana peel or something like that. And I could not help thinking what he was laughing about because the article dealt with hunger and misery and such conditions and should have been written between 1946 and 1948 when it might have done some good and saved some lives. But the truth is that if you take a picture and you don't laugh, the people may not want to read what you write. So, you take a laughing picture and then the gloomy stuff goes down better. At any rate, it was not written by a gloomy person.

Why a laughing face gives the impression of truthfulness in this era, I do not know, except that in an age of prosperity, unpleasant truths sound untruthful. It is like a card I received as a Valentine which asked, if you're such a genius, why aren't you rich? It is a good question unless you ask, rich in what? My friend, I am sure, meant money-rich. Well, I know lots of people who are money-rich who have no idea how poor they are. Take, for instance, those party-givers who vie with each other not to amuse their friends most but to get the most bizarre publicity. It costs them a fortune to be ridiculed and they like it because if they were not ridiculed, they would not be noticed. So their money really means nothing to them, but what they want is to be rich in notices. It is publicity that they need not to advance some good cause or even themselves, but just to have publicity.

And the people read it and say that it's all a fake and enjoy it and want more of it. Life has not yet become sufficiently serious in this country so that we do not like to be faked. In fact, if Diogenes were to run for public office in most parts of the country he would be regarded as just as much of a bore as Senator Francis Case of South Dakota who made such a fuss about getting 25 $100 bills from an unknown source for no purpose whatsoever. Senator Case, I am told, is a man of immaculate virtue but even such a man ought to know that one of the most usual ways for $100 bills to keep in circulation is by contributing them to candidates and parties and then nobody keeps a record. Senator Case's colleagues must wonder whether anyone ever told him about the bees and the birds and such creatures.

At any rate, Ike vetoed the gas bill for the wrong reasons and probably lost the Texas vote which would not have gone Republican in 1956 anyhow. Nor will that veto help him to carry New York State where the issue in 1956 is why the Arabs get arms and Israel cannot get arms. On this issue, the Republican Party will lose the State of New York and probably New Jersey and Connecticut and the situation will not be changed because Ike can play golf in the rain which nobody cares about here. Each place has its own interests and its own problems but when folks are prosperous, they do not worry about side-issues. What concerns them is what makes them happy or unhappy and what makes many of them unhappy here is the argument over arms for the Arabs or for Israel. In Alabama, it is something else.

I got through that one without once mentioning Khrushchev. It was an achievement.

Senate Calls For Orderly Procedure

That questionable toast, "Here's mud in your eye" comes to mind as the aftermath of the "narrow investigation" by the George Select subcommittee into the proffered $2500 campaign contribution to Senator Francis Case (Rep. S.D.) expands into something bigger.

The South Dakota offer was directly responsible for President Eisenhower's veto of the bill which would have lifted federal regulation from oil and gas producers. It amounted to no more than a grain of mud in the Senate's eye, but the senators rubbed it and now the eye is red and inflamed.

This is the very worst time, many senators reasoned to conduct a full fledged lobbying investigation. Yet to sidestep it completely was to raise doubts of the probity of the U. S. Senate. And to push it could turn up a succession of more or less important details, many of them distracting in their implications.

The Neff incident is a good example. Regardless of the motives of John D. Neff, the Lexington lawyer who tried to give Senator Case a campaign contribution, Case was not involved, and had he not chosen to make the incident public, nothing might have been heard of it. By reluctantly giving the name of the donor and the fact that he was connected with a major oil company, Case switched the contest over the oil and gas bill into another channel, and there it came to grief.

An additional fact, though of minor importance, is that the Superior Oil Co. an official of which contributed the money rejected by Case, is a lone wolf among the oil and gas companies. It is not a member of the General Gas Committee, a registered lobby which fought long and hard for the bill.

The General Gas Committee complying with the lobby registration act, reported to Congress that it had spent $87,709.99 in 1955. Its expenditure statement for the first quarter of 1956 is not yet due.

That figure is not large as lobby expenditures go. It represents office expense and the hiring of public relations men and other experts. Possibly some of them do try to influence the votes of members of Congress, but not through campaign contributions. That would be crude and just as risky as the Case incident.

No attempt is being made to minimize the importance of that incident. Leaders of both parties, however, do not think it should be made the incentive for a fishing expedition, in which much fragmentary testimony could be developed, possibly reflecting undeservedly on some members of Congress.

Senator Albert Gore (Dem. — Tenn.) described by the New York Times as "respected, industrious and eloquent" whose elections subcommittee of three members was originally scheduled to make a sweeping inquiry into campaign contributions — possibly so sweeping that it would mean "mud in the eye" for several senators, chiefly on the disclosures, which are said to be likely, that they received campaign contributions from persons connected with the oil and gas industry. Whether that condemns them would be for their constituent to decide.

The minority member of the subcommittee, Senator Carl Curtis (Rep. - Neb.) said that he would inquire into contributions by labor organizations so that voters could have both sides of the picture. At that point the two Senate leaders, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas and Senator William F. Knowland, California, stepped in, not for the purpose of stifling the inquiry, but giving it better balance. Precedent was found in the special committee of six senators created to hear the censure charges against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy in 1954, when the Senate was under Republican control.

This is not a gesture by senators of both parties to ward off stray clods of mud which might light in their eyes. It does not deserve the outcry that Senator Gore will be restricted in its inquiry. But the expanded committee would decide in which direction to move, rather than trying to move in several directions at once.

Congressional Quiz

Score yourself on this quiz. If you can ring up seven points (out of a possible 12), you're probably "well informed" on the background of current issues.

1. Q—Five living Americans won the Presidential nomination of a major party — and lost the election. Credit yourself one point for each you can name.

A—The candidates, and the year in which each was defeated: Democrat James M. Cox, (1920); Republicans Herbert Hoover (1932), Alfred M. Landon (1936) and Thomas E. Dewey (1944, 1948); and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson (1952).

2. Q—Guess how much it costs the Post Office Department to deliver your three-cent letter: 1¼ cents; 2½ cents; 3 and one-third cents?

A—3 and one-third cents is correct — and the Post Office says the cost soon will rise because of wage increases for postal employes. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield claims his department is losing $1,000 a minute.

3. Q—True or false: Lobbies reported spending less to influence Congress in 1955 than in any previous year.

A—Surprisingly, true, according to a Congressional Quarterly tabulation. Registrations filed through Jan. 31 show that reported spending hit a new low of $4.2 million—a drop of more than $6 million from the peak year 1950. But many pressure groups have in recent months changed their reporting techniques as a result of a 1954 Supreme Court decision that narrowed the definition of "lobbying." Actually, more organizations filed reports in 1955 than the year before.

4. Q—Which 20th century President began his term with the opposition party holding more seats in the House of Representatives than his own party? (Take 4 points for correct answer.)

A—Woodrow Wilson, who won the Presidency by a narrow margin over Charles Evans Hughes in 1916. In the same year, 210 House Democrats were elected, and 216 Republicans — along with nine Members of other parties. With the help of the minor party Members, Democrats were able to organize the House in 1917.

5. Q—True or false: Foreign aid costs each U. S. citizen about $26 per year.

A—At the present level of spending, true. That's about one-third of average weekly earnings in manufacturing ($80), or less than two days' pay. The annual aid total: $4.2 billion.

Big Government Or Big People

Generally speaking, people are divided politically into two groups. I do not mean Republicans and Democrats.

Those party labels have actually switched philosophical sides over the years. Each brand name had a different definition just fifty years ago.

In this country and elsewhere, however, even where they have a multiplicity of political organizations. . .

People are still divided . . . generally . . . into two groups:

Those who believe in big government . . .

And those who believe in big people.

Remember that simplification. It will help during an election year for you to understand what otherwise seems sometimes most obscure, abstract, complex . . .

Some people believe in big government. Some believe in big people. You can't have both.

The bigger you make your government, the more it taxes, regulates, regiments and otherwise controls and "fences in" individuals.

It begins with little compromises. We turn over to government to do for us that which we had been doing for ourselves. To perform these increased responsibilities, the government has to get bigger.

Historically, the end result of such a system is that the individual is taxed out of all private property. Then you have a super government, but the people are little more than cattle.

When that happens, individuals in the managed masses become digits on an economic chart. The man who farms is a statistic, the home owner is a person who occupies so many square feet of space in a public housing project, the laborer is a production digit until old enough to become a social security digit.

That, as I say, in Rome and Spain and Greece and China it began with "little compromises."

The way the lines are drawn now, if you believe in big people. . .

In part of the United States you are labelled a Republican. . .

In another part of the United States you are labelled a Democrat.

This, then, is a more reliable definition:

Big government . . . or big people.

And as the electioneering orator tries to work both sides of the street, challenge him.

During the speechmaking of this critical political year, the hopeful either believe in big government or in big people.

Any claims to the contrary notwithstanding, no one political party —as political parties are presently constituted in the United States — has a monopoly on either point of view.

Both Democrats and Republicans include some of each.

If the candidate tries to ride into office on the coat tails of somebody else . . .

Or if he seeks to obscure his true position by talking out of both sides of his mouth, flush him out and nail him down with questions that will prove whether he proposes that we walk erect like men or be herded like beasts.

Big government or big people; make him choose sides.

Irked At Hitchhiker

5319 DeSiard St.
Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Upon reading your writer Johnny Yeldel's letter (Sunday in the Forum) blasting us neighbors with cars who don't pick up the "lowly hitchhiker" — I am irked to say the least.

I am sure he isn't the only person from Bastrop who visits Monroe, therefore I'm at a loss to know how other good people from his town get to and fro — I don't see droves of hitchhikers on the road to Bastrop every day.

Furthermore, I'd think that after hitchhiking so many years he could by this time afford to buy a car—after all, look at the money he has saved. He states he's been doing this for years, thousands of rides. I bet he has saved enough to buy a Cadillac.

Finally, he should be thankful that some of those hitchhikers he has carried thousands of miles didn't decide to bump him off and take his car and his money. They do it every day — or doesn't he read the newspaper? Maybe he's waiting for a free subscription.

—Remember The Maine

Route 5, Box 290
Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I think you should change the tone of your article on—Remember The Maine. You may not know the facts concerning the sinking of the ship at Havana, Cuba; at least you failed to give a correct picture of that terrible disaster. I was 26 at the time the Maine was blown up and I remember very well the important facts about the explosion. I remember quite well how the newspapers, our rulers, and nearly every individual cursed and abused Spain for blowing up our ship. Everybody was wild about it, there was nothing too bad for our people to say about Spain.

Spain denied the charges and said she knew nothing about the terrible tragedy, but we kept cursing her and would listen to no reason at all. We had no evidence whatever to believe that Spain was guilty, but we went to war against her just the same. Many a good man, not knowing the facts, believed that Spain was the cause of our ship being destroyed, but it is not so—Spain never had a thing to do with that terrible slaughter. To prove what I say — no one has ever produced a bit of evidence—besides, as positive proof, the sunken ship was raised some years later and it showed definitely that the explosion was from the magazine on the inside of the ship.

Spain could not possibly have caused the explosion on the inside, unless it had been by some one on the ship. Just why some honest person doesn't publish the story in its true form is a puzzle to me. In 1898 and before this date our people were just itching to get into war with Spain—why? Because we were jealous of her power and influence in the western world and were willing to grab at any thing to get her away from here.

I don't suppose you ever heard anything like this before—but it is true just the same.

Wants Two-Party System In Louisiana

Bastrop, Louisiana.

Editor, Morning World:

Announcement and comments that Republican candidates for police jury in Ward 10 will run for election against the three Democratic nominees on April 17 has evoked keen interest among readers of your paper out of Monroe who are eager to see a two-party system develop in Louisiana.

It is apparent to those of us who come from two - party states that real issues are fought out in campaigns and that higher calibre men and women are likely to be elected where there are two opposing slates.

This takes place, of course, in a general election where voters vote according to their best judgment and not according to strict party lines. Thus, the public welfare is better served.

Your papers have been generous and fair to all the candidates and are doing the voters a real service when you call attention to the real meaning of a general election. Keep it up!

Red Cross Drive Plans Are Made By Groups Here

Members of the South Monroe Business Division of the 1956 Red Cross campaign for members and funds will meet Monday at 5:30 p.m. at Red Cross headquarters to receive their materials for the drive which begins officially Thursday.

Chairman, captains, and workers of the North Business Division met Friday afternoon and received their materials from John Collins, and P. L. Foreman, chairmen of the group.

Campaign chairman W. G. Haynes, Jr. said to the group Friday that "There are many reasons why you will find citizens of Ouachita Parish ready to renew their memberships in Red Cross.

"One of them is that every family and individual in this area is subject to the natural disasters which are no respectors of status or location. We must prepare for the eventualities of the future. This is the purpose of Red Cross. And, every Red Cross member in our parish has a part in helping the suffering thousands on the west coast today who are trying to reclaim their shattered homes and businesses after the terrible recent floods."

At Friday's meeting the names of local citizens who are working in the North Business Division were announced by Collins and Foreman. Their captains are: John Kelso, Henry Haas, Jr., Allen Ritter, Bill Latham, J. R. Eunson, Bert Root, Victor J. Ditta, C. D. Lee, B. F. Cummings, J. W. Womack, Sam Orchard, Herbert J. Walker, Harry W. Firstoe, R. A. Morrow, and J. C. LaGrange.

Pastor's Speech Denounces Dallas Baptist Minister

DENVER, Feb. 25 (AP)—Dr. Theron Chastian, prominent Baptist clergyman, said today that statements by a Southern Baptist pastor concerning racial integration are "ungodly" and "un-Christian."

Dr. Chastian said in an interview that Dr. W.A. Criswell of Dallas "doesn't represent Baptists, Southern Baptists or Christians" in his statements.

Dr. Chastian, of New York, is executive secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Dr. Criswell said in an address earlier this week that persons advocating racial integration "are a bunch of infidels in dirty shirts who are dead from the neck up." He added that "integration is a thing of idiocy and foolishness."

"Baptists, both Northern and Southern, believe in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God," Dr. Chastian said.

Britain, France Warned In Advance

Documents Kept Secret For 17 Years Show U. S. Knew Of Red-Nazi Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — Documents held secret 17 years disclosed today Soviet diplomats booby-trapped Britain and France despite "at least six" American warnings that Russia was dickering with Nazi Germany on a pact which helped touch off World War II.

This information was contained in a 1709-page collection of letters, cables and statements—the great bulk of them hitherto secret—made public by the State Department in a volume concerning U.S. foreign relations in 1939.

The three-inch thick volume also showed British, French and Polish diplomats in a high state of tension as they sought to avert the war which broke out Sept. 1, 1939.

It said, for example, that, at one point, Adolph Hitler offered to "become an artist which is what he wanted to be" and forget about leading Germany against Poland, provided Britain would meet his terms.

Documents dated two days before Hitler marched on Poland showed efforts to avoid fighting had reached such a dramatic point that Hitler was sending special messengers by secret planes to London "to get the personal English touch from topside men in the British government."

Also is given a virtual blow-by-blow account of the final minutes of Czechoslovakia's surrender to Hitler without a shot being fired.

Efforts of then-President Franklin D. Roosevelt to arrange a peaceful settlement also are detailed, as are several papal peace-feelers put out by the Vatican.

Neville Chamberlain is pictured in the dispatches from American diplomats as a "failing old man." Chamberlain, who negotiated the 1938 Munich agreement which became synonymous with "appeasement," died shortly after. Winston Churchill, who succeeded Chamberlain shortly after the war began, appears only occasionally in the diplomatic dispatches.

As first lord of the Admiralty Sept. 25, 1939, Churchill reported several of Nazi Germany's submarines already destroyed in three weeks of war. A little later, he caused a diplomatic ripple by declaring the world's future ultimately would rest on China, Russia, the United States and Britain—a statement which today might appear to have been in the field of predictions-come-true.

CRASH BLAMED ON JET

TORONTO, Feb. 25—UP—United States Air Force investigators believed Saturday a plane crash Feb. 14 that killed the pilot and three U. S. Army officers may have resulted from the air disturbance caused by a passing jet fighter.

FIRE DAMAGES POWER SYTEM

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 25 —UP —An estimated 61,000 persons in the Portland metropolition area were without gas service Saturday after a three-alarm, one-half-million-dollar fire knocked out 14 generators at the Portland Gas and Coke Co., plant at Linnton.

State Police Report On Arrests In Area

The following arrests were made during the past week by members of Troop "F" Louisiana State Police with headquarters in Monroe:

Drunk driving: J. W. Trichell, 23, 311 Louise Ann, Monroe; Edgar Young Jr., 41, Ruston; Hedric H. Kennedy, 39, Chatham; Homer Brown Jr., 26, Crowville; Walter Harper, 53, Lamesa, Tex.; John Richn Jr. 23, Terry, La.; Lavando Flowers 53, Dubach; Billy Jo LaBorde, 23, Winnsboro; and Guy R. Anderson, 38, of Girard.

creation of the commission to look into the voting and economic status of Negroes.

"It is hoped that you and your colleagues will find your way clear to speed the enactment of this legislation in this session," Harlow said.

The White House assistant also told Powell that his request of two days ago for White House action to protect Negroes arrested in Montgomery had been brought to the attention of Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Harlow promised that the Justice Department would give Powell "further advice as promptly as possible" after checking the federal statutes.

Byrd's call for unified Southern support of interposition was in line with the study being given to the question by a group of 18 Southern senators who met recently under the leadership of Sen. George (D-Ga).

The group named Sens. Russell (D-Ga), Stennis (D-Miss) and Ervin (D-NC) as a subcommittee to draft a manifesto the 18 might sign setting forth their opposition to carrying out the Supreme Court order.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 25—UP— Ministers of four large population centers pledged their support Saturday to a nationwide "Deliverance Day" sitdown March 28 to protest the prosecution of Negro leaders of a bus boycott here.

In this Alabama capital, thousands of Negroes completed the 11th week of their boycott against the segregated city bus system undaunted by the arrest of 90 of their leaders.

The Department of Justice in Washington began studying a demand on the White House, also by Powell, that protection of person and civil liberties be provided the accused boycott leaders.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., will reply to Powell "as promptly as possible" regarding the issues he raised, according to a White House spokesman.

"Unfortunately, there has been no congressional action," said Bryce N. Harlow, administrative assistant to the President, in a letter to Powell. "It is hoped that you and your colleagues will find your way clear to speed the enactment of this legislation in this session."

Powell said he had received pledges of co-opeartion in the one-hour work layoff set for March 28 from Columbus, Ohio, and Cincinnati as well as the New York area. In Boston, the Rev. Walter O. Davis, president of the city's Inter-Denominational Ministerial Assn., said 22,000 Negroes there would join in the work stoppage.

Davis called a special meeting of 27 pastors Sunday "to pray for our brethren in Montgomery, Ala."

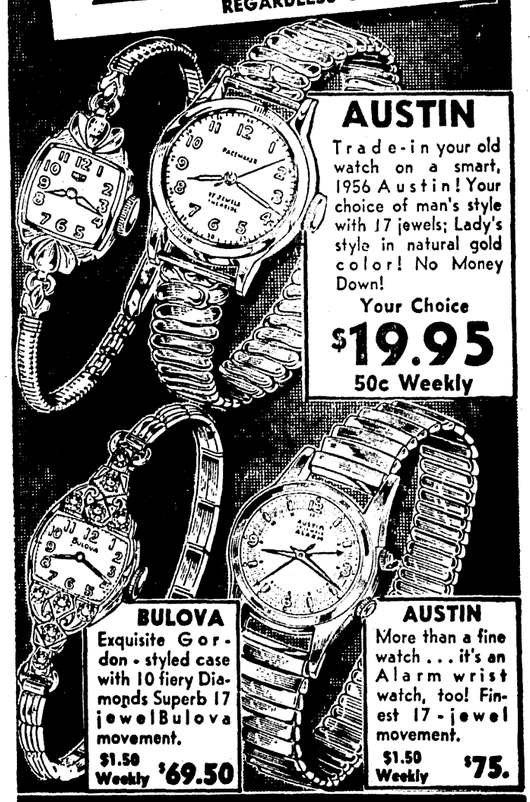

The Rev. E. C. McLeod of the Union Methodist Church in Boston also promised his support and said he would ask his congregation of 500 to contribute moral and financial help to the Montgomery boycott.

Powell said he also had received a pledge of support from the Council of Bishops of the African Methodist Church which is in emergency session in Washington.

Red Cross Drive Plans Are Made By Groups Here

Members of the South Monroe Business Division of the 1956 Red Cross campaign for members and funds will meet Monday at 5:30 p.m. at Red Cross headquarters to receive their materials for the drive which begins officially Thursday.

Chairman, captains, and workers of the North Business Division met Friday afternoon and received their materials from John Collins, and P. L. Foreman, chairmen of the group.

Campaign chairman W. G. Haynes, Jr. said to the group Friday that "There are many reasons why you will find citizens of Ouachita Parish ready to renew their memberships in Red Cross.

"One of them is that every family and individual in this area is subject to the natural disasters which are no respectors of status or location. We must prepare for the eventualities of the future. This is the purpose of Red Cross. And, every Red Cross member in our parish has a part in helping the suffering thousands on the west coast today who are trying to reclaim their shattered homes and businesses after the terrible recent floods."

At Friday's meeting the names of local citizens who are working in the North Business Division were announced by Collins and Foreman. Their captains are: John Kelso, Henry Haas, Jr., Allen Ritter, Bill Latham, J. R. Eunson, Bert Root, Victor J. Ditta, C. D. Lee, B. F. Cummings, J. W. Womack, Sam Orchard, Herbert J. Walker, Harry W. Firstoe, R. A. Morrow, and J. C. LaGrange.

Bert Root, Lealis Hale, J. Guyton, L. S. Daniel, L. J. McStravick, C. J. Pearce, Jr., Durwood Griffin, David Russell, Tom Agnew, M. Brentswitty, J. L. Pastor's Speech Denounces Dallas Baptist Minister

DENVER, Feb. 25 (AP)—Dr. Theron Chastian, prominent Baptist clergyman, said today that statements by a Southern Baptist pastor concerning racial integration are "ungodly" and "un-Christian."

Dr. Chastian said in an interview that Dr. W.A. Criswell of Dallas "doesn't represent Baptists, Southern Baptists or Christians" in his statements.

Dr. Chastian, of New York, is executive secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Dr. Criswell said in an address earlier this week that persons advocating racial integration "are a bunch of infidels in dirty shirts who are dead from the neck up." He added that "integration is a thing of idiocy and foolishness."

"Baptists, both Northern and Southern, believe in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God," Dr. Chastian said.

Laughter On Golf Course, Earnings Push Stocks Up

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Record high earnings and laughter on the golf course this week helped the stock market to advance convincingly.

Principal props under any stock market are earnings, dividends, and investor confidence.

Earnings reports this week from one corporation after another showed 1955 profits were at record highs — Ford, American Telephone, Du Pont, General Electric, Goodyear, and Goodrich, to name some.

The third factor, investor confidence, came when President Eisenhower played golf and laughed and joked at his mistakes as ordered by his physician.

Many brokers were convinced that such a healthy situation aroused Wall Street hopes to the highest pitch yet that Eisenhower intends to run again.

The Associated Press average during the week advanced $2.60 and closed at $179.90. The record high is $181.50 set Sept. 23.

The five most active issues this week were Benguet Mining up ⅝, Loew's up 1, Avco Mfg. unchanged, Rhodesian Trust up ⅝ and U. S. Steel up 1¾ .

Corporate bond prices shaded off slightly this week. U.S. Treasury obligations were down too.

Grains End Week With Prices Up

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—In an active market, sparked partly by reports of crop damage in Europe, grains ended higher on the Board of Trade this week.

Gains were not uniformly distributed. Old crop soybeans and rye experienced a substantial upturn. Wheat and new crop soybeans ended with respectable advances. Corn and oats barely managed to eke out fractional gains.

During the week all wheat, rye and soybean futures set new seasonal highs. So did all lard contracts.

Wheat closed the period 3¼-4¼ higher, corn unchanged to ¾ higher, oats ⅛-¾ higher, rye 5½-6½ higher, soybeans 1¾-8¾ higher and lard 12 to 23 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Operators See Shortage Of Gas For Nation Unless Harris Bill Replaced

HOUSTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Oil operators remain firm in their belief there will be shortages of natural gas if the vetoed Harris bill is not replaced by new legislation.

President Eisenhower's veto stunned the industry.

Some spokesmen still have made no public comment.

Most have repeated forecasts made before Congress debated the bill: Shortages and higher prices are inevitable unless the threat of federal control over the gas producer and gatherer is removed.

They contend the risk, under federal price controls, is too great to gamble on expensive and uncertain exploration and development programs.

There is evidence such programs began to be curtailed shortly after the Supreme Court in June, 1954, held that the Federal Power Commission has authority to control field prices.

There is an indication that billions of cubic feet of existing proved reserves will go without market commitments until the situation is clarified.

John Hussey, Louisiana conservation commissioner, said this week it appears 1955 will be the first annual period in many years in which Louisiana did not have a very substantial increase in gas reserves.

"I think that is very greatly due to the federal assertion of jurisdiction over producers," he said.

The 1955 report of the committee on natural gas reserves of the American gas reserves of the American Gas Assn. is expected next month.

Gov. Shivers, of Texas, which holds nearly half the nation's gas reserves, said he feels President Eisenhower was badly advised.

"I think his action will result in less gas at higher prices," Shivers said.

When the President vetoed the bill Feb. 17, he said he was "in accord with its basic provisions" but denounced what he called "arrogant" and "highly questionable activities" on the part of some of its supporters. He apparently referred to charges by Sen. Case (R-SC) that Case had been offered a $2,500 campaign contribution by some apparently interested in passage of the measure.

Atty. Gen. Shepperd said the veto was a "slap in the face to Texas."

Unless Congress passes the bill over the veto, Shepperd said, he will send the Legislature an interposition resolution. Interposition is a legal doctrine whereby a state may interpose its sovereignty against further encroachment on its constitutional rights.

A. P. King Jr., president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., said his group may call for a special session of the Legislature.

Ernest Thompson, senior member of the Railroad Commission, said Texas possibly should start keeping its natural gas at home.

"We have the gas to build a great empire," he said. "We have tried to share it with our sister states but the restrictions are so rigorous that much of the gas will be sent into interstate commerce under Federal Power Commission utility regulation."

House minority leader Joseph Martin (R-Mass) said legislation to free producers of federal control could be revived "fairly soon." Influential House Democrats expressed doubt in Washington that new legislation could pass this year.

Hines Baker, president of Humble Oil, a major gas reserves owner, said the veto message recognizes the need for such legislation to increase exploration and development of new gas supplies.

"Thus legislation which both the Congress and the President believe is needed in the national interest is struck down," he said.

Cotton Futures Fluctuate, But Close On Upside

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — The cotton futures market was steady this week. It had its ups and downs but closed higher.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished the week at prices unchanged to up $3.10 a bale. Nearby March was the only delivery to stand pat. All the others wound up in the plus column, with nearby July scoring the biggest advance.

Strength in the nearby months was attributed to mill buying and short covering promptly by the dwindling supply of free cotton. The July 1956 contract was aided by its discount under the two nearer months, March and May.

Bullish aspects of pending farm legislation bolstered the new crop months. Enthusiasm was dampened, however, by the belief in many quarters that President Eisenhower would veto any bill providing high, rigid price supports.

Most of the week's selling was the result of scattered liquidation and profit-taking.

Of considerable interest in trade circles here was the latest report of the Commodity Credit Corp. on repossessions under the 1955 cotton loan program. The report, covering the week ended Feb. 17, showed a decline in the net loan stock for the first time this season.

Gross entries for the week totaled 76,000 bales and repossessions 70,000. However, after allowance for rejections, the net loan stock was down 1,300 bales from the week before.

Exports of lint cotton for the week ended Tuesday are estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 24,000 bales. This compares with 18,000 bales the week before and 80,000 in the like week last year.

Exports for the season through Tuesday are estimated at only 957,000 bales. That's 57 per cent below the 2,211,000 bales which had been exported at approximate,y the same time last season.

FOR LOW COST CAR FINANCING

YOU SAVE 5 WAYS

YOU SAVE first, because the over-all borrowing charge at Central Bank is low. And that is the only charge—you pay no hidden "extras" of any kind.

YOU SAVE because we arrange terms to fit your budget, not strain it; and so leave you more leeway to seize other money-saving opportunities, such as special sales.

YOU SAVE on the same basis as above, because you needn't lay out your car insurance premium at once: You can include it in the same loan . . . and place it with the agent of your choice.

YOU SAVE because, in repaying as agreed, you build credit standing with us, thus putting yourself in line for more low-cost bank credit when you can use it.

YOU SAVE because at Central Bank we act on your application promptly—there is no "red tape" to delay things—thus saving you time; and your time, after all, is money, too.

Consumer Buying Steps Up Pace In U. S. Business

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Consumer spending stepped up to put new bounce in the business boom this week.

The new flurry of activity on the retail front was one of the more favorable indicators in a week when general business trends were thoroughly scrambled. The over-all box-score shaped up like this: Stock market buoyantly higher; petroleum production highest yet; Stock market buoyantly higher; petroleum production highest yet; freight carloadings up two per cent; auto output down three per cent; steel production off slightly for the fourth week in a row; bankruptcies rising.

There were plenty of signs that consumers whose pocketbooks had been flattened by a record Christmas spending spree were beginning to loosen up. Most striking evidence, probably, was in auto dealers' showrooms.

New car sales, very mush on the downbeat during December and January, were perking up again. During the first 10 days of February buyers grabbed up 172,000 spanking new 1956 models — the best sales total ever recorded for that period except in record-smashing 1955.

The gain in auto retail sales was accompanied by another cut in factory production which slipped this week to its lowest level of the year. This, too, was welcome news for overstocked dealers, although factory workers who were cut back to a three- or four-day week might well be expected to feel differently about it. Any way you looked at it, the end result was a much-needed reduction in the huge glut of unsold cars that had been piling up in showrooms and warehouses and on dealers' lots. New car inventories on Feb. 1 had stood at a record high of 856,665.

Other signs of rising trends at retail: Increased consumer buying of home furnishings and apparel; a six per cent gain over the like week last year in total department store sales. There were symptoms, too, of spring fever. Merchants reported rising sales of backyard barbecues and lawn chairs; women turned their attention to Easter hats.

Over-all business sentiment was a blend of optimism and caution.

Optimism was vividly apparent in the stock market — at week's end, the Associated Press 60-stock average had pushed to $179.90, almost back to where it was last September before President Eisenhower's heart attack. It was the dominant theme, too, in the bullish forecast of General Electric's Ralph Cordiner who predicted a 10 to 15 per cent increase in GE's sales this year.

Congressmen End Tour On Nautilus

GROTON, Conn., Feb. 25—UP — The atomic submarine Nautilus, carrying a party of six congressmen, returned to port Saturday after an overnight junket under the waters of Long Island Sound.

The Nautilis left here Friday afternoon and remained submerged 20 hours. The cruise extended as far out as Montauk Point, N. Y., on the eastern tip of Long Island. A few of the congressmen took over the craft's controls for a time.

In a statement issued before returning to Washington, the lawmakers said they were "most impressed" with the performance of the submarine.

Those in the group were Reps. Arthur Winsted (D-Miss.), O. C. Fisher (D-Tex.), Jack B. Brooks, (D-Tex.), Frank C. Osmers, Jr. (R-N. J.), Gerald R. Ford Jr., (R-Mich.) and W. F. Norell (D-Ark.). Charles F. Ducander, general counsel for the House Armed Services committee, also made the trip.

Utilities Control Measure Goes To Senate In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 25 (AP) — A weakened, House-approved Public Service Commission bill goes to the Senate Monday for study by the Public Utilities Committee before facing floor action.

The bill, written to create an all-powerful Public Service Commission, moved doggedly through the House to unexpected passage in one day Thursday, the 119-4 vote came after 4½ hours debate.

But lawmakers, determined to pull the teeth from the bill gave the commission authority to regulate industrial sales of gas and left municipalities the right to negotiate with public utilities for franchises.

One lawmaker said "it seems the utilities wrote the bill and the people amended it."

The bill, sponsored by Gov. J. P. Coleman, was the fourth administration proposal to receive favorable action this week.

One bill, which passed the Senate during a quiet session, would reorganize the game and Fish Commission to take it out of politics; another would set set up a system of adult probation.

Although little objection was heard before the adult probation bill was considered, some lawmakers feared opposition to the need for an additional $150.000 to operate the reorganized and enlarged parole board.

The other proposal, two bills to double the $1 fee for automobile license tags and for drivers licenses, had little trouble completing action in the Senate. The bills will reach the governor's desk soon.

Under the two bills, the highway patrol would receive some 3¼ million dollars every two years to improve and enlarge the patrol and to build a crime detection laboratory.

Other major action included the governor's signing a school appropriation bill totaling $78,690,000, the largest single appropriation in the state's history.

The House voted to toughen an existing law, which is not enforced, calling for county officials to report their income before April 15 to qualify for additional county funds.

Livestock Show Awards Made In Franklin Parish

Winning entries in the Franklin show will be taken to Delhi in time for the opening there Monday of the Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show.

The show here was sponsored by the Winnsboro Lions Club with the cooperation of the Fanklin Parish Cattlemen's Association, Franklin Dairy Association, Franklin parish businessmen, and a number of public spirited citizens.

Judges were H. D. Gaddis, county agent from LaSalle Parish, and Clay White, association LaSalle parish county agent. Blue ribbon, showmanship, and grooming awards paid $5 apiece. The red ribbons brought $3 each.

The results were:

Dairy division — Blue ribbon winners, Bobby Wooley, Johnny Etheridge, Carolyn Gwin, Clayton Gwin, Charlie Gwin, Margaret Cathey, Aaron Scott, George Gowan (2), Alice Jane Gowan, Mackie Cobb. Red ribbons — Sidney Smith, Jerry Williams, Robert Lee Fletcher, Jr. Dairy showmanship —George Towan. Best Groomed award—Alice Jane Gowan.

Beef calves — Blue ribbons, John Day, Mary E. Pennebaker, Plenny Pennebaker, Judy Smith, C. L. Smith, Jr., Allen Ogden (1 blue 1 red). Showmanship for beef — Mary E. Pennebaker. Best Groomed — Plenny Pennebaker.

Sheep — Skyla Wiggers (4 blues)

Washita Project Approved By Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—President Eisenhower Saturday signed a bill authorizing the Interior Department to build and operate the Washita River Basin reclamation project in Oklahoma.

In a brief message of approval, the President noted that the non-reimbursable costs allocated to flood control would be completed by capitalizing the estimate of annual benefits for flood control over a 100 year period.

In this respect, he said, the bill departs from usual congressional practice and from a "fundamental principle" that each purpose bear its own share of the cost.

The President said he does not consider his approval of the measure to be a "precedent." Rather he said, it is "recognition of special circumstances and acceptance of the result of the extensive negotiations between the federal agencies and local interests which were conducted in the development of the project."

U. S. Demand For Helium Outstrips Production Rate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Demand for helium is "climbing at a very alarming rate," a Bureau of Mines official reports.

"Production capacities in the next four or five years will have to be increased to meet that demand," Thomas Miller, acting director of the bureau, told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony just released.

Commercial production and sale of helium—the lightest gas except hydrogen—is controlled by the government. Commercial production involves extracing it from the natural gas in which it is found. Helium is used for inflating blimps and weather balloons, for medical purpses, and in research.

"We are just about in balance now on production and demand," Miller told the committee.

But he said there was an acute shortage of helium last year and it was withheld from such private purposes as advertising—presumably in blimps and balloons—in the last six months of 1955. During that period, he said, the bureau was unable to fill all demands of the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission and other government agencies. The AEC uses helium in research.

But, he continued, "by changing our production methods at the helium plants and introducing new improvements in operations and drawing heavily on the recharged higher grade helium gases in the ground, we were able to expand production to the point where we could again resume commercial deliveries, and we began then to deliver helium for whatever purpose.

"We want all people who need helium to have it for whatever purpose they want except for export. The export of helium is carefully controlled."

Commercial production comes from Amarillo mainly, and other spots in the southwest. The government finds its helium by testing samples of natural gas from new gas producing wells as they are drilled by oil and gas companies. This job is handled by the Bureau of Mines. If helium is found, the government negotiates with the company either to buy the gas rights or to extract the helium and return the natural gas to the company.

There is no law giving the government exclusive rights to the helium thus found, but the oil companies have found it is not economical for them to extract and sell the helium.

Miller said the bureau will make every effort to find new helium fields and to develop more efficient methods for extracting it from present sources.

Powerful Lobby Against Highway Measure Charged

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25—UP—Louisiana truck operators were told today that powerful forces, including the railroads, are working to prevent the passage of any new highway program by this Congress.

Walter W. Belson, assistant to the persident of the American Trucking Association, told the final session of the annual convention of the Louisiana Motor Transport Association that, "We do not believe the railroads really want this country to have a modern highway system."

He said the railroads feared bus and truck transportation would become more competitive over a new highway system. "Therefore they are pushing for such exorbitant taxes on buses and trucks that these two industries would either absorb staggering tax increases or be compelled to fight the highway program," he said. "Either way they feel they can't lose."

Belson said the trucking industry was publicly backing the financing program developed by Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana which calls for much higher payments by trucks than by car owners.

New York City had 68,500 marriages in 1955, 2 per cent less than in 1954.

THANKS... To the Citizens of Ward 1

I take this opportunity to thank the men and women of Ward 1 for the fine vote given me in the Democratic primary, Tuesday, February 21st.

I want to assure you that I did appreciate your vote and support. No ill-feeling toward anyone. Again, thanks to each and every one of you for the confidence you have placed in me!

A TRIBUTE TO OUR WOMEN'S CLUBS!

Those groups of our local women who have organized themselves into Clubs, deserve the unstinted commendation of all of us! There are bridge clubs. There are clubs whose charitable work among the needy exemplifies the finest traits of American womanhood. Most of these are home women, women with families and all the cares of home management. Yet they find time for richly-deserved recreation, as well as charitable activities. They are making the most of their busy lives . . . and we heartily applaud their feminine proclivities. Let's give them generous support whenever they request it!

By payroll deductions or cash contributions, West Monroe employees of the Forest Products Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation have pledged almost $15,000 to the support of local charities through the

"FROSTKRAFT UNITED FUND"

This is their way of meeting one of the important obligations of a good citizen.

FROSTKRAFT employees organized their United Fund during January. In six weeks they have pledged slightly more than one-fourth of the total amount raised in West Monroe and Monroe by the Twin Cities Community Chest during its last drive. Pledges are still coming in.

Through an elected committee, FROSTKRAFT employees will determine how the money they have given is to be distributed among charitable and character building organizations in our area.

Wouldn't a community-supported United Fund make the task of this committee much easier, as well as simplifying the charitable obligations of all our citizens?

(Supplementing these employee contributions, the Company, which made individual donations to several causes last year, will continue its financial support of local charities from funds budgeted for such purposes.)

Washita Project Approved By Ike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP— President Eisenhower Saturday signed a bill authorizing the Interior Department to build and operate the Washita River Basin reclamation project in Oklahoma.

In a brief message of approval, the President noted that the non-reimbursable costs allocated to flood control would be completed by capitalizing the estimate of annual benefits for flood control over a 100 year period.

In this respect, he said, the bill departs from usual congressional practice and from a "fundamental principle" that each purpose bear its own share of the cost.

The President said he does not consider his approval of the measure to be a "precedent." Rather he said, it is "recognition of special circumstances and acceptance of the result of the extensive negrotiations between the federal agencies and local interests which were conducted in the development of the project."

U. S. Demand For Helium Outstrips Production Rate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Demand for helium is "climbing at a very alarming rate," a Bureau of Mines official reports.

"Production capacities in the next four or five years will have to be increased to meet that demand," Thomas Miller, acting director of the bureau, told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony just released.

Commercial production and sale of helium—the lightest gas except hydrogen—is controlled by the government. Commercial production involves extracing it from the natural gas in which it is found. Helium is used for inflating blimps and weather balloons, for medical purpses, and in research.

"We are just about in balance now on production and demand," Miller told the committee.

But he said there was an acute shortage of helium last year and it was withheld from such private purposes as advertising—presumably in blimps and balloons—in the last six months of 1955. During that period, he said, the bureau was unable to fill all demands of the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission and other government agencies. The AEC uses helium in research.

But, he continued, "by changing our production methods at the helium plants and introducing new improvements in operations and drawing heavily on the recharged higher grade helium gases in the ground, we were able to expand production to the point where we could again resume commercial deliveries, and we began then to deliver helium for whatever purpose.

"We want all people who need helium to have it for whatever purpose they want except for export. The export of helium is carefully controlled."

Commercial production comes from Amarillo mainly, and other spots in the southwest. The government finds its helium by testing samples of natural gas from new gas producing wells as they are drilled by oil and gas companies. This job is handled by the Bureau of Mines. If helium is found, the government negotiates with the company either to buy the gas rights or to extract the helium and return the natural gas to the company.

There is no law giving the government exclusive rights to the helium thus found, but the oil companies have found it is not economical for them to extract and sell the helium.

Miller said the bureau will make every effort to find new helium fields and to develop more efficient methods for extracting it from present sources.

Powerful Lobby Against Highway Measure Charged

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25—UP— Louisiana truck operators were told today that powerful forces, including the railroads, are working to prevent the passage of any new highway program by this Congress.

Walter W. Belson, assistant to the persident of the American Trucking Association, told the final session of the annual convention of the Louisiana Motor Transport Association that, "We do not believe the railroads really want this country to have a modern highway system."

He said the railroads feared bus and truck transportation would become more competitive over a new highway system. "Therefore they are pushing for such exorbitant taxes on buses and trucks that these two industries would either absorb staggering tax increases or be compelled to fight the highway program," he said. "Either way they feel they can't lose."

Belson said the trucking industry was publicly backing the financing program developed by Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana which calls for much higher payments by trucks than by car owners.

New York City had 68,500 marriages in 1955, 2 per cent less than in 1954.

THANKS... To the Citizens of Ward 1

I take this opportunity to thank the men and women of Ward 1 for the fine vote given me in the Democratic primary, Tuesday, February 21st.

I want to assure you that I did appreciate your vote and support. No ill-feeling toward anyone. Again, thanks to each and every one of you for the confidence you have placed in me!

Sincerely,

A TRIBUTE TO OUR WOMEN'S CLUBS!

Those groups of our local women who have organized themselves into Clubs, deserve the unstinted commendation of all of us! There are bridge clubs. There are clubs whose charitable work among the needy exemplifies the finest traits of American womanhood. Most of these are home women, women with families and all the cares of home management. Yet they find time for richly-deserved recreation, as well as charitable activities. They are making the most of their busy lives . . . and we heartily applaud their feminine proclivities. Let's give them generous support whenever they request it!

A FROSTKRAFT employee carrying this card . . .

. . . has "done his share" for Twin Cities charities

By payroll deductions or cash contributions, West Monroe employees of the Forest Products Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation have pledged almost $15,000 to the support of local charities through the

"FROSTKRAFT UNITED FUND"

This is their way of meeting one of the important obligations of a good citizen.

FROSTKRAFT employees organized their United Fund during January. In six weeks they have pledged slightly more than one-fourth of the total amount raised in West Monroe and Monroe by the Twin Cities Community Chest during its last drive. Pledges are still coming in.

Through an elected committee, FROSTKRAFT employees will determine how the money they have given is to be distributed among charitable and character building organizations in our area.

Wouldn't a community-supported United Fund make the task of this committee much easier, as well as simplifying the charitable obligations of all our citizens?

(Supplementing these employee contributions, the Company, which made individual donations to several causes last year, will continue its financial support of local charities from funds budgeted for such purposes.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 —UP— Chairman James P. Richards of the House Foreign Affairs committee Saturday blamed State Department "bungling" for the explosive controversy over shipping 18 U.S. tanks to Saudi Arabia.

The South Carolina Democrat did not challenge the wisdom of supplying the arms to the Arab nation in the tense Middle East. But he reprimanded the State Department for letting the tank shipment become an international incident.

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 —UP— The historic 20th Communist Party Congress which changed the course of Soviet thinking ended at the great Kremlin Palace Saturday in song and cheers for Leninism. Stalin's name was not mentioned.

Last announced official acts of the 1,500 delegates was to elect members to the party central committee and hear a report that Russia is adopting an American-style farm program which will include milking cows twice a day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — Sen. George (D-Ga) said today he doesn't believe any "drastic change" in American policies is necessary to meet what Secretary of State Dulles has called an abrupt shift in strategy by Russia.

Some other Democrats, including Sens. Sparkman of Alabama and Humphrey of Minnesota, thought differently however. They challenged Dulles' contention that free world firmness had caused the Soviets to swing toward more Western methods of wooing the undecided areas of the world.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 25 (AP) — A chilling paralysis spread into thousands of Portland area homes and business establishments today in the wake of a fire at the Portland Gas and Coke Co.

No one was injured in the half-million dollar blaze last night, but service to 61,000 customers in a vast area was cut. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 (AP) — A 7-month-old girl, who lived for half an hour on an artificial heart and lungs during an operation on her heart Thursday, died today in Hahneman Hospital.

Little Terry Slim of Pennsauken, N. J., had a hole between the left and right sides of her heart which doctors said permitted an abnormal flow of blood between the pumping chambers.

The surgery was necessitated, doctors said, to prevent the hole from enlarging which would make her condition progressively worse.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 —UP — Representatives of the United States, Russia and 10 other nations will begin negotiations here Monday on a charter for the world "atoms for peace" agency proposed by President Eisenhower.

Disputes are expected on several points, including Russia's insistence that the new agency be subject to the Soviet veto in the United Nations Security Council. The United States opposes this.

Aged Negro Man Seriously Injured When Hit By Car

A 72-year-old Monroe man was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a vehicle at the intersection of Sixth and Washington streets.

Conway Memorial Hospital authorities reported last night that Clemmons suffered a shattered jaw, several lacerated chin, and a severe laceration of the knee.

Driver of the vehicle which struck the man as he attempted to cross Washington street about 6:30 p.m. was John P. Marquez, 26, 330 North Seventh, Monroe, according to police.

Investigating officers, Capt. J. E. McMillon and C. H. "Chuck" Stannard ascertained that the Negro was struck by the right fender of Marquez' Cadillac. Small blood "splatterings" were found there. Officers said the vehicle, traveling east on Washington street, skidded approximately 57 feet before the impact. The man was thrown about six feet onto the curb where the right side of his face received a terrific blow, lacerating and shattering the man's jaw, according to police. Two of the Negro's teeth were found where he struck the curb.

A McNeary ambulance transferred the Negro to Conway Memorial Hospital. Police said further disposition of the case would depend on the Negro's condition.

The tornado played strange tricks here, like peeling one side from a two-story frame home. It blew some homes off their foundations, demolished others, jammed a piece of lumber through a car windshield, uprooted trees and ripped out telephone lines.

Jerry Brown, tire inspector for a Detroit rubber company here for a visit with his mother, said "It was a miracle that nobody was hurt in our house."

Three walls of the home remained standing, its exposed furniture undisturbed. Books were still on tables, plants in flower pots and a clock running, giving the appearance of a doll house. A blown up balloon lay on the dining room floor.

Brown's 9-month-old daughter, Karen, was sleeping in a crib next to the torn-out wall but escaped injury and later slept peacefully on a pool table at a nearby tavern unaware of her near brush with death.

Tales of the fortunate were common as cleanup crews, including residents and airmen from nearby Scott Air Force Base, went about their job in a biting cold wind.

Mrs. June Edwards, 21, was asleep with her 2-year-old daughter, Debbie, when a 400-pound section of chimney plunged through the roof of her mother's house and pinned her to the bed. The child escaped with only scratches. Mrs. Edwards was hospitalized.

The tornado hit and was over before many of the residents knew what had happened.

"I woke up when I heard the roar of the wind," said Deputy Sheriff Lester Haury. "By the time I started to dress it was all over."

Rescue workers found Miss Krumley's body in the basement of a two-story brick home on the outskirts of town where she lived with two elderly brothers. One of the brothers was found when rescue workers spotted his legs sticking out from under a mattress amidst the debris.

Wind velocities measured 80 miles-an-hour at the nearby air base.

Lesser damage was reported in St. Louis County in Missouri where several homes were unroofed and five persons slightly hurt. Southeast Missouri also was hit by strong winds and reported some property damage but no injuries.

Ouachita Will Be Well Represented At District Show

Ouachita parish will be well represented in the junior division of the Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show which opens Monday at Delhi, it was announced yesterday by Aubry Mophett, assistant county agent.

He said that parish 4-H Club members will have entries in beef, dairy, swine and poultry classes.

Some 18 entries are anticipated in the baby beef division. Exhibitors will include Judy Holley, Don Long, Garland Shipp, Jr., Carol Shipp, Bobby Shipp, Wayne Shipp, Jimmy Shipp, Susan Landrum, Wyles Warren Ross, Darrel McMullen, Louis Roane, and Jimmy Morris.

In junior purebred beef breeding division entries will be made by Dennis Marchman and Louis Roane. Thirteen junior dairy animals will be shown by Gaye Beard, Robert Freeman, Wallace Freeman, George Lobrano, Jeannette Holdeman, Donna Lou Holdeman, J. W. DeMoss.

Market hogs will be shown by Robert Guess, George Lobrano, J. W. DeMoss, Wallace Freeman. Chickens—with each entry consisting of one cockerel and four pullets — will be exhibited by George Lobrano, Reggie Owens, Georgia Ruth Owens, Jeanette Holdeman, Carey Brooks, Gaye Beard, Ann Beard, and Beaverly Ramsey.

Many Negroes For Racial Bans, Says NAACP Official

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 25 (AP) —Southern Negroes are not unanimous in their desire for integration, delegates to a regional conference of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People were told today.

C. A. Hall, Mississippi Negro lawyer, told NAACP members at a conference workshop, "I'm not too sure that many of the Negroes in Mississippi want to be desegregated at this time."

"The mental attitude in Mississippi is such that all of the white people and 99 per cent of the Negroes believe that desegregation there is impossible," he said.

Second place runner-up in the contest was Agnes Wilson of Delhi. Third place went to Ann McCaleb of Winsboro, now reigning queen of the cotton festival and also Miss Franklin Parish.

Before the final selection was made the contestants were narrowed down to a field of five. They were Agnes Wilson 18, Delhi, sponsored by FFA chapter of Delhi, and a student at Delhi High School. Dot Hudson, Mer Rouge, junior at Northeast State college. Ann McCaleb, Winnsboro, 18, student at Winnsboro High School. Annette Hartley, Delhi, 18, freshman at Northeast State College. Joan Crawford, 19, Ferriday, senior at Ferriday High School.

Judges were Leu Strange, Miss Louisiana Tech, Miss Willie Hoffman, past-first alternate for Miss America; Mrs. Johnny Holland, past queen of the Dixie Festival; Johnny Holland, past president of the Mississippi Jaycees; O. P. Barnes, Jr., professor of music at Louisiana State University.

Communists Give POW Accounting To UN Command

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Feb. 25 —UP— The Communists handed a long list of names to the United Nations military command Saturday as their explanation of what happened to 2,698 Allied troops still listed as missing.

The list was 22 short of the UN list, which includes 450 Americans, 2,224 South Koreans and 46 men from other UN nations which fought in the three-year Korean war.

There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy and UN officials refused to disclose its details until they could study it.

However, the Communist accounting held out little hope that any of the missing men are alive.

The United Nations had demanded the accounting last November.

U.S. Rear Adm. Walter E. Moore received the list from North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok at a four hour and 20 minutes meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission in this frozen truce village.

Moore said he accepted the Communist list to examine it "carefully and to determine whether or not it is, in fact, a satisfactory reply to the UNC."

think he should come out and say so."

"He should not hide behind a smokescreen of fancy words, and blindly lash out at those of us who are doing our utmost to increase farm income and keep our small farmers in business," Ellender said.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) announced he will urge the Senate to limit total price support loans to any one farm to $25,000 a year.

Humphrey said in a statement this "would only eliminate some 3.7 per cent of our farmers from the program," and would "get rid of the black eye given the entire farm program by one or two huge loans that critics keep talking about."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) has proposed a loan ceiling of $50,000 and Sen. Langer (R-ND) one of $35,000.

Both Eisenhower and Benson recommended some limit on loans, without fixing the total, but the Senate Agriculture Committee rejected all such proposals.

Stevenson Firm

recognize or permit repudiation or rejection of these decisions of the court and of the people."

In a speech prepared for the Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner of Connecticut Democrats, whose top leaders have endorsed him as a candidate for the presidential nomination, Stevenson said he was opposed to the doctrine of interposition which has been advanced by some Southern states opposing desegregation.

He defined such a doctrine as a state interposing "its power against the decisions of the properly constituted authority as to the law of the land."

Hailing the advent of desegregation, Stevenson said it will bring the dawn of "the day of full democracy in our public schools "and could well become "one of the greatest accomplishments of our generation."

"I pray to god," he said, "that this day may not be marred nor this achievement poisoned by the bitterness of any who would assert views, no matter how deeply felt, against the laws of the land and humanity."

After terming the Republican party one of no fixed policy, the 1952 presidential candidate said:

"We are, to be sure, promised that any minute now the Republicans will get the signal—in one syllable—that will tell them whether this year's Republican model is to be opportunist or reactionary, liberal or conservative, isolationist or internationalist. The Republican party no longer represents ideals and principles of public policy, but individuals.

"A lot of men have had to make up their mind if they were going to run for president, but this is the first time that one of the great parties had to wait until it has a candidae to find out where it stands.

"It may be true that a leopard can't change its spots, but any such statement about the old GOP elephant would be all wrong."

Stevenson also attacked the Eisenhower administration as one that "talks so much and does so little" about various issues. In this connection, he singled out flood control and immigration.

Speaking in a state hit by two devastating floods within the last seven months, Stevenson said there have been a lot of words but "mighty few" deeds in connection with the federal flood rehabilitation program.

He charged that after advocating immigration law changes in his campaign, the Eisenhower record "is complete failure to deal with either the refugee crisis or the more permanent issues of immigration policy."

Stevenson told Negro leaders in a recent conference at Los Angeles that he favors desegregation but by gradual achievement and not with "troops or bayonets."

Stevenson tonight defined Jefferson's policy of equality, for which he said the Democratic party always has stood, as meaning "in terms of the most crucial issue within this beloved land of ours today equal rights for all—regardless of race and color."

Stevenson said Andrew Jackson's statement that it would be "incompatible with the existence of the union" for one state to assume the power to annul federal law "was essential Democratic doctrine—120 years ago. It is essential —and American—doctrine today."

Doctors and corpsmen dropped by parachute but landed 1,000 feet below the wreckage. A helicopter flown from Sidi Slimane, French Morocco, then lifted them to the spot.

The corpsmen carried radios and transmitted the news to a rescue headquarters set up here. Spanish ski troopers were en route to the scene.

The names of the survivors were not announced immediately.

The crashed transport was piloted by Lt. Col. A. P. Duffie, 38, whose wife and four children are in Madrid, and whose mother, Mrs. Katherine C. Bosworth, lives at Central Point, Ore.

Earlier, the Air Force announced the names of three aboard whose families are in Madrid. They were:

Maj. Shelton Brannen Jr., 34, whose mother, Mrs. Alice Brannen, lives in Stilson, Ga.

Maj. John R. Francis, 31, whose brother, Earl, lives in Smyrna, Del.

AIC Walter G. Schroeder Jr. 22, whose mother, Mrs. Florence Schroeder, lives at 4015 Izard St., Omaha, Neb.

The names of the other two men were not announced because their next of kin had not yet been notified.

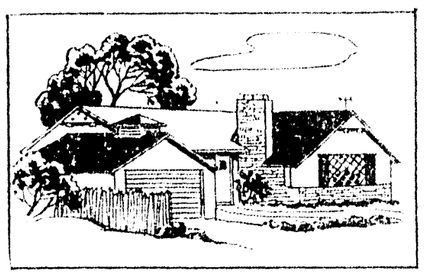

The plane was last heard from at 6 p.m. yesterday when it acknowledged landing instructions from the control tower here. It was then over Somosierra Pass in the rugged Guadarramas, about 10 miles north and a bit east of where it crashed.

Aged Negro Man Seriously Injured When Hit By Car

A 72-year-old Monroe man was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a vehicle at the intersection of Sixth and Washington streets.

Conway Memorial Hospital authorities reported last night that Clemmons suffered a shattered jaw, severely lacerated chin, and a severe laceration of the knee.

Driver of the vehicle which struck the man as he attempted to cross Washington street about 6:10 p.m., was Julio P. Marquez, 26, 310 North Seventh, Monroe, according to police.

Investigating officers, Capt. J.E. McMullen and C. H. "Chuck" Standard ascertained that the Negro was struck by the right fender of Marquez' Cadillac. Small blood "spatterings" were found there. Officers said the vehicle, traveling east on Washington street skidded approximately 57 feet before the impact. The man was thrown about six feet onto the curb where the right side of his face received a terrific blow, lacerating and shattering the man's jaw, according to police. Two of the Negro's teeth were found where he struck the curb.

A Mulhearn ambulance transferred the Negro to Conway Memorial Hospital. Police said further disposition of the case would depend on the Negro's condition.

Lesser damage was reported in St. Louis County in Missouri where several homes were unroofed and five persons slightly hurt. Southeast Missouri also was hit by strong winds and reported some property damage but no injuries.

Ouachita parish will be well represented in the junior division of the Northeast Louisiana Livestock Show which opens Monday at Delhi, it was announced yesterday by Aubry Mophett, assistant county agent.

He said that parish 4-H Club members will have entries in beef, dairy, swine and poultry classes.

Some 18 entries are anticipated in the baby beef division. Exhibitors will include Judy Holley, Don Long, Garland Shipp, Jr., Carol Shipp, Bobby Shipp, Wayne Shipp, Jimmy Shipp, Susan Landrum, Wyles Warren Ross, Darrel McMullen, Louis Roane, and Jimmy Morris.

In junior purebred beef breeding division, entries will be made by Dennis Marchman and Louis Roane. Thirteen junior dairy animals will be shown by Gaye Beard, Robert Freeman, Wallace Freeman, George Lobrano, Jeannette Holdeman, Donna Lou Holdeman, J. W. DeMoss.

Market hogs will be shown by Robert Guess, George Lobrano, J. W. DeMoss, Wallace Freeman. Chickens—with each entry consisting of one cockerel and four pullets — will be exhibited by George Lobrano, Reggie Owens, Georgia Ruth Owens, Jeanette Holdeman, Carey Brooks, Gaye Beard, Ann Beard, and Beaverly Ramsey.

have forced our farmers to limit production when thousands of our people are in need of that production.

"Add to this the more than one million dollars a day that taxpayers are paying for storage of these surplus products and it is easy to see that all the public suffers.

"It seems ironic to me," Roberts added, "that Commissioner Pearce was successful in getting federal officials to approve these surplus foods for needy farm people only to have state welfare officials block expanded use for other needy people."

CRITICS

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 25 (AP) —Southern Negroes are not unanimous in their desire for integration, delegates to a regional conference of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People were told today.

C. A. Hall, Mississippi Negro lawyer, told NAACP members at a conference workshop, "I'm not too sure that many of the Negroes (in Mississippi) want to be desegregated at this time."

"The mental attitude in Mississippi is such that all of the white people and 99 per cent of the Negroes believe that desegregation there is impossible," he said.

here Monday with a big parade.

Second place runner-up in the contest was Agnes Wilson of Delhi. Third place went to Ann McCaleb of Winsboro, now reigning queen of the cotton festival and also Miss Franklin Parish.

Before the final selection was made the contestants were narrowed down to a field of five. They were Agnes Wilson 18, Delhi, sponsored by FFA chapter of Delhi, and a student at Delhi High School. Dot Hudson, Mer Rouge, junior at Northeast State college. Ann McCaleb, Winnsboro, 18, student at Winnsboro High School. Annette Hartley, Delhi, 18, freshman at Northeast State College. Joan Crawford, 19, Ferriday, senior at Ferriday High School.

Judges were Leu Strange, Miss Louisiana Tech; Miss Willie Hoffman, past-first alternate for Miss America; Mrs. Johnny Holland, past queen of the Dixie Festival; Johnny Holland, past president of the Mississippi Jaycees; O. P. Barnes, Jr., professor of music at Louisiana State University.

Communists Give POW Accounting To UN Command

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Feb. 25 —UP— The Communists handed a long list of names to the United Nations military command Saturday as their explanation of what happened to 2,698 Allied troops still listed as missing.

The list was 22 short of the UN list, which includes 450 Americans, 2,224 South Koreans and 46 men from other UN nations which fought in the three-year Korean war.

There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy and UN officials refused to disclose its details until they could study it.

However, the Communist accounting held out little hope that any of the missing men are alive.

The United Nations had demanded the accounting last November.

Moore said he accepted the Communist list to examine it "carefully and to determine whether or not it is, in fact, a satisfactory reply to the UNC."

think he should come out and say so."

"He should not hide behind a smokescreen of fancy words, and blindly lash out at those of us who are doing our utmost to increase farm income and keep our small farmers in business," Ellender said.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) announced he will urge the Senate to limit total price support loans to any one farm to $25,000 a year.

Humphrey said in a statement this "would only eliminate some 3.7 per cent of our farmers from the program," and would "get rid of the black eye given the entire farm program by one or two huge loans that critics keep talking about."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) has proposed a loan ceiling of $50,000 and Sen. Langer (R-ND) one of $35,000.

Both Eisenhower and Benson recommended some limit on loans, without fixing the total, but the Senate Agriculture Committee rejected all such proposals.

recognize or permit repudiation or rejection of these decisions of the court and of the people."

In a speech prepared for the Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner of Connecticut Democrats, whose top leaders have endorsed him as a candidate for the presidential nomination, Stevenson said he was opposed to the doctrine of interposition which has been advanced by some Southern states opposing desegregation.

He defined such a doctrine as a state interposing "its power against the decisions of the properly constituted authority as to the law of the land."

Hailing the advent of desegregation, Stevenson said it will bring the dawn of "the day of full democracy in our public schools "and could well become "one of the greatest accomplishments of our generation."

"I pray to god," he said, "that this day may not be marred nor this achievement poisoned by the bitterness of any who would assert views, no matter how deeply felt, against the laws of the land and humanity."

After terming the Republican party one of no fixed policy, the 1952 presidential candidate said:

"We are, to be sure, promised that any minute now the Republicans will get the signal—in one syllable—that will tell them whether this year's Republican model is to be opportunist or reactionary, liberal or conservative, isolationist or internationalist. The Republican party no longer represents ideals and principles of public policy, but individuals.

"A lot of men have had to make up their mind if they were going to run for president, but this is the first time that one of the great parties had to wait until it has a candidae to find out where it stands.

"It may be true that a leopard can't change its spots, but any such statement about the old GOP elephant would be all wrong."

Stevenson also attacked the Eisenhower administration as one that "talks so much and does so little" about various issues. In this connection, he singled out flood control and immigration.

Speaking in a state hit by two devastating floods within the last seven months, Stevenson said there have been a lot of words but "mighty few" deeds in connection with the federal flood rehabilitation program.

He charged that after advocating immigration law changes in his campaign, the Eisenhower record "is complete failure to deal with either the refugee crisis or the more permanent issues of immigration policy."

Stevenson told Negro leaders in a recent conference at Los Angeles that he favors desegregation but by gradual achievement and not with "troops or bayonets."

Stevenson tonight defined Jefferson's policy of equality, for which he said the Democratic party always has stood, as meaning "in terms of the most crucial issue within this beloved land of ours today equal rights for all—regard less of race and color."

Stevenson said Andrew Jackson's statement that it would be "incompatible with the existence of the union" for one state to assume the power to annul federal law "was essential Democratic doctrine—120 years ago. It is essential —and American—doctrine today."

Doctors and corpsmen dropped by parachute but landed 1,000 feet below the wreckage. A helicopter flown from Sidi Slimane, French Morocco, then lifted them to the spot.

The corpsmen carried radios and transmitted the news to a rescue headquarters set up here. Spanish ski troopers were en route to the scene.

The names of the survivors were not announced immediately.

The crashed transport was piloted by Lt. Col. A. P. Duffie, 38, whose wife and four children are in Madrid, and whose mother, Mrs. Katherine C. Bosworth, lives at Central Point, Ore.

Earlier, the Air Force announced the names of three aboard whose families are in Madrid. They were:

Maj. Shelton Brannen Jr., 34, whose mother, Mrs. Alice Brannen, lives in Stilson, Ga.

Maj. John R. Francis, 31, whose brother, Earl, lives in Smyrna, Del.

A1C Walter G. Schroeder Jr. 22, whose mother, Mrs. Florence Schroeder, lives at 4015 Izard St., Omaha, Neb.

The names of the other two men were not announced because their next of kin had not yet been notified.

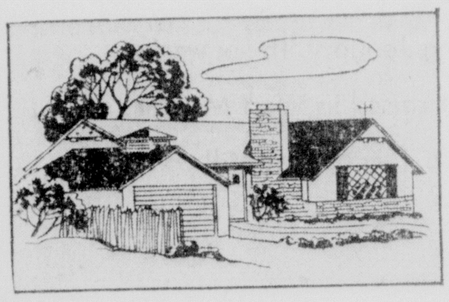

The plane was last heard from at 6 p.m. yesterday when it acknowledged landing instructions from the control tower here. It was then over Somosierra Pass in the rugged Guadarramas, about 10 miles north and a bit east of where it crashed.

Stevenson Virtually Assured Of 24 Louisiana Votes At Demo Convention

BATON ROUGE Feb. 23 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson appeared assured today of getting 24 votes from Louisiana when the Democratic National Convention nominates a presidential candidate next summer.

Gov.-designate Earl Long, who controls the State Central Committee that elects delegates to the national convention, said in an interview, "I don't know anything about Stevenson that would prevent me from supporting him."

Long's only reference to segregation was:

"I hope if he is nominated he will let us alone in the South and let us work out our own problems. We don't need any interference from the outside."

Long will succeed pro-Eisenhower Gov. Robert Kennon on May 15. Kennon almost succeeded in throwing Louisiana to Eisenhower in 1952 and has said he thinks the President will run again and win.

"I've been told what Stevenson offered in 1952 in the tidelands was a lot better than what Louisiana has received to date from the Republican administration," Long said. "Both Sens. Long and Ellender (D-La) told me this."

Long said he planned to talk to Stevenson about the tidelands.

He predicted Stevenson could defeat a re-election bid by Eisenhower but "he's got to be kind of rough and tumble. He'll have to slug a little bit. I believe the people are impressed by a battle, if you don't overdo it."

However, he said he did not think the President would run again.

Long said he thought "all that Texas oil money that helped elect Eisenhower last time will be slow in coming out this time," but did not elaborate.

He said he thought the Democrats would be certain to win the election if vice president Nixon is GOP nominee.

"I think the Republicans will favor Chief Justice Warren," he said. "Nixon is unpopular and the Democratic candidate could beat him."

The State Central Committee meets Monday to name the 80-man delegation to the national convention in Chicago. Long has said he will not be a delegate, but that his wife, national committeewoman; his nephew, Sen. Russell Long (D-La); and his brother, Rep. George Long (D-La), probably will join other Long leaders as delegates.

While the central committee is not expected to instruct the delegation at this time, informants report a resolution will be offered to require the delegation to vote as a unit. Louisiana has 24 votes, with each delegate or alternative receiving half a vote.

Sources in the Long camp said some of the Louisianians invited to become members of the Democratic delegation also include:

Former Gov. James Noe of Monroe, New Orleans mayor deLesseps Morrison, former central committee chairman N. B. Carstarphen, former national Democratic committeewoman Mrs. E. A. Campbell, David Stern, Mrs. Edgar Stern and Hugh Wilkinson of New Orleans, Walter Peters of Jennings, Edward Carmouche, L. E. Hennigan and Griffin Hawkins of Lake Charles; and several newspaper people, Robert Ewing Jr.; managing editor Margaret Dixon of the Morning Advocate; managing editor Vince Marino of the Lafayette Daily Advertiser; reporter Emile Comar of the New Orleans States.

Also invited was the entire Louisiana congressional delegation.

Mrs. F. Leavell Guest Speaker For Trenton Meeting

The pastors' conference of Trenton Baptist Association, comprising 21 churches, will hold their monthly session with the Fair Park Baptist Church, West Monroe, Monday at 10:00 a.m. The special guest speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. Frank Leavell, home counsellor for the Southern Baptist Sunday School board, Nashville, Tenn. She is nationally known as a contributing editor of the "Home Life" magazine, published in Nashville.

Mrs. Leavell is the guest of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor, and for that reason it was possible to secure her presence and message before the pastors' conference of Trenton Association. She is so widely known the pastors' conference is being thrown open to the public in order that they may receive her message.

Her coming is being announced by the pastors from pulpits Sunday, and the public is invited to attend with the pastors Monday morning at Fair Park Church.

At ten o'clock a call to worship will be made by Charles Hogan choir director, Edgewood church, with Sandy Lawn presiding at the piano. The devotional will be given by Rev. John C. Smith, pastor of Peniel Church. A special message in gospel song will be rendered by Al Bankston, minister of education, First Baptist Church, Monroe.

Following the inspirational hour, the executive committee of the association will meet in a called session.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Buce of West Monroe announce the birth of their second child, Robert Wesley, Feb. 21 at 5 p.m. Weight 7 pounds, 6 ounces. Mrs. Buce is the former Miss Mildred Bonnette. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bonnette, Sr., of Monroe.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

A glance at the sports pages lately shows the high school and college basketball teams dominating the show in their championship drives, but baseball is squeezing in and will be almost full blown, except for actual league combat, by the time the cagers put most of their action aside.

Biggest piece of business on the Twin Cities baseball docket at the present is that campaign to sell 1,000 books of season tickets by next Thursday. The March 1 sale deadline is hardly more than hours away, and indications are that the goal is yet to be reached. No figures of actual sales have been announced, chiefly because so many individuals have books for sale in their possession that no accounting has been made as to how many they have sold or still possess.

With all the "pushers" busy it would seem that the 1,000 books should have been sold by now. These books are on sale at three downtown locations in the Twin Cities (Feeders Supply in West Monroe, and Adler Tire Company and Fink's in Monroe), can be secured from any member of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation's board of directors, from Manager Ed Head, and from many members of civic clubs that are lending their weight to the drive. Maybe they have attained the goal but need the accounting to learn the good news, but it seems more probable that the shot is short of the target and needs stronger reaction from the fans in the next three days to put the sale over on schedule.

The weather may not be conducive to the baseball spirit right now, but that's not halting preparations. The Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association will be moving into Legion Memorial Stadium here in two weeks (March 10) to start spring training; Manager Head opens work for the Sports' Evangeline League campaign at Hattiesburg, Miss., March 28; the Northeast Louisiana State Indians get their first intra-squad practice game here tomorrow afternoon; registration of Little League talent for Monroe's two leagues begins at the Recreation Center on Thursday; and other towns of the area are deep in plans for Little Boys Baseball with the age contemporary of Little League. The Little Boys gained national strength during the winter row, since settled, in the dispute among Little League leaders.

Foremost on the pro scene here, however, is the ticket campaign that is considered a "must" in good baseball management these days. Nearly all the clubs are doing it, even the big leagues. The fans get the advantage of bargain prices. The book tickets offered by the Sports are good anytime and for anybody. Evangeline League ball promises to be good, and the Sports, getting the same kind of help from the New York Yankees that they received last year, promise to be as good as their Cotton States League pennant winner.

Fair Park Downs Byrd To Cop 3rd Spot In District

BASTROP, La., Feb. 25 (Special) — The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, the bridesmaids to the Bastrop High Rams in zone play, smashed their Morehouse parish rivals, 65 to 43, here tonight for the north Louisiana triple-A basketball championship.

Coach Herb Holliman's Lions, who had bowed to Bastrop by one point for the east zone title of the district a week ago, soared to a 12-8 lead in the first quarter and was never headed as the Ouachita club roared on to a 29-18 edge at the half and a 41-29 margin entering the final period.

The Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, champions of the western zone who were upset by Ouachita last night, notched third place in the district by whipping their hometown rivals, the Byrd Yellow Jackets, 55-50, in tonight's consolation contest. Bastrop reached the district final by beating Byrd last night.

Dickie Crowe, a scampering little guard, was the big wheel in the Ouachita machine tonight as he ground out 27 points on 12 field baskets and three gift shots, and received 13-point support from Johnny Maroney.

Bob Loftin led Coach Darrell Foreman's Rams with 18 points on seven field baskets and four shots from the foul line.

The Byrd Jackets, led by Eddie Burt with 17 points, jumped into a 13-8 lead over Fair Park, but the Indians, who were sparked by Jimmy Orton's 20 points stormed into a halftime tie at 29-29, and pulled ahead in the third quarter.

Ramblers Tag Travelers In Final Quarter Surge

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The West Monroe Ramblers came from behind in the last quarter last night to down the world-famed Arkansas Travelers, 65-54 in the West Monroe High School gym.

The traveling team did not fail through, in its effort to give spectators an evening of fun-packed thrills. From the moment that the ball was tipped off at center the crowd was roaring. Coach Howard Barker entered his starting five with Bob Bennett, a former Northeast cager playing center. When Bennett stepped up to jump for the ball the opposing center attempted to make love to him, much to the amazement of on-lookers.

The Hazel Walker troopers gave out with dozens of other colorful tricks in the course of the evening. On several occasions the Walkerettes even saw fit to loudly argue with the referee. "Goose" Garroutte baffled the Ramblers by leaving the ball on the floor for one of her teammates to use in hooping two points. A four-way jump was introduced for the benefit of the audience and a football formation appeared before the West Monroe quintet. From this gridiron layout the ball was centered back to Miss Walker who dropped in two more points.

Amelia Ziegler, Asonia, N.Y., even made it a point to find a boy friend in the audience during the heat of the battle. In the second quarter one of the girls, who have made themselves known in basketball circles the world over, decided the referee needed some eye glasses, so out came a pair of black rimmed "specks".

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 25 (AP) —Alabama, led by center Jerry Harper with 37 points, walloped Kentucky 101-77 tonight and took a firmer hold on the Southeastern Conference basketball lead.

A wildly cheering crowd that carried Harper off the floor in triumph saw the rampaging Crimson Tide with its 13th victory in a row and its 11 SEC game without a defeat.

The victory over the Wildcats may decide the conference championship because it left Kentucky with a 10-2 record in SEC competition. But Alabama has three more conference games to play and Kentucky only two.

Harper, with 17 field goals and three throws was the high scorer of the game. His teammate, forward George Linn, sank 27 points.

Alabama had only a three-point margin at the half, leaving the floor with a lead of 43-40. But in the final 20 minutes of play, the Tide took a firm grip on the game and pulled gradually out in front.

Aggressive ball-grabbing tactics by Linn and guard Leon Marlaire also contributed to Alabama's victory. Time and again they stole the ball from the Wildcats under the Kentucky goal.

Harper dominated the backboard.

As the second half began, Kentucky held Alabama on even terms for the first two or three minutes before Harper and his teammates began to pull steadily away. At the end of five minutes of the last half, Alabama had run up a 16-point lead and stretched it to 16 points with 10 minutes, remaining in the game.

Still widening the margin, Alabama stretched their lead near the end of the game to 31 points, 95 to 64.

It was Alabama's first victory over Kentucky since Jan. 30, 1943, when the Tide beat the Wildcats, 41-32.

Wildcats Shade Panthers For 2-A Basketball Title

Bankston set the victory pace for Winnsboro tonight with 16 points on seven field goals and two gift shots. Earle hooped five from the field and two at the foul line to lead the Panthers with 12 points.

Walker and Jones, with 11 and eight point's respectively, were Bankston's big support. Thomas, with eight points, and Fairchild, with seven, backed up Earle.

However, both Lake Providence and Winnsboro move into the bi-district playoffs next week.

Lake Providence is due to invade Olla for a battle with the champions of district 1-A, while Winnsboro is due to host the No. 2 club, Many, of 1-A.

Tourney, All-Star Game Slated For Monroe's Cagers

A tournament and an all-star game are on tap for basketball players who participate in the winter program conducted by the Monroe Recreation department, it was announced yesterday by Director Jack Hesketh.

The tournament is for all teams that participated in the Pee Wee, aces of the Church Leagues.

The All - Star game will match players of the city Leagues against aces of the Church Leagues.

The tournament for the younger players is scheduled for March 2-3. Only players who played in the Pee Wee, Midget and Junior League games this season will be eligible, and teams must register with James McKay, assistant recreation director, at the Monroe Recreation Center not later than 5 p.m. Wednesday.

City League — Tarver Reynolds, Robertson, and Blake, Warriors; Bill Busbice and Carl Stucky, National Guard; Tommy Wren and Johnny Salter, Unique Cleaners; Alvin Thomas, Hot Rocks; Ken Simmons, Gay's Clothing; Darrell Johnson, Kilpatrick's; and J. L. Sullivan, Start.

Fred Lindsey, coach of L.T.I. Chapel, will ramrod the Church League stars, and Carlton Yeager, National Guard coach, will operate the City League aces.

The games will be open free of charge to the public.

Rayville Sextet Sinks Winnsboro In Title Contest

RAYVILLE, La., Feb. 25 —(Special)—The Rayville High School girls' basketball team upset the Gate Class A champion Winnsboro High sextet, 12 to 11, in a district 2-A championship thriller here tonight that marked itself as the most outstanding girls' cage struggle ever played in the Rayville gymnasium.

Jan Sorey, daughter of a former Rayville High athlete, Herbert Sorey, was the spearhead of the Rayville assault that handed Winnsboro only its second defeat of the season. Miss Sorey registered 26 points in steering her club to victory, while Anderson was high scorer for Winnsboro with 16 points as the Rayville guards kept Winnsboro's all-state forward, Hudgins, bottled up.

Rayville had gained the district tourney finals last night by whipping Crowville, 39-37, and Crowville had beaten Winnsboro in early season play by a single point. Winnsboro reached the finals by stopping Oak Grove last night, 57-35.

The Oak Grove girls were awarded the tournament's sportsmanship trophy.

Swedes In Finals Of U.S. National Indoor Net Event

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two towering sons of Sweden, Sven Davidson and Ulf Schmidt, smothered America's Art Larsen and Gilbert Shea in straight sets today to set up the first all-foreign national indoor tennis final in 29 years.

Davidson, 26-year-old Davis Cup veteran playing his last year of big-time tennis, smashed Larsen, former champion from San Leandro, Calif., 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Schmidt, 22-year - old Stockholm toy salesman, cut down Shea, Los Angeles Davis Cup hope 6-3, 6-4, 11-9.

It was one of the darkest days for American tennis in three decades as the two Swedes, trained to the lightning-fast hardwood bounces and indoor lighting, swept forward without losing a service.

The all-Sweden final is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. (EST) tomorrow at the 7th Regiment Armory, with the doubles final following.

Little Leaguers To Start Signing

Registration of Little League players for Monroe's two leagues will begin Thursday at the Monroe Recreation Center, it was announced yesterday by Jack Hesketh, a Little League secretary.

All Monroe youngsters between the ages of eight and 12 years are eligible to compete in Little League ball, but birth certificates must be shown at the time of registration.

This year's teams will be:

Top Field At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25 (AP)—The fifth annual Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament opens Thursday with a top notch field and golf fans expecting the winner to pop up at the last minute, as usual.

Two of the four tourneys, the first and last, ended in three-way ties. Only once, in 1953 when Sam Snead won by three strokes, was the winner known before the last putt on the fourth day.

And the $12,500 1956 version figures to be no different with a field including every past winner except Snead, who doesn't play on the winter tour and every winner in this year's winter circuit.

Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City beat Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., in a playoff last year. Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass., came roaring from behind to win in 1954 and Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., won a playoff in 1952.

The tournament will be played over the 6,450-yard, par 72 Baton Rouge Country Club course, a rolling course with narrow fairways neatly trapped to require precision golf. The fairways are edged by moss-draped oaks and criss-crossed with winding bayous.

Club pro Johnny Morris says the course is "rounding into shape nicely" after more than a month of heavy rains.

It will be homecoming for a number of former Louisiana State University golfers now pros. The list includes Gardner Dickinson Jr., Jay and Lionel ebert, Fred Haas and Joe Moore Jr.

Spearsville Meet Won By Ringgold, Choudrant Teams

SPEARSVILLE, La., Feb. 25 — (Special) — The Choudrant High School boys and the Ringgold High girls won championships in their divisions of the Spearsville Undergraduate Basketball Tournament here tonight.

The Choudrant Aggies tripped the Ringgold quintet, 49-42, in their final after Ringgold's sextet had nosed out Spearsville High, 51-49, in the girls final.

Lowe was particularly outstanding for Choudrant and was acclaimed as the outstanding player of the tournament that was limited to varsity high school players with one more year of eligibility. No seniors competed.

Greenies Shade Ole Miss Rebels In 83-81 Contest

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb.25 (AP)—Tulane put down a late Mississippi rally tonight to score an 83-81 Southeastern Conference basketball victory.

After trailing 47-46 at halftime, Tulane went ahead to stay at 54-43 on a field goal by Calvin Grosscup. The New Orleans team moved ahead gradually to a 65-57 margin on the shooting of Stanley Stumpf, who took scoring honors with 32 points.

With the score 76-68 in favor of Tulane, Mississippi rallied as Jerry Bynum and Bobby Robinson got hot and closed the gay to 80-76 with three minutes left.

Bill Jargstorf got a field goal for Tulane and Robinson one for Mississippi. Roy Stoll made a free throw to put Tulane ahead at 83-78. Jerry Bynum got a field goal and a free throw, but the clock ran out before Mississippi got a chance to tie it.

Tulane outrebounded Mississippi 51-42, but Mississippi sank 40.9 per cent of its shots to Tulane's 39.5.

Mangham's Girls To Play Anacoco In 'B' Sectional

MANGHAM, La. Feb. 25 (Special) — The Mangham High girls basketball team, queens of district 4-B, conquered Logansport of district one, 46-43, last night to set the stage for a sectional playoff with Anacoco of district seven here Tuesday night.

The Anacoco-Mangham game, scheduled for 7 o'clock in the Mangham High School gymnasium, will decide a semi-finalist in the state championship playoffs.

Principal Benny Hixon also announced an attempt is being made by Coach Dalton Boyd to schedule a boys' exhibiton on the same card for 8:15 o'clock.

Despite the close game with Logansport, the Mangham girls jumped into the early lead and held on all the way, and enjoyed a 28-19 margin at the half.

Kathleen Arrant headed Mangham's scoring parade with 27 points, supported by 14 from Rosalyn Ann Thames, to put Coach Janelle Brashier's local team in the sectional playoff.

'McConathy Era' Nears End For Demonlanders

NATCHITOCHES, La. Feb. 25 (Special) — More than ten years ago a tall, big-boned basketball player from Bienville parish enrolled at Northwestern State College. (Its name had just been changed from Louisiana Normal the year before.)

His name was Leslie McConathy, and when George, his youngest brother, is graduated from Northwestern this year, a remarkable "McConathy Era" will pass into Demon cage history.

In between Leslie and George, both of whom were All-Conference forwards, came brother Johnny, who received All-America acclaim in 1950-51, and cousin Hershel, the "runt" of the clan.

Co-captain of Northwestern's freshman-loaded 1955-56 cage team, 6'3½" George McConathy has increased the family reputation during his four years at Demonland by pouring more than 1,400 points through the hoops. The only Northwestern cager in history to score more was Claude "Jodie" Stoutamire, who got 1,534 while playing with the other three McConathys.

But prolific scoring isn't even half the story on the last of the McConathys, Demon fans avow. Most believe he would be an invaluable starter if he couldn't find the bucket with a telescope, because of prodigous rebounding and defensive feats.

For two years George has been the Demons' top rebounder, despite the fact that he usually competes with players three or four inches taller. He's also got enough speed to lead the Demons' fast break—which he often does.

Although his scoring isn't up to the 17 point-per-game pace he set last year, George has hit a higher percentage of shots, both from the field and free throw line, than ever before. The smaller average is due to the playmaking role he has stepped into as a senior.

In high school he was a four time all-state center at Class C Bryceland, winning innumerable "most valuable" trophies at prep tournaments throughout the state.

When his mother, Mrs. O. L. McConathy, was honored as the modern "Basketball Mother" of Northwestern at the Demons' home opener this season George came through with one of the greatest performances of a great career. He hooked and tapped 29 points through the rims in leading N.S.C. to an 85-77 triumph.

The McConathy name has been so prominent around Natchitoches since Leslie's arrival that only one season has passed by without at least one member of the clan on the Purple and White roster. That was the 1951-52 campaign, and the 17-14 record that year was N.S.C.'s worst won-lost season of the entire McConathy era.

On two Demon cage teams there were three McConathys. Those were the 1947-48 and 1948-49 editions, and both won conference titles and went to the N.A.I.B. tournament at Kansas City.

George plans to coach after graduation, although he'll be facing a two-year army stint as a second lieutenant, a product of the Northwestern ROTC.

There'll be a collective sigh of relief next fall when opposing Gulf States Conference coaches scan the Northwestern State roster and—for the second time in a dozen years—find no McConathy.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 25 (AP)—Louisiana State put on steam in the final four minutes tonight to defeat Mississippi State 79-71 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

LSU, playing without star waging scorer, took the lead at the start and held it throughout the game. With four and one-half minutes remaining, Mississippi State forward Billy Ethridge hit a field goal to cut the Tigers' lead to two points 66-64.

Hico To State Meet

OGDEN, La., Feb. 25 (Special) —It's the Hico quintet—not Ogden—that represents this section of the state in the eight-team boys Class C basketball tournament at Lafayette next weekend.

Hico defeated Ogden in a last minute surge, 53-49, here last night despite a report that attributed the victory to Ogden,

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

A glance at the sports pages lately shows the high school and college basketball teams dominating the show in their championship drives, but baseball is squeezing in and will be almost full blown, except for actual league combat, by the time the cagers put most of their action aside.

Biggest piece of business on the Twin Cities baseball docket at the present is that campaign to sell 1,000 books of season tickets by next Thursday. The March 1 sale deadline is hardly more than hours away, and indications are that the goal is yet to be reached. No figures of actual sales have been announced, chiefly because so many individuals have books for sale in their possession that no accounting has been made as to how many they have sold or still possess.

With all the "pushers" busy it would seem that the 1,000 books should have been sold by now. These books are on sale at three downtown locations in the Twin Cities (Feeders Supply in West Monroe, and Adler Tire Company and Fink's in Monroe), can be secured from any member of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation's board of directors, from Manager Ed Head, and from many members of civic clubs that are lending their weight to the drive. Maybe they have attained the goal but need the accounting to learn the good news, but it seems more probable that the shot is short of the target and needs stronger reaction from the fans in the next three days to put the sale over on schedule.

The weather may not be conducive to the baseball spirit right now, but that's not halting preparations. The Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association will be moving into Legion Memorial Stadium here in two weeks (March 10) to start spring training; Manager Head opens work for the Sports' Evangeline League campaign at Hattiesburg, Miss., March 28; the Northeast Louisiana State Indians get their first intra-squad practice game here tomorrow afternoon; registration of Little League talent for Monroe's two leagues begins at the Recreation Center on Thursday; and other towns of the area are deep in plans for Little Boys Baseball with the age contemporary of Little League. The Little Boys gained national strength during the winter row, since settled, in the dispute among Little League leaders.

Foremost on the pro scene here, however, is the ticket campaign that is considered a "must" in good baseball management these days. Nearly all the clubs are doing it, even the big leagues. The fans get the advantage of bargain prices. The book tickets offered by the Sports are good anytime and for anybody. Evangeline League ball promises to be good, and the Sports, getting the same kind of help from the New York Yankees that they received last year, promise to be as good as their Cotton States League pennant winner.

Fair Park Downs Byrd To Cop 3rd Spot In District

BASTROP, La., Feb. 25 (Special) — The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, the bridesmaids to the Bastrop High Rams in zone play, smashed their Morehouse parish rivals, 65 to 43, here tonight for the north Louisiana triple-A basketball championship.

Coach Herb Holliman's Lions, who had bowed to Bastrop by one point for the east zone title of the district a week ago, soared to a 12-8 lead in the first quarter and was never headed as the Ouachita club roared on to a 29-18 edge at the half and a 41-29 margin entering the final period.

The Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, champions of the western zone who were upset by Ouachita last night, notched third place in the district by whipping their hometown rivals, the Byrd Yellow Jackets, 55-50, in tonight's consolation contest. Bastrop reached the district final by beating Byrd last night.

Dickie Crowe, a scampering little guard, was the big wheel in the Ouachita machine tonight as he ground out 27 points on 12 field baskets and three gift shots, and received 13-point support from Johnny Maroney.

Bob Loftin led Coach Darrell Foreman's Rams with 18 points on seven field baskets and four shots from the foul line.

The Byrd Jackets, led by Eddie Burt with 17 points, jumped into a 13-8 lead over Fair Park, but the Indians, who were sparked by Jimmy Orton's 20 points stormed into a halftime tie at 29-29, and pulled ahead in the third quarter.

SEMI-FINALS SET

BASTROP, La., Feb. 25 —(Special)—State semi-final playoffs in triple - A boys' basketball will be held next Tuesday night in Monroe and in Bastrop.

Sulphur's champions of the southwest district meet the Bastrop Rams here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. At the same time Bolton of Alexandria, No. 2 in the southwest, will play Ouachita in Monroe.

Ramblers Tag Travelers In Final Quarter Surge

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER

The West Monroe Ramblers came from behind in the last quarter last night to down the world-famed Arkansas Travelers, 65-54 in the West Monroe High School gym.

The traveling team did not fail through, in its effort to give spectators an evening of fun-packed thrills. From the moment that the ball was tipped off at center the crowd was roaring. Coach Howard Barker entered his starting five with Bob Bennett, a former Northeast cager playing center. When Bennett stepped up to jump for the ball the opposing center attempted to make love to him, much to the amazement of on-lookers.

The Hazel Walker troopers gave out with dozens of other colorful tricks in the course of the evening. On several occasions the Walkerettes even saw fit to loudly argue with the referee. "Goose" Garroutte baffled the Ramblers by leaving the ball on the floor for one of her teammates to use in hooping two points. A four-way jump was introduced for the benefit of the audience and a football formation appeared before the West Monroe quintet. From this gridiron layout the ball was centered back to Miss Walker who dropped in two more points.

Amelia Ziegler, Asonia, N.Y., even made it a point to find a boy friend in the audience during the heat of the battle. In the second quarter one of the girls, who have made themselves known in basketball circles the world over, decided the referee needed some eye glasses, so out came a pair of black rimmed "specks".

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 25 (AP) —Alabama, led by center Jerry Harper with 37 points, walloped Kentucky 101-77 tonight and took a firmer hold on the Southeastern Conference basketball lead.

A wildly cheering crowd that carried Harper off the floor in triumph saw the rampaging Crimson Tide with its 13th victory in a row and its 11 SEC game without a defeat.

The victory over the Wildcats may decide the conference championship because it left Kentucky with a 10-2 record in SEC competition. But Alabama has three more conference games to play and Kentucky only two.

Harper, with 17 field goals and three throws was the high scorer of the game. His teammate, forward George Linn, sank 27 points.

Alabama had only a three-point margin at the half, leaving the floor with a lead of 43-40. But in the final 20 minutes of play, the Tide took a firm grip on the game and pulled gradually out in front.

Aggressive ball-grabbing tactics by Linn and guard Leon Marlaire also contributed to Alabama's victory. Time and again they stole the ball from the Wildcats under the Kentucky goal.

Harper dominated the backboard.

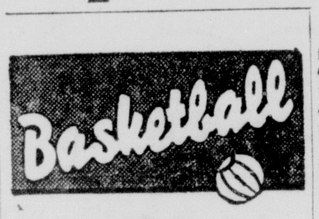

As the second half began, Kentucky held Alabama on even terms for the first two or three minutes before Harper and his teammates began to pull steadily away. At the end of five minutes of the last half, Alabama had run up a 10-point lead and stretched it to 16 points with 10 minutes, remaining in the game.

Still widening the margin, Alabama stretched their lead near the end of the game to 31 points, 95 to 64.

It was Alabama's first victory over Kentucky since Jan. 30, 1943, when the Tide beat the Wildcats, 41-32.

Top Field At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25 (AP)—The fifth annual Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament opens Thursday with a top notch field and golf fans expecting the winner to pop up at the last minute, as usual.

Two of the four tourneys, the first and last, ended in three-way ties. Only once, in 1953 when Sam Snead won by three strokes, was the winner known before the last putt on the fourth day.

And the $12,500 1956 version figures to be no different with a field including every past winner except Snead, who doesn't play on the winter tour and every winner in this year's winter circuit.

Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City beat Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., in a playoff last year. Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass., came roaring from behind to win in 1954 and Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., won a playoff in 1952.

The tournament will be played over the 6,450-yard, par 72 Baton Rouge Country Club course, a rolling course with narrow fairways neatly trapped to require precision golf. The fairways are edged by moss-draped oaks and criss-crossed with winding bayous.

Club pro Johnny Morris says the course is "rounding into shape nicely" after more than a month of heavy rains.

It will be homecoming for a number of former Louisiana State University golfers now pros. The list includes Gardner Dickinson Jr., Jay and Lionel ebert, Fred Haas and Joe Moore Jr.

Spearsville Meet Won By Ringgold, Choudrant Teams

SPEARSVILLE, La., Feb. 25 —(Special) — The Choudrant High School boys and the Ringgold High girls won championships in their divisions of the Spearsville Undergraduate Basketball Tournament here tonight.

The Choudrant Aggies tripped the Ringgold quintet, 49-42, in their final after Ringgold's sextet had nosed out Spearsville High, 51-49, in the girls final.

Lowe was particularly outstanding for Choudrant and was acclaimed as the outstanding player of the tournament that was limited to varsity high school players with one more year of eligibility. No seniors competed.

Results of the afternoon semi-finals:

Greenies Shade Ole Miss Rebels In 83-81 Contest

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb.25 (AP)—Tulane put down a late Mississippi rally tonight to score an 83-81 Southeastern Conference basketball victory.

After trailing 47-46 at halftime, Tulane went ahead to stay at 54-43 on a field goal by Calvin Grosscup. The New Orleans team moved ahead gradually to a 65-57 margin on the shooting of Stanley Stumpf, who took scoring honors with 32 points.

With the score 76-68 in favor of Tulane, Mississippi rallied as Jerry Bynum and Bobby Robinson got hot and closed the gay to 80-76 with three minutes left.

Bill Jargstorf got a field goal for Tulane and Robinson one for Mississippi. Roy Stoll made a free throw to put Tulane ahead at 83-78. Jerry Bynum got a field goal and a free throw, but the clock ran out before Mississippi got a chance to tie it.

Tulane outrebounded Mississippi 51-42, but Mississippi sank 40.9 per cent of its shots to Tulane's 39.5.

'McConathy Era' Nears End For Demonlanders

NATCHITOCHES, La. Feb. 25 (Special) — More than ten years ago a tall, big-boned basketball player from Bienville parish enrolled at Northwestern State College. (Its name had just been changed from Louisiana Normal the year before.)

His name was Leslie McConathy, and when George, his youngest brother, is graduated from Northwestern this year, a remarkable "McConathy Era" will pass into Demon cage history.

In between Leslie and George, both of whom were All-Conference forwards, came brother Johnny, who received All-America acclaim in 1950-51, and cousin Hershel, the "runt" of the clan.

Co-captain of Northwestern's freshman-loaded 1955-56 cage team, 6'3½" George McConathy has increased the family reputation during his four years at Demonland by pouring more than 1,400 points through the hoops. The only Northwestern cager in history to score more was Claude "Jodie" Stoutamire, who got 1,534 while playing with the other three McConathys.

But prolific scoring isn't even half the story on the last of the McConathys, Demon fans avow. Most believe he would be an invaluable starter if he couldn't find the bucket with a telescope, because of prodigous rebounding and defensive feats.

For two years George has been the Demons' top rebounder, despite the fact that he usually competes with players three or four inches taller. He's also got enough speed to lead the Demons' fast break—which he often does.

Although his scoring isn't up to the 17 point-per-game pace he set last year, George has hit a higher percentage of shots, both from the field and free throw line, than ever before. The smaller average is due to the playmaking role he has stepped into as a senior.

In high school he was a four time all-state center at Class C Bryceland, winning innumerable "most valuable" trophies at prep tournaments throughout the state.

When his mother, Mrs. O. L. McConathy, was honored as the modern "Basketball Mother" of Northwestern at the Demons' home opener this season George came through with one of the greatest performances of a great career. He hooked and tapped 29 points through the rims in leading N.S.C. to an 85-77 triumph.

The McConathy name has been so prominent around Natchitoches since Leslie's arrival that only one season has passed by without at least one member of the clan on the Purple and White roster. That was the 1951-52 campaign, and the 17-14 record that year was N.S.C.'s worst won-lost season of the entire McConathy era.

On two Demon cage teams there were three McConathys. Those were the 1947-48 and 1948-49 editions, and both won conference titles and went to the N.A.I.B. tournament at Kansas City.

George plans to coach after graduation, although he'll be facing a two-year army stint as a second lieutenant, a product of the Northwestern ROTC.

There'll be a collective sigh of relief next fall when opposing Gulf States Conference coaches scan the Northwestern State roster and—for the second time in a dozen years—find no McConathy.

Wildcats Shade Panthers For 2-A Basketball Title

Bankston set the victory pace for Winnsboro tonight with 16 points on seven field goals and two gift shots. Earle hooped five from the field and two at the foul line to lead the Panthers with 12 points.

Walker and Jones, with 11 and eight points respectively, were Bankston's big support. Thomas, with eight points, and Fairchild, with seven, backed up Earle.

However, both Lake Providence and Winnsboro move into the bi-district playoffs next week.

Lake Providence is due to invade Olla for a battle with the champions of district 1-A, while Winnsboro is due to host the No. 2 club, Many, of 1-A.

Tourney, All-Star Game Slated For Monroe's Cagers

A tournament and an all-star game are on tap for basketball players who participate in the winter program conducted by the Monroe Recreation department, it was announced yesterday by Director Jack Hesketh.

The tournament is for all teams that participated in the Pee Wee, aces of the Church Leagues.

The All - Star game will match players of the city League against aces of the Church Leagues.

The tournament for the younger players is scheduled for March 2-3. Only players who played in the Pee Wee, Midget and Junior League games this season will be eligible, and teams must register with James McKay, assistant recreation director, at the Monroe Recreation Center not later than 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Fred Lindsey, coach of L.T.I. Chapel, will ramrod the Church League stars, and Carlton Yeager, National Guard coach, will operate the City League aces.

The games will be open free of charge to the public.

Rayville Sextet Sinks Winnsboro In Title Contest

RAYVILLE, La., Feb. 25 —(Special)—The Rayville High School girls' basketball team upset the state Class A champion Winnsboro High sextet, 42 to 41, in a district 2-A championship thriller here tonight that marked itself as the most outstanding girls' cage struggle ever played in the Rayville gymnasium.

Jan Sorey, daughter of a former Rayville High athlete, Herbert Sorey, was the spearhead of the Rayville assault that handed Winnsboro only its second defeat of the season. Miss Sorey registered 26 points in steering her club to victory, while Anderson was high scorer for Winnsboro with 16 points as the Rayville guards kept Winnsboro's all-state forward, Hudgins, bottled up.

Rayville had gained the district tourney finals last night by whipping Crowville, 39-37, and Crowville had beaten Winnsboro in early season play by a single point. Winnsboro reached the finals by stopping Oak Grove last night, 57-35.

The Oak Grove girls were awarded the tournament's sportsmanship trophy.

Swedes In Finals Of U.S. National Indoor Net Event

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two towering sons of Sweden, Sven Davidson and Ulf Schmidt, smothered America's Art Larsen and Gilbert Shea in straight sets today to set up the first all-foreign national indoor tennis final in 29 years.

Davidson, 26-year-old Davis Cup veteran playing his last year of big-time tennis, smashed Larsen, former champion from San Leandro, Calif., 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Schmidt, 22-year - old Stockholm toy salesman, cut down Shea, Los Angeles Davis Cup hope, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9.

It was one of the darkest days for American tennis in three decades as the two Swedes, trained to the lightning-fast hardwood bounces and indoor lighting, swept forward without losing a service.

The all-Sweden final is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. (EST) tomorrow at the 7th Regiment Armory, with the doubles final following.

Little Leaguers To Start Signing

Registration of Little League players for Monroe's two leagues will begin Thursday at the Monroe Recreation Center, it was announced yesterday by Jack Hesketh, a Little League secretary.

All Monroe youngsters between the ages of eight and 12 years are eligible to compete in Little League ball, but birth certificates must be shown at the time of registration.

This year's teams will be:

Mangham's Girls To Play Anacoco In 'B' Sectional

MANGHAM, La. Feb. 25 (Special) — The Mangham High girls basketball team, queens of district 4-B, conquered Logansport of district one, 46-43, last night to set the stage for a sectional playoff with Anacoco of district seven here Tuesday night.

The Anacoco-Mangham game, scheduled for 7 o'clock in the Mangham High School gymnasium, will decide a semi-finalist in the state championship playoffs.

Principal Benny Hixon also announced an attempt is being made by Coach Dalton Boyd to schedule a boys' exhibiton on the same card for 8:15 o'clock.

Despite the close game with Logansport, the Mangham girls jumped into the early lead and held on all the way, and enjoyed a 28-19 margin at the half.

Kathleen Arrant headed Mangham's scoring parade with 27 points, supported by 14 from Rosalyn Ann Thames, to put Coach Janelle Brashier's local team in the sectional playoff.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Feb. 25 (AP)—Louisiana State put on steam in the final four minutes tonight to defeat Mississippi State 79-71 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

LSU, playing without star waging scorer, took the lead at the start and held it throughout the game. With four and one-half minutes remaining, Mississippi State forward Billy Ethridge hit a field goal to cut the Tigers' lead to two points 66-64.

Hico To State Meet

OGDEN, La., Feb. 25 (Special) —It's the Hico quintet—not Ogden—that represents this section of the state in the eight-team boys Class C basketball tournament at Lafayette next weekend.

Hico defeated Ogden in a last minute surge, 53-49, here last night despite a report that attributed the victory to Ogden,

Kroll Grabs Lead As Barber Hits Skids

THEY'LL LEAD TRIBE—Halfback Aubrey Wade, left, and Jimmy Berry, right, will lead the Northeast State Indians in the football wars next fall. Wade, a senior of Laurel, Miss., and Berry, a senior guard of West Monroe, have been named captain and co-captain respectively for Coach Devone Payne's gridders who are currently in spring training.

Jackie Burke One Stroke Off Stride For Houston Open

HOUSTON, Feb. 25—UP—Veteran Ted Kroll fired a one-under par 71 Saturday to grab a one-stroke lead at the 54-hole mark in the $30,000 Houston Open golf tournament.

Kroll, the Tucson Open winner from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., had a 208 total to take into Sunday's final round over the 7,122-yard Memorial Park course. One stroke back was Jackie Burke, a former Houston Open winner from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., who shot a four-under par 68 Saturday.

Jerry Barber, the little Los Angeles pro who held the first-day lead and shared it with Kroll at the halfway point, had a bogey seige Saturday and fell to a 76, placing him five strokes off the pace at 213.

Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City was the hottest man in fine weather Saturday with a birdie-strung 67 to put him in third place at 211.

Dave Douglas, Newark, N.J., moved up to fourth at 212 with a 68.

Tied with Barber at 213 were Wesley Ellis, former University of Texas Southwest Conference champion from Rivervale, N.J. and Jon Gustin, Charlottesville, Va.

Gustin soared to a 75 Saturday after holding down a tie for third place with his 67 Friday.

The qualifying score for the top 60 and ties who will start the final 18 holes Sunday was 221.

Alabama Cage Ace Tops Loop Rebounding Battle

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 25 (AP)—Alabama's Jerry Harper apparently has the Southeastern Conference rebounding title snared, but a battle is developing for the field goal accuracy crown.

Moving up on the Tide's Dennis O'Shea in the field goal rivalry is Kentucky's able sophomore guard, Vernon Hatton. The 6-2 senior O'Shea went into the last four games of the SEC basketball season leading Hatton by one per cent on marksmanship from the field.

Individual statistics released by SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore included games through Friday night.

Calvin Grosscup, Tulane, a late mover in the picture, does not have the foul-shooting title cinched either. He has a 2.1 per cent edge on Florida's Bob Emrick but one bad night could drop the Greenie ace back into a pack of players pushing him hard.

Harper pulled in an average of 21.9 rebounds per game. If he failed to nab a single one in the Tide's last four games he'd still finish with 18.2 per game. That apparently was a safe margin over second-place Jim Zinn, Florida, who had a mark of 15.7.

O'Shea, dropping in 92 of 182 attempts from the floor this year, led Hatton's 97-for-196 record. O'Shea accuracy was 50.5 per cent, Hatton's 49.5 per cent.

Grosscup had sunk 57 of 70 free shot tries for 81.4 per cent. Emrick had 138 for 174, 79.3 per cent.

DePaul, Canisius Will Participate In N. C. A. A. Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 —(AP)—DePaul and Canisius today were selected as at-large representatives in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament.

DePaul, with a 14-7 record going into Saturday night's game against Notre Dame at Chicago, will play its first round game in either the sectional tournament at Fort Wayne, Ind., or the one at Wichita, Kan. Play at Fort Wayne is slated for March 12 and at Wichita March 13.

Canisius, showing a 14-6 mark before meeting Detroit at Buffalo Saturday night, joins Holy Cross as an at-large team in the first round competition at New York's Madison Square Garden, March 12-13. Drawing for the New York competition will not be made until two more at-large teams are selected.

This will be Canisius' second straight year in the post-season championship tourney. Last year the Griffins beat Williams in the first round and then lost to LaSalle. DePaul appeared in the championship in 1943 and 1953, losing out both times in the second round.

Half Field Named For Shreveport's December Event

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 25 (AP)—Sponsors of the Louisiana Invitational Basketball Tournament said today they had signed four of the eight teams for the 1956 tourney.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the Shreveport Times and Centenary College, will be held Dec. 27-29.

The teams are Louisiana State University, Northwestern State College, Louisiana Tech and Centenary, defending champion.

Officials said about a dozen other colleges had been contacted but no definite agreements may be reached until after the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament next month.

Previous tournaments had been limited to four small college teams. Louisiana Tech won the inaugural event in 1954.

The tournament will be played in the new Youth Activities Building on the state fair grounds. The building has a seating capacity of 12,000.

Centenary officials said the school will play all its home games in the building next year. The building will be dedicated in ceremonies at the Texas A&M-Centenary game Dec. 1.

Benjamin Franklin founded the University of Pennsylvania.

Ferrari Entering 3 Flashy Racers In Florida Event

SEBRING, Fla. Feb. 5 (AP) — Fighting to win back the world sports car championship, the Ferrari factory of Italy today entered three of its flashy racers in the 1-hour International Grand Prix of Endurance to be run here March 24.

Ferrari had dominated the world's race courses for two years until Mercedes Benz of Germany won the international title in 1955. Mercedes Benz took its team out of competition after one of its cars exploded into the crowd at Le Mans, France, killing 82 spectators.

Reginald Smith, Sebring race director, said he received official confirmation today from Enzo Ferrari, designer and president of the factory in Modina, Italy, that he would enter three cars. All will be the new 3.5 liter type.

One of the Ferraris will be piloted by the world champion sports car driver, Juan Frangio of Argentina. Other outstanding wheelmen under the Ferrari banner will be Harry Schell of France and the Marquis De Portago of Spain.

The Sebring race is the second of the year in which points will be awarded toward the world sports car championship. The Maserati factory of Italy took the lead in this year's competition by winning the 1,000-kilometer race last months in Buenos Aires.

Last year at Sebring, an English D-Jaguar, a Ferrari and a Maserati finished 1-2- in that order.

Maserati also has entered three cars at Sebring and Jaguar will be represented by several entries.

Smith also announced that the Chevrolet Corvette will participate in international competition for the first time in the Sebring race. Three of these cars have been entered by Raceway Enterprises of Dundee, Ill. The General Motors Co. will assist the team by sending technical assistants from the factory.

America's big manufacturers so far have made no serious effort to challenge European supremacy in sports car racing, but both the Corvette and the Ford Thunderbird are expected to run here.

Wildlife Group Elects Officers Tuesday Night

According to Ed Crowley, president of th Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, the unit will hold one of its most important meetings of the year Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Virginia Hotel.

Following films on Canadian geese and other water fowl, furnished to the group by "Ducks Unlimited," the order of business will include the election of new officers reports from directors J. L. Edwards, Jack Rushing, A. E. Jones, E. Elmore, and O. N. McNeil on business transacted at the convention of the Wildlife Federation, held last week in Baton Rouge. In adition, reports will be forth coming from Jack Peterson, Shreveport, chairman of "Ducks Unlimited" in Louisiana, and co-chairman J. B. Thoman, Monroe.

Of interst to local duck hunters will be a plan, to be revealed by Peterson and Thoman, that "Ducks Unlimited" plans to spend large sums of money in this area to improve wild fowl habitant.

Those in attendance at this meeting will also have a chance to help pick the outstanding sportsman of Ouachita parish who will receive the Floyd Martin Memorial Trophy for his contribution to conservation during 1955.

The meeting, as usual, will close with the presentation of door prizes, some article useful in sports given to a sportsman and sportswoman in attendance.

Bucks Need Couple After Returning Two

Shepard, 23, plagued by injuries most of the time, batted .239 in 94 games with the Pirates last year—his sophomore season in the big leagues.

Atwell played in 71 games with the Pirates last season, batting .213.

The Pirates now have 42 players signed for the coming season. Unsigned are outfielder Roberto Clemente and pitcher Red Munger.

Season Ticket Deadline For Sports In Thursday

Only four more days are left in the season ticket book campaign of the Twin Cities Sports for the 1956 baseball season, as the deadline for advanced sales is Thursday.

By this time it is hoped that at least 1,000 books have been sold in order to assure sound financial operation of the local professional baseball club. Although there is no official count of how many tickets have been sold to date, a good estimate establishes the mark somewhat below the 1,000 goal.

To aid in the drive many civic clubs of the Twin Cities have volunteered to help sell along with many other interested fans. Ed Head, general manager of the Sports, and members of the club's board of directors have been busy not only pushing the ticket sales but handling various other matters concerning the general operation of the organization.

Tickets are on sale at Adler Tire Company, 201 South Grand street; Fink's, 334 DeSiard street, and in West Monroe at Feeders Supply Company, 513 Trenton Street. They may also be ordered by phoning 3-8805 or 3-9461.

Easy credit terms can also be arranged so that the books may be paid for in either 30 or 60 day periods, if desired. Purchasing ducats in this fashion saves much money over buying them individually at the gate before every game.

Prices are $25 for grandstand seats, $17.50 for bleachers, and $50 for box seats of four.

Ex-Michigan Stater, Rookie With Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25 —(AP)— The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today signed veteran halfback Lynn Chandnois and fullback Ted Wisnewski to contracts for the 1956 season.

Chandnois, a former Michigan State star, played in only eight of the Steeler's 12 games last year because of a knee injury.

Ann's Love Scores Upset Victory In Letellier Run

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 (AP) — Miss Ann Uhler's inconsistent Ann's Love turned in the biggest upset at the Fair Grounds winter meeting with a neck victory over the favorite, Galdar in the $18,750 Letellier handicap today.

The six-year-old son of Alaking ran sixth against almost the same field last week, but took advantage of a feathery 105-pound impost today to take the winner's share of $17,100.

Ann's Love, winner of only four races the last 14 months, went to the post the second longest-priced entry in the eight-horse field and returned a staggering $49.80, $12.00 and $4.20.

The 13,551 fans established Galdar, who whipped the same horses by two lengths last Saturday, as the eleven-ten favorite. And the big five-year-old son of Rustom Sirdar almost made it.

Jockey Paul Bohenko let Ann's Love trail in last place for the first half mile while J. C. Farrell's Happy Memories and Dixiana Farm's Make Ready set the pace.

Down the long run through the back stretch, Jockey Johnny Heckmann sent Made Ready to the top with Happy Memories trailing and Galdar in third place.

Around the turn, Make Ready still held a length lead, but Ann's Love moved through on the rail to take second with Galdar running third.

Make Ready dropped out of the picture a quarter mile from home with Ann's Love and Galdar fighting for the lead. Earl Van Hook went to the whip on Galdar, but Bohenko steadied Ann's Love and the Uhler color bearer moved to the front to stay.

James Peddock's Nonnie Jo made a bold move at the quarter pole, but faded and took third place, a half length ahead of Sam Tufano's fast-finishing Wise Margin.

Galdar paid $3.20 and $2.60 while Nonnie Jo, third choice in the betting with running Mate Ja Ja, returned $2.60.

The victory boomed Ann's Love's stock for the $50,000 added New Orleans Handicap next week.

But he'll face stiffer competition since Hasty House Farms has nominated Sea O Erin and Mister Black and Main Chance Farm has named the hard-hitting Jet Action for the event, richest of the meet.

A total of $354,864 was bet on the day's card.

Titleholders Has 35 Best Women Golfers Entered

ATLANTA, Feb. 25—UP—Thirty-five of the nation's top women professional and amateur golfers have entered the 17th annual Women's Titleholders to be held March 8-11 and an all-time record field is expected for this feminine equivalent of the famed Masters' tournament, it was announced Saturday.

DePaul, with a 14-7 record going into Saturday night's game against Notre Dame at Chicago, will play its first round game in either the sectional tournament at Fort Wayne, Ind., or the one at Wichita, Kan. Play at Fort Wayne is slated for March 12 and at Wichita March 13.

Canisius, showing a 14-6 mark before meeting Detroit at Buffalo Saturday night, joins Holy Cross as an at-large team in the first round competition at New York's Madison Square Garden, March 12-13. Drawing for the New York competition will not be made until two more at-large teams are selected.

This will be Canisius' second straight year in the post-season championship tourney. Last year the Griffins beat Williams in the first round and then lost to LaSalle. DePaul appeared in the championship in 1943 and 1953, losing out both times in the second round.

Half Field Named For Shreveport's December Event

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 25 (AP)—Sponsors of the Louisiana Invitational Basketball Tournament said today they had signed four of the eight teams for the 1956 tourney.

The tournament, co-sponsored by the Shreveport Times and Centenary College, will be held Dec. 27-29.

The teams are Louisiana State University, Northwestern State College, Louisiana Tech and Centenary, defending champion.

Officials said about a dozen other colleges had been contacted but no definite agreements may be reached until after the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament next month.

Previous tournaments had been limited to four small college teams. Louisiana Tech won the inaugural event in 1954.

The tournament will be played in the new Youth Activities Building on the state fair grounds. The building has a seating capacity of 12,000.

Centenary officials said the school will play all its home games in the building next year. The building will be dedicated in ceremonies at the Texas A&M-Centenary game Dec. 1.

Benjamin Franklin founded the University of Pennsylvania.

Ferrari Entering 3 Flashy Racers In Florida Event

SEBRING, Fla. Feb. 5 (AP)—Fighting to win back the world sports car championship, the Ferrari factory of Italy today entered three of its flashy racers in the 1-hour International Grand Prix of Endurance to be run here March 24.

Ferrari had dominated the world's race courses for two years until Mercedes Benz of Germany won the international title in 1955. Mercedes Benz took its team out of competition after one of its cars exploded into the crowd at Le Mans, France, killing 82 spectators.

Reginald Smith, Sebring race director, said he received official confirmation today from Enzo Ferrari, designer and president of the factory in Modina, Italy, that he would enter three cars. All will be the new 3.5 liter type.

One of the Ferraris will be piloted by the world champion sports car driver, Juan Frangio of Argentina. Other outstanding wheelmen under the Ferrari banner will be Harry Schell of France and the Marquis De Portago of Spain.

The Sebring race is the second of the year in which points will be awarded toward the world sports car championship. The Maserati factory of Italy took the lead in this year's competition by winning the 1,000-kilometer race last months in Buenos Aires.

Last year at Sebring, an English D-Jaguar, a Ferrari and a Maserati finished 1-2- in that order.

Maserati also has entered three cars at Sebring and Jaguar will be represented by several entries.

Smith also announced that the Chevrolet Corvette will participate in international competition for the first time in the Sebring race. Three of these cars have been entered by Raceway Enterprises of Dundee, Ill. The General Motors Co. will assist the team by sending technical assistants from the factory.

America's big manufacturers so far have made no serious effort to challenge European supremacy in sports car racing, but both the Corvette and the Ford Thunderbird are expected to run here.

HOWDY

DES MOINES —(UP)— A schoolboy in Texas wrote the Iowa Development Commission for information about Iowa this way: "Howdy: Please favor me with your "brags" as to your state."

Wildlife Group Elects Officers Tuesday Night

According to Ed Crowley, president of th Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, the unit will hold one of its most important meetings of the year Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Virginia Hotel.

Following films on Canadian geese and other water fowl, furnished to the group by "Ducks Unlimited," the order of business will include the election of new officers reports from directors J. L. Edwards, Jack Rushing, A. E. Jones, E. Elmore, and O. N. McNeil on business transacted at the convention of the Wildlife Federation, held last week in Baton Rouge. In adition, reports will be forth coming from Jack Peterson, Shreveport, chairman of "Ducks Unlimited" in Louisiana, and co-chairman J. B. Thoman, Monroe.

Of interst to local duck hunters will be a plan, to be revealed by Peterson and Thoman, that "Ducks Unlimited" plans to spend large sums of money in this area to improve wild fowl habitant.

Those in attendance at this meeting will also have a chance to help pick the outstanding sportsman of Ouachita parish who will receive the Floyd Martin Memorial Trophy for his contribution to conservation during 1955.

The meeting, as usual, will close with the presentation of door prizes, some article useful in sports given to a sportsman and sportswoman in attendance.

Bucks Need Couple After Returning Two

Shepard, 23, plagued by injuries most of the time, batted .239 in 94 games with the Pirates last year—his sophomore season in the big leagues.

Atwell played in 71 games with the Pirates last season, batting .213.

Season Ticket Deadline For Sports In Thursday

Only four more days are left in the season ticket book campaign of the Twin Cities Sports for the 1956 baseball season, as the deadline for advanced sales is Thursday.

By this time it is hoped that at least 1,000 books have been sold in order to assure sound financial operation of the local professional baseball club. Although there is no official count of how many tickets have been sold to date, a good estimate establishes the mark somewhat below the 1,000 goal.

To aid in the drive many civic clubs of the Twin Cities have volunteered to help sell along with many other interested fans. Ed Head, general manager of the Sports, and members of the club's board of directors have been busy not only pushing the ticket sales but handling various other matters concerning the general operation of the organization.

Tickets are on sale at Adler Tire Company, 201 South Grand street; Fink's, 334 DeSiard street, and in West Monroe at Feeders Supply Company, 513 Trenton Street. They may also be ordered by phoning 3-8805 or 3-9461.

Easy credit terms can also be arranged so that the books may be paid for in either 30 or 60 day periods, if desired. Purchasing ducats in this fashion saves much money over buying them individually at the gate before every game.

Prices are $25 for grandstand seats, $17.50 for bleachers, and $50 for box seats of four.

Ex-Michigan Stater, Rookie With Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25 —(AP)— The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today signed veteran halfback Lynn Chandnois and fullback Ted Wisnewski to contracts for the 1956 season.

Chandnois, a former Michigan State star, played in only eight of the Steeler's 12 games last year because of a knee injury.

Ann's Love Scores Upset Victory In Letellier Run

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 (AP) — Miss Ann Uhler's inconsistent Ann's Love turned in the biggest upset at the Fair Grounds winter meeting with a neck victory over the favorite, Galdar in the $18,750 Letellier handicap today.

The six-year-old son of Alaking ran sixth against almost the same field last week, but took advantage of a feathery 105-pound impost today to take the winner's share of $12,100.

Ann's Love, winner of only four races the last 14 months, went to the post the second longest-priced entry in the eight-horse field and returned a staggering $49.80, $12.00 and $4.20.

The 13,561 fans established Galdar, who whipped the same horses by two lengths last Saturday, as the eleven-ten favorite. And the big five-year-old son of Rustom Sirdar almost made it.

Jockey Paul Bohenko let Ann's Love trail in last place for the first half mile while J. C. Farrell's Happy Memories and Dixiana Farm's Make Ready set the pace.

Down the long run through the back stretch, Jockey Johnny Heckmann sent Made Ready to the top with Happy Memories trailing and Galdar in third place.

Around the turn, Make Ready still held a length lead, but Ann's Love moved through on the rail to take second with Galdar running third.

Make Ready dropped out of the picture a quarter mile from home with Ann's Love and Galdar fighting for the lead. Earl Van Hook went to the whip on Galdar, but Bohenko steadied Ann's Love and the Uhler color bearer moved to the front to stay.

James Paddock's Nonnie Jo made a bold move at the quarter pole, but faded and took third place, a half length ahead of Sam Tufano's fast-finishing Wise Margin.

Galdar paid $3.20 and $2.60 while Nonnie Jo, third choice in the betting with running Mate Ja Ja, returned $2.60.

The victory boomed Ann's Love's stock for the $50,000 added New Orleans Handicap next week.

But he'll face stiffer competition since Hasty House Farms has nominated Sea O Erin and Mister Black and Main Chance Farm has named the hard-hitting Jet Action for the event, richest of the meet.

A total of $354,864 was bet on the day's card.

Titleholders Has 35 Best Women Golfers Entered

ATLANTA, Feb. 25—UP—Thirty-five of the nation's top women professional and amateur golfers have entered the 17th annual Women's Titleholders to be held March 8-11 and an all-time record field is expected for this feminine equivalent of the famed Masters' tournament, it was announced Saturday.

Majors Ready To Hit Full Stride In Training Camps

Yankees, Dodgers Tagged Favorites To Take Pennants

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25—UP—The 16 major league teams—spread out from Florida's Gulfstream to Arizona's Painted Desert — were making final preparations Saturday for the official launching of the 1956 spring training program.

The target date is March 1— next Thursday — when all unsigned players officially become "holdouts" — but under his year's new flexible training rule most of the teams are already underway. An even dozen clubs have set up quarters in Florida with the remaining four — the Cleveland Indians, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles — in Arizona.

This year the training campaign marks the debuts of three freshman managers: Bill Rigney of the Giants, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates. All the American League pilots are holdovers from the 1955 season.

Pre-season estimates already have installed the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers as National League favorites and the defending champion New York Yankees as the American League choices.

The experts are thinking in terms of another runaway for the Dodgers but are viewing the American League as a four-team race with the Boston Red Sox joining the Indians and Chicago White Sox as solid challengers. The experts also have promoted the Detroit Tigers into a pre-season role as AL "dark horses."

The National League stood relatively "pat" during the winter in the face of the Dodgers' 13 1-2 game triumph and first World Series victory. The Dodgers themselves swung the only major trade by a contender — acquiring third-baseman Ransom Jackson from the Cubs for pitcher Russ Meyer and third baseman Don Hoak. It is safe to assume, therefore, that several major deals may be made toward the close of training.

In sharp contrast, all four of the leading American League contenders made major deals.

The Yankees acquired southpaw screwballer Mickey McDermott, a pitcher of high promise, from the Washington Senators. The Indians made a "big move" in attempting to shore up their infield via the acquisition of shortstop Chico Carrasquel from the Chicago White Sox, who in turn, sought to increase their batting punch by the addition of Larry Doby.

And the Red Sox swung a massive quantity-for-quality deal with the Senators in which they obtained veteran first-baseman Mickey Vernon and Bob Porterfield, a solid starting pitcher.

Welch, Scharbert In Tag Bout With Scarr, Galento

The lineup is changed, but a tag team scramble still heads the card as Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night when the villanious Red Scarr, hooded villain, returns with Mario Galento as his partner against a new relay combination of Jack Welch, Tulsa, Okla., and Bill Scharbert, St. Louis, Mo.

Welch has been a familiar name on tag cards here recently, but Jack is a new personality for Kallio's customers although he is a cousin of the Welch brothers, Lester and Herb, who are already familiar to Twin Cities wrestling fans.

Scharbert, a short but husky battler, may be remembered by some fans here although he is still considered relatively new despite one appearance on a Kallio card sometime ago. Scharbert, a 22-year-old, is a son of the once well-known grappler of the same name, and Billy Scharbert, the pop, taught the tricks of the trade to his son at an early age.

Scarr is the only returnee from last week's rousing brawl in which Les Welch and Buddy Fuller were tag winners over Scarr and Stan Kowalski in a combination wrestling-boxing relay show that wound up with Scarr and his partner battling among themselves although they later patched their differences.

Promoter Kallio last night said the Scarr-Kowalski feud the past week had nothing to do with appearance of Scarr with Galento as his partner Tuesday. Galento, however, is a mighty handy wrestler and is considered by many a superior to the heavier Kowalski.

A 90-minute time limit is on the two-falls-to-win main event which will be preceeded by a pair of one-fall matches starting the show at 8:15 o'clock.

Swaps Pulls Out; Bobby Brocato Cops Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 25 —(AP)— The feared Swaps elected to stay out of the race today and Bobby Brocato, the betting favorite, took advantage of the occasion to score a run-off victory in the $135,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Running before 62,500 fans, the largest handicap day crowd since the epic Noor - Citation duel in 1950, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato made it practically a wire to wire triumph and finished some six lengths in front of Turk's Delight. Honeys Alibi was third.

The time for the mile and one quarter was 2:04 3-5 over a track tabbed slow.

The payoff across the board was $6.70, $3.70 and $2.90 for the winner; $3.90 and $3 for Turk's Delight, and $4 for the W-L ranch's Honeys Alibi.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, racing for the second time in a week in an $100.000 classic—the Widener in Florida last Saturday —trailed all the way, came up to finish a disappointing seventh.

Swaps was scratched from the lineup in midafternoon because of a combination of the off going and the fact that he is not at peak racing form.

Ten days ago, in his first start since the losing Nashua race in August, he easily whipped Bobby Brocato at a mile and one sixteenth.

The absence of the pride of California, who would have been the big betting favorite, robbed the handicap of much of its excitement.

Second prize was $20,000, with $10.000 and $5,000 going to the next two finishers.

Pettit Marks Up 37, Leads Knicks To 99-89 Victory

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks, driving for the third and last playoff spot in the western division of the National Basketball Association, defeated the New York Knickerbockers 99-89 in a nationally televised game this afternoon.

Jump shots and driving layups by Bob Pettit, who scored 37 points and long set shots by Jack McMahon, who got 22 points, proved too much of a handicap for the Knicks to overcome.

After being behind all of the first quarter, the Hawks tied it up at 5:15 of the second on a brace of foul shots by Chuck Share. The Knicks regained the lead on a hook shot by Ray Felix, but St. Louis took it back immediately on two more foul shots by Jack Coleman.

Gulfstream Park Boosts Handicap Pot To $100,000

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP) — The Gulfstream Park Handicap, to be decided at a mile and a quarter on March 17, has been increased from $50,000 to $100,000, President James Donn of Gulfstream Park announced.

This now gives Florida four $100,000 races each winter — the Widener and Flamingo at Hialeah and the Gulfstream Park Handicap and Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

An earlier announcement said value of the Gulfstream Park Handicap would be doubled if Nashua and Swaps, both nominated, appeared in the race.

"We are naturally delighted that both Nashua and Swaps were named for the Gulfstream Park Handicap," Donn said, "But in the ranks are many other fine horses who deserve consideration, such as Jet Action, Wise Margin, Find, Smoke Screen, Mister Black, Illusionist and others. Such a field is worth the increased purse."

If Nashua, who won the Widener last Saturday, goes in the Gulfstream Park and wins it, he will become the Midas of the racing world, passing Citation's money-winning record of $1,085,760. Nashua now has won $1,038,015.

If Nashua and Swaps both run, it will mark their third meeting. Swaps whipped Nashua in the Kentucky Derby and the latter came back to win their famous match race at Washington Park.

Horace Wade, Gulfstream race secretary, said he had been advised definitely that Nashua will run in the March 17 handicap whether Swaps enters or not.

The Gulfstream Park Handicap was first run for a $20,000 purse in 1946. Among its winners have been Do-Reigh-Mi, Armed, Coaltown, Crafty, Admira, Wise Margin and Mister Black.

Tribe Baseball Hopefulls Get Squad Game Monday

Coach John Luffey of Northeast Louisiana State College announced last night that 1956 Indian baseball team will have an intra-squad game tomorrow. The Tribe has been holding workouts for the past two weeks in preparation for the tough schedule ahead. Workouts are scheduled for one o'clock daily with the Redskins beginning their family tussle tomorrow at 1:30.

Visitors at this Monday affair will see the 32 Northeasters from which Coach Luffey will select his version of diamond dynamite.

Out before the onlookers will be such area talent as Bobby Robinson from Downsville who is trying for an outfielder slot. Robinson is a freshman making his first new attempt at the Redskin organization. Other fine looking new comers gunning for positions are: James Mock, Winnsboro, outfielder -pitcher; Ike McMullins, Ouachita, catcher; Bonner Wiggers, Fort Necessity, pitcher; anl Oscar Head, Eros, shortstop.

There will be five Indians back from last year's regular lineup: "Big Bo" Laird, All-G.S.C. pitcher; Tommy Leos, All-G.S.C. outfielder who will probably see duty on the mound this season; Donald Steward, outfielder; Jackie Neal, outfielder; Harold Moore, and Harold Davis, third basemen. Other squadmen back from last year will be Dick Campbell, pitcher; Guy DuPriest, outfielder who may help fill the hole left in the pitching staff by Joe Jordan who married.

March 13 will be the opening date for the frightening schedule when the Tribe takes on Millsaps College of Jackson, Miss., here. The 18-game slate includes 12 conference games. The first league struggle takes place here April 6 against Southwestern.

Luffey called his schedule "mighty tough" and a glance at the Indian slate points why he would make such an observation. On the docket are two games with Loyola University of New Orleans. The Loyola troopers have already been chosen to represent the United States in a South American tournament this year. The boys from the Crecenst City will also go to the Dixie Classic in North Carolina. Only the top teams in the nation get such invitations. Adrian College of Adrian, Mich., will also send their diamond stars to invade Northeast.

Coach Luffey stated that he had to select personnel for an entirely new infield with the exception of third base. Moore hopes to retain his grip on that area.

Early Wynn On Roll 7th Time As Indian

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25 (AP)—Early Wynn signed his eighth Cleveland Indians contract today.

The 36-year-old righthander has won 129 games for the Indians in the seven seasons since he was traded by Washington. He was a 20-game winner in 1951, 1952 and 1954 but finished with 17-11 last year.

Needles Rallies From 12th Place To Win Flamingo

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—In a blazing finish, Florida - born Needles shot up from 12th place to win the $148,800 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah today and emerge as a solid prospect for the Kentucky Derby and the other "Triple Crown" events for 3-year-old thoroughbreds.

The 5-pound weight advantage awarded Florida-bred colts apparently helped Needles as he went to the outside in the stretch and rocketed past the leaders to defeat Golf Ace by 2½ lengths. Another 2 lengths back in third was Fabius.

Nail, the 1955 champion juvenile, took the lead on the first turn and held it in a duel with Busher's idol until the pack turned out of he back stretch. Both of them faded in the run for the wire and Nail wound up a badly-beaten ninth.

Needles rewarded his backers with a $7.20 win payoff. Golf Ace returned $11.60 to place and Fabius $3.90 to show.

OUTDOORS

By DION HENDERSON
The Associated Press

Prospecting wild fur is one outdoor hobby where you don't have to go out for your fun and you lose it.

But not much.

Where is a substantial reason why full time professional trapping is not a more crowded occupation.

However, part-time trappers are getting more concern all the time and not entirely the schoolboy variety. Conservation officials favor the wildlife harvest off a limited piece of land just like farm experts figure corn and wheat, and many a farmer, fisherman and hunter has discovered that a creek or bay has been going to waste right under his nose.

There's been some additional encouragement, lately, from two directions. First, there are indications that the wild pelt is returning to favor in the fur salons, at least to a limited extent. And the advance of civilization against the local frontiers in many states has driven off important predators and made it possible for smaller furbearers to flourish again in areas where but lately they were scarce.

This is notably true of beaver, which have come back so strongly in a number of midwestern and northern states since the wolves and other husky enemies began to fade that in some places they're an outright nuisance. Wisconsin, for instance, puts out detailed maps for trappers, pinpointing beavers concentrations whish have raised old ned with favorite trout streams.

In Ontario, the wild martens and their fisher cousins which caused much concern a few years ago produced a combined harvest of more than 6,500 skins last year, the best since the mid 1920s. And prices are up 30 per cent, to more than $8.00 for martens.

Trapping in Ontario, of course, is big business, a multi-million dollar operation. It reaches that scale in the U.S. in one operation controlled by the U.S. government — the fur seal harvest. The managed harvest of fur seals from the Pribilof Islands by the interior department produced 24,746 sealskins which sold for well over two million dollars at the annual St. Louis sale last year.

However, it's the hobby trapping that produces most of the U.S. wild fur, and when trappers pay attention to local situations it can reach quite a respectable figure. Michigan, for instance, figured the wild fur harvest last year worth well over a million dollars, with muskrat and mink—regular inhabitants of most any pothole or marsh—providing more than half the income.

For several years, the hobbyist trapper found that wild fur prices had declined so far that it didn't pay to skin a muskrat for the price the pelt brought. A beaver skin, once worth as much as $75, declined to $5. Wild mink to $10 or $12.

However, a recent sale of wild pelts at Denver showed an upturn to encourage hobbyist trappers. Wyoming beavers brought a top of $22.50 and an average of $10.15; Idaho beavers brought $25. Utah beaver pelts brought up to $21 at the same auction.

Dean Coleman of the Colorado Game and Fish Commission reported that last fall's muskrat prices were up about 10 cents on the average.

That brought them only to 61 cents, though, so the hobby trapper still can practically retain amateur standing.

So I can't manage money, eh?

Betty: Well look at this, smarty. Do you know what that is? It's a dividend check. I bought some shares of stock.

Fred: You bought what? Didn't I tell you never to touch our savings except in emergencies?

Betty: I didn't take a penny from our savings account. This is my own money that I saved from the household budget because I was smart. And I was smart to buy this stock, mister.

Fred: Where did you buy it?

Betty: I just asked Louise. She bought some stock and she gave me the name of a broker who's with a Member of the New York Stock Exchange and he was wonderfully nice and he told me plenty.

Fred: I'll bet he did. Such as what?

Betty: Such as we should invest for income—not to speculate. We talked about a lot of companies and their prospects for growing and about different kinds of securities. He said I should talk to you but I wanted to surprise you. So I bought this company's stock and I'm glad.

Fred: Glad, eh? Suppose the price goes down.

Betty: He told me it might. He said you always take a risk when you own any property and maybe now's not the time to buy some stocks. Then he said over seven million Americans own stock and I thought it was time we did.

Fred: Listen, my little tycoon. You've got dividends now but next year you might not get a cent.

Betty: He told me that, too. But I have news for you. My broker got figures that showed my company has paid dividends for 30 years. And the last six months they sold more goods than ever. And here's my first dividend check, endorsed to you.

Fred: Darling! I won't take it. It's yours. Put it in the bank . . . you're wonderful.

Majors Ready To Hit Full Stride In Training Camps

Yankees, Dodgers Tagged Favorites To Take Pennants

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25—UP—The 16 major league teams—spread out from Florida's Gulfstream to Arizona's Painted Desert — were making final preparations Saturday for the official launching of the 1956 spring training program.

The target date is March 1— next Thursday — when all unsigned players officially become "holdouts" — but under his year's new flexible training rule most of the teams are already underway. An even dozen clubs have set up quarters in Florida with the remaining four — the Cleveland Indians, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles — in Arizona.

This year the training campaign marks the debuts of three freshman managers: Bill Rigney of the Giants, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates. All the American League pilots are holdovers from the 1955 season.

Pre-season estimates already have installed the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers as National League favorites and the defending champion New York Yankees as the American League choices.

The experts are thinking in terms of another runaway for the Dodgers but are viewing the American League as a four-team race with the Boston Red Sox joining the Indians and Chicago White Sox as solid challengers. The experts also have promoted the Detroit Tigers into a pre-season role as AL "dark horses."

The National League stood relatively "pat" during the winter in the face of the Dodgers' 13 1-2 game triumph and first World Series victory. The Dodgers themselves swung the only major trade by a contender — acquiring third-baseman Ransom Jackson from the Cubs for pitcher Russ Meyer and third baseman Don Hoak. It is safe to assume, therefore, that several major deals may be made toward the close of training.

In sharp contrast, all four of the leading American League contenders made major deals.

The Yankees acquired southpaw speedballer Mickey McDermott, a pitcher of high promise, from the Washington Senators. The Indians made a "big move" in attempting to shore up their infield via the acquisition of shortstop Chico Carrasquel from the Chicago White Sox, who in turn, sought to increase their batting punch by the addition of Larry Doby.

And the Red Sox swung a massive quantity-for-quality deal with the Senators in which they obtained veteran first-baseman Mickey Vernon and Bob Porterfield, a solid starting pitcher.

Welch, Scharbert In Tag Bout With Scarr, Galento

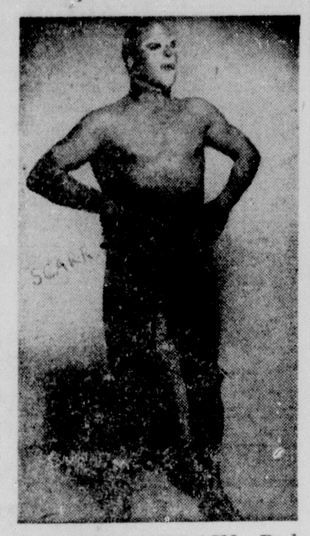

The lineup is changed, but a tag team scramble still heads the card as Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night when the villanious Red Scarr, hooded villain, returns with Mario Galento as his partner against a new relay combination of Jack Welch, Tulsa, Okla., and Bill Scharbert, St. Louis, Mo.

Welch has been a familiar name on tag cards here recently, but Jack is a new personality for Kallio's customers although he is a cousin of the Welch brothers, Lester and Herb, who are already familiar to Twin Cities wrestling fans.

Scharbert, a short but husky battler, may be remembered by some fans here although he is still considered relatively new despite one appearance on a Kallio card sometime ago. Scharbert, a 22-year-old, is a son of the once well-known grappler of the same name, and Billy Scharbert, the pop, taught the tricks of the trade to his son at an early age.

Scarr is the only returnee from last week's rousing brawl in which Les Welch and Buddy Fuller were tag winners over Scarr and Stan Kowalski in a combination wrestling-boxing relay show that wound up with Scarr and his partner battling among themselves although they later patched their differences.

Promoter Kallio last night said the Scarr-Kowalski feud the past week had nothing to do with appearance of Scarr with Galento as his partner Tuesday. Galento, however, is a mighty handy wrestler and is considered by many a superior to the heavier Kowalski.

A 90-minute time limit is on the two-falls-to-win main event which will be preceeded by a pair of one-fall matches starting the show at 8:15 o'clock.

Swaps Pulls Out; Bobby Brocato Cops Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 25 —(AP)— The feared Swaps elected to stay out of the race today and Bobby Brocato, the betting favorite, took advantage of the occasion to score a run-off victory in the $135,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Running before 62,500 fans, the largest handicap day crowd since the epic Noor - Citation duel in 1950, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato made it practically a wire to wire triumph and finished some six lengths in front of Turk's Delight. Honeys Alibi was third.

The time for the mile and one quarter was 2:04 3-5 over a track tabbed slow.

The payoff across the board was $6.70, $3.70 and $2.90 for the winner; $3.90 and $3 for Turk's Delight, and $4 for the W-L ranch's Honeys Alibi.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, racing for the second time in a week in an $100,000 classic—the Widener in Florida last Saturday—trailed all the way, came up to finish a disappointing seventh.

Swaps was scratched from the lineup in midafternoon because of a combination of the off going and the fact that he is not at peak racing form.

Ten days ago, in his first start since the losing Nashua race in August, he easily whipped Bobby Brocato at a mile and one sixteenth.

The absence of the pride of California, who would have been the big betting favorite, robbed the handicap of much of its excitement.

Second prize was $20,000, with $10,000 and $5,000 going to the next two finishers.

Pettit Marks Up 37, Leads Knicks To 99-89 Victory

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks, driving for the third and last playoff spot in the western division of the National Basketball Association, defeated the New York Knickerbockers 99-89 in a nationally televised game this afternoon.

Jump shots and driving layups by Bob Pettit, who scored 37 points and long set shots by Jack McMahon, who got 22 points, proved too much of a handicap for the Knicks to overcome.

After being behind all of the first quarter, the Hawks tied it up at 5:15 of the second on a brace of foul shots by Chuck Share. The Knicks regained the lead on a hook shot by Ray Felix, but St. Louis took it back immediately on two more foul shots by Jack Coleman.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP) — The Gulfstream Park Handicap, to be decided at a mile and a quarter on March 17, has been increased from $50,000 to $100,000, President James Donn of Gulfstream Park announced.

This now gives Florida four $100,000 races each winter — the Widener and Flamingo at Hialeah and the Gulfstream Park Handicap and Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

An earlier announcement said value of the Gulfstream Park Handicap would be doubled if Nashua and Swaps, both nominated, appeared in the race.

"We are naturally delighted that both Nashua and Swaps were named for the Gulfstream Park Handicap," Donn said, "But in the ranks are many other fine horses who deserve consideration, such as Jet Action, Wise Margin, Find, Smoke Screen, Mister Black, Illusionist and others. Such a field is worth the increased purse."

If Nashua, who won the Widener last Saturday, goes in the Gulfstream Park and wins it, he will become the Midas of the racing world, passing Citation's money-winning record of $1,085,760. Nashua now has won $1,038,015.

If Nashua and Swaps both run, it will mark their third meeting. Swaps whipped Nashua in the Kentucky Derby and the latter came back to win their famous match race at Washington Park.

Horace Wade, Gulfstream race secretary, said he had been advised definitely that Nashua will run in the March 17 handicap whether Swaps enters or not.

The Gulfstream Park Handicap was first run for a $20,000 purse in 1946. Among its winners have been Do-Reigh-Mi, Armed, Coaltown, Crafty, Admira, Wise Margin and Mister Black.

Tribe Baseball Hopefulls Get Squad Game Monday

Coach John Luffey of Northeast Louisiana State College announced last night that 1956 Indian baseball team will have an intra-squad game tomorrow. The Tribe has been holding workouts for the past two weeks in preparation for the tough schedule ahead. Workouts are scheduled for one o'clock daily with the Redskins beginning their family tussle tomorrow at 1:30.

Visitors at this Monday affair will see the 32 Northeasters from which Coach Luffey will select his version of diamond dynamite.

Out before the onlookers will be such area talent as Bobby Robinson from Downsville who is trying for an outfielder slot. Robinson is a freshman making his first new attempt at the Redskin organization. Other fine looking new comers gunning for positions are: James Mock, Winnsboro, outfielder -pitcher; Ike McMullins, Ouachita, catcher; Bonner Wiggers, Fort Necessity, pitcher; anl Oscar Head, Eros, shortstop.

There will be five Indians back from last year's regular lineup: "Big Bo" Laird, All-G.S.C. pitcher; Tommy Leos, All-G.S.C. outfielder who will probably see duty on the mound this season; Donald Steward, outfielder; Jackie Neal, outfielder; Harold Moore, and Harold Davis, third basemen. Other squadmen back from last year will be Dick Campbell, pitcher; Guy DuPriest, outfielder who may help fill the hole left in the pitching staff by Joe Jordan who married.

March 13 will be the opening date for the frightening schedule when the Tribe takes on Millsaps College of Jackson, Miss., here. The 18-game slate includes 12 conference games. The first league struggle takes place here April 6 against Southwestern.

Luffey called his schedule "mighty tough" and a glance at the Indian slate points why he would make such an observation. On the docket are two games with Loyola University of New Orleans. The Loyola troopers have already been chosen to represent the United States in a South American tournament this year. The boys from the Crecesnt City will also go to the Dixie Classic in North Carolina. Only the top teams in the nation get such invitations. Adrian College of Adrian, Mich., will also send their diamond stars to invade Northeast.

Coach Luffey stated that he had to select personnel for an entirely new infield with the exception of third base. Moore hopes to retain his grip on that area.

Early Wynn On Roll 7th Time As Indian

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25 (AP)—Early Wynn signed his eighth Cleveland Indians contract today.

The 36-year-old righthander has won 129 games for the Indians in the seven seasons since he was traded by Washington. He was a 20-game winner in 1951, 1952 and 1954 but finished with 17-11 last year.

FRANKFORT, Ky. —(UP)— Fifteen Kentucky legislators have submitted a bill in the general assembly to exempt one dog in each household in the state from the state dog license law.

Needles Rallies From 12th Place To Win Flamingo

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—In a blazing finish, Florida - born Needles shot up from 12th place to win the $148,800 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah today and emerge as a solid prospect for the Kentucky Derby and the other "Triple Crown" events for 3-year-old thoroughbreds.

The 5-pound weight advantage awarded Florida-bred colts apparently helped Needles as he went to the outside in the stretch and rocketed past the leaders to defeat Golf Ace by 2½ lengths. Another 2 lengths back in third was Fabius.

Nail, the 1955 champion juvenile, took the lead on the first turn and held it in a duel with Busher's Idol until the pack turned out of he back stretch. Both of them faded in the run for the wire and Nail wound up a badly-beaten ninth.

Needles rewarded his backers with a $7.20 win payoff. Golf Ace returned $11.60 to place and Fabius $3.90 to show.

Trapping wild fur is one outdoor hobby where you don't have to pay out for your fun afield, you take in.

But not much.

Which is a substantial reason why full-time professional trapping is not a more crowded occupation.

However, part-time trappers are getting more numerous all the time and not entirely the schoolboy vs. rabbit kind. Conservation officials figure the wildlife harvest off a managed piece of land just like farm experts figure corn and wheat, and many a farmer, fisherman and hunter has discovered that a cash crop has been going to waste right under his nose.

your conscience, and give accordingly."

A procedure has been worked out for making contributions in the drive this afternoon, Mrs. Mickel said, and explained, "Volunteers will leave fact sheets about the heart at every door and give all contributors a "thank you" receipt. It is not necessary to advise the volunteer how much you are giving unless a signed receipt for income tax deduction purposes. In that case, the volunteer will note the amount and sign the "thank you" receipt. Contributors are to enclose their donations in a brown manila envelope provided by the volunteers."

Announcing the chairmen of various city and parish districts, Mrs. Mickel expressed gratitude "of the entire Heart Fund organization for those who have been and are working so hard to make this a most successful drive." Nine of the districts are in Monroe and three are located in West Monroe, Mrs. Mickel said.

The district chairmen are:

WESTINGHOUSE TALKS GO ON

Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan met first with management representatives and then with officials of the striking AFL-CIO electrical workers. There were no indications that the talks which started here earlier this week had brought the two parties near agreement.

DR. ELMER HESS

A. M. A. President To Speak Here Thursday Night

Members of the Ouachita Parish and Fifth District Medical Societies will hear Dr. Elmer Hess, 109th president of the American Medical Association, at a dinner party Thursday night at 7:30 at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Dr. Hess, who is from Erie, Penn. had held many high posts in both medical and civic societies. He served as president of the Erie County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, the Pan American Medical Association, Section on Urology, the American Urological Association, the Boys' Club of Erie, the Rotary Club of Erie, and the Hess Urological Foundation. He was vice president of the Pan American Medical Association in 1952-53.

In American Medical Association work, Dr. Hess was a member of the House of Delegates for over eight years, member of the Council on Medical Service since 1947 and its chairman from 1952 to 1954, when he was named president - elect of the A.M.A.

During the Korean conflict in 1953 Dr. Hess, who is a World War I veteran, made a 28 day tour of Army medical installations in the Far East as civilian observer and consultant.

Dr. Hess places much emphasis on the spiritual side of medical practice. "A physician who walks into a sick room is not alone," he states, "he can only minister to the ailing person with the material tools of scientific medicine —his faith in a Higher Power does the rest."

All doctors and their wives are invited to attend the dinner party.

JOHNSON IN JAPAN

Sam Wilder
Now Sells Fords
For McCain-Richards

Sam E. Wilder has joined the sales force of McCain-Richards, according to J. H. "Slim" Scogin, Vice President and General Sales manager. Wilder, who is one of this area's best known and most highly respected automobile men, comes to McCain-Richards with a long impressive sales record in both cars and trucks, after having spent 28 years in the business. Twenty-seven of those years were with Lee-Rogers, where he served three years as sales manager. In 1929, as a member of the sales force of Lee-Rogers, Wilder qualified for the 100-Car Club and maintained membership in that Club every year thereafter.

In commenting on his new affiliation, he said, "I'm extremely happy to be associated with the fine organization of McCain-Richards, selling Fords. I want to invite my frineds to call me and give me the opportunity to discuss their automobile and truck needs with them."

Wilder, who has been a resident of Monroe for 38 years, is a member of the First Presbyterian Church and is active in Masonic work. He is a member of El Karubbah Temple and the local Shrine Club.—Adv.

your conscience, and give accordingly."

A procedure has been worked out for making contributions in the drive this afternoon, Mrs. Mickel said, and explained, "Volunteers will leave fact sheets about the heart at every door and give all contributors a "thank you" receipt. It is not necessary to advise the volunteer how much you are giving unless a signed receipt for income tax deduction purposes. In that case, the volunteer will note the amount and sign the "thank you" receipt. Contributors are to enclose their donations in a brown manila envelope provided by the volunteers."

Announcing the chairmen of various city and parish districts, Mrs. Mickel expressed gratitude "of the entire Heart Fund organization for those who have been and are working so hard to make this a most successful drive." Nine of the districts are in Monroe and three are located in West Monroe, Mrs. Mickel said.

WESTINGHOUSE TALKS GO ON

Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan met first with management representatives and then with officials of the striking AFL-CIO electrical workers. There were no indications that the talks which started here earlier this week had brought the two parties near agreement.

DR. ELMER HESS

A. M. A. President To Speak Here Thursday Night

Members of the Ouachita Parish and Fifth District Medical Societies will hear Dr. Elmer Hess, 109th president of the American Medical Association, at a dinner party Thursday night at 7:30 at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Dr. Hess, who is from Erie, Penn. had held many high posts in both medical and civic societies. He served as president of the Erie County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, the Pan American Medical Association, Section on Urology, the American Urological Association, the Boys' Club of Erie, the Rotary Club of Erie, and the Hess Urological Foundation. He was vice president of the Pan American Medical Association in 1952-53.

In American Medical Association work, Dr. Hess was a member of the House of Delegates for over eight years, member of the Council on Medical Service since 1947 and its chairman from 1952 to 1954, when he was named president - elect of the A.M.A.

During the Korean conflict in 1953 Dr. Hess, who is a World War I veteran, made a 28 day tour of Army medical installations in the Far East as civilian observer and consultant.

Dr. Hess places much emphasis on the spiritual side of medical practice. "A physician who walks into a sick room is not alone," he states, "he can only minister to the ailing person with the material tools of scientific medicine —his faith in a Higher Power does the rest."

All doctors and their wives are invited to attend the dinner party.

JOHNSON IN JAPAN

Sam Wilder
Now Sells Fords
For McCain-Richards

Sam E. Wilder has joined the sales force of McCain-Richards, according to J. H. "Slim" Scogin, Vice President and General Sales manager. Wilder, who is one of this area's best known and most highly respected automobile men, comes to McCain-Richards with a long impressive sales record in both cars and trucks, after having spent 28 years in the business. Twenty-seven of those years were with Lee-Rogers, where he served three years as sales manager. In 1929, as a member of the sales force of Lee-Rogers, Wilder qualified for the 100-Car Club and maintained membership in that Club every year thereafter.

In commenting on his new affiliation, he said, "I'm extremely happy to be associated with the fine organization of McCain-Richards, selling Fords. I want to invite my frineds to call me and give me the opportunity to discuss their automobile and truck needs with them."

Wilder, who has been a resident of Monroe for 38 years, is a member of the First Presbyterian Church and is active in Masonic work. He is a member of El Karubbah Temple and the local Shrine Club.—Adv.

ALEXANDER

NO DOUBT about it, here's one of the finer homes on Monroe's Northside with a host of exciting features among its 2100 sq. feet of living area: 2 bedrooms (one's 17'x17' with 3 closets); a stunning 16'x17' paneled den with cork tile floors; the 18'x22' living room is carpeted wall-to-wall as is the 12'x12' dining area; has 2 tile baths; central heating and it's air conditioned; the kitchen has an abundance of cabinets as well as a separate breakfast room; double garage covered patio in rear and it's on a 200' tree covered lot. It's vacant and we'd gladly show today.

ROSELAWN

IF YOU have ever longed for a 4 bedroom home with 3½ baths (and even an Otis elevator), here's good value in an excellent Northside location! Downstairs it has a spacious living room, dining room, kitchen, butler's pantry and a half bath. Upstairs are four bedrooms and 3 baths. Here's wonderful living that we'll gladly show today!

NORTH NINTH

LOOKING for a new brick with 3 bedrooms and a tile bath on the Northside! Here's a "Dandy" with the following features; 1245 sq. feet of living area; uniquely arranged kitchen; all bedrooms are roomy; central heating, carport and a 75x150' lot. Wanta' look? We've both an FHA and a G. I. loan available!

ALABAMA

LOOK what $6150 buys. Two bedrooms; nice size 10x17 kitchen with washer plumbing and natural woodwork cabinets, pretty oak floors; and floor furnace! $750 buys owner's equity with monthly notes of only $44.54 It's vacant.

DICK TAYLOR

IT'S IN wonderful condition, it's roomy (960 sq. feet!) and it's reasonably priced ($7500). $900 down on FHA buys the following: nice size living room; spacious 11x17 kitchen with washer plumbing, roomy cabinet space; oak floors, attic fan, and fenced back yard! We'll gladly show today.

GRANT

Influence-Peddling On Way Out, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 —UP — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) predicted Saturday the impending Senate investigation of lobbying will result in a law that "will put the influence peddler in a straitjacket."

At the same time, he said, the law will fully protect each citizen's constitutional "right of petition."

Johnson made his prophesy in a discussion of the lobbying inquiry to be started soon by a select eight-man bi-partisan Senate committee created earlier this week. The committee was set up as an outgrowth of an oil lobbyist's $2,500 election campaign contribution which Sen. Francis Case (R-S. D.) rejected.

Johnson said the investigation will not be confined to attempts to influence legislative action. He pointed out that the authorizing resolution applies to the executive departments of the government.

"I would think that everybody in the executive departments would want to be ready to fully disclose or explain any improper influences they may have any information on," Johnston told newsmen.

Speaking for the Senate's Democratic leadership, he urged anyone anywhere who has such information to come forward with it.

"I predict that we'll come out of this whole thing with an up-to-the date lobbying act, a comprehensive law which will protect a citizen's right of petition and, at the same time, put the influence-peddler in a straitjacket," he said.

But he cautioned that a modernized lobbying act will become a reality only after hearings by the new committee and a subsequent study by the Government Operations committee which is the regular Senate committee with jurisdiction. There is a real problem, he said, in determining "where free speech ends and lobbying begins."

Johnson said the committee will hold an organization meeting Tuesday. He declined to speculate on who will be the chairman but it is expected to be Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.).

Johnson's statement came just 24 hours after he disclosed that Senate leaders in both parties are trying to draft a new elections law in time for this year's elections.

Gas Official To Retire March 1

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb 25 —The Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. announced today that A. H. Weyland, chairman of the board of directors, will retire March 1.

President J. C. Hamilton said Weyland will serve in an advisory capacity after his retirement.

Hamilton said Weyland's successor had not been chosen.

Murder Trial Set Next Week

Abortive Revolt In Peru Fizzles

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 25—UP — A nine-day old army rebellion against the government fizzled out Saturday in the jungle fastnesses of the Amazon River.

Gen. Marcial Merino Pereira, commander of the Forest Division, announced in a choking voice at rebel headquarters in the river port of Iquitos that he had ended his revolt to avoid shedding civilian blood.

A United Press correspondent in the beleaguered city 1,200 miles northeast of Lima on the Amazon sent out the first radio-telegraph announcement from Iquitos that Merino had quit.

The general, who had rebelled Feb. 16 with his force in the jungle region, broadcast his surrender over the rebel radio in the city. The broadcast was picked up at Bogota, Columbia. Persons who know Merino said there was no doubt it was his voice.

The general said he would "separate myself forever from the ranks of the army."

In his broadcast, Merino said the government was massing "powerful" forces around his redoubt. In view of the forces arrayed against him and the lack of popular support he said he felt it proper to stop the rebellion before heavy fighting broke out.

Hebert Assails High Salaries Of Retired 'Brass'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) claimed today the taxpayers are helping pay "fabulous" salaries to some retired generals and admirals who don't do anything.

Hebert, chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee which is investigating charges that aircraft manufacturers have made excessive profits on military plane contracts, demanded the salaries be "brought into the open."

The subcommittee brought out that six former high-ranking officers were employed by Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. last year. The company, which also employed three ex-lieutenant colonels, has plants at Hagerstown, Md., St. Augistine, Fla., and on Long Island in N.Y. It makes assault transports, airframes for B.-52's, jet engines and guided missiles.

Hebert said the generals' salaries were charged to Fairchild's "overhead" which in turn was spread out through various government contracts. But he pretested that he could find nothing specific the ex-officers did on some contracts.

Fairchild vice president Arthur F. Flood said the men served in an advisory capacity. But he agreed that it was difficult in some cases to detail exactly what the generals did under various contracts. He said, however, that their technical experience was valuable to the firm.

Hebert protested that "big military men with industry at fabulous salaries over and above" their government military retirement pay was causing the public to "raise its eyebrows at some practices."

"I am not saying whether it's right or wrong," he said. "But it should be brought out into the open."

Hebert said Welsh received $23,500 last year as an Air Force expert on training and Brig. Gen. William Walsh was paid $13,500 as an expert on "export matters." He accused Flood of using "pretty phrases" to justify employment of the officers.

New Roads Holds Ferry Inaugural

NEW ROADS, La., Feb. 25—UP —A new state - operated free ferry pulled from shore near here today in inaugural service between Pointe Coupee and West Feliciana parishes.

State Rep. Tom Jewell of Pointe Coupee said the ferry will be operated by the state highway department and will haul both vehicles and passengers.

Herbert Frederick of St. Tammany parish, owner of a toll ferry in the same area, tried to legally block the opening of the new free ferry.

3 And PW Clubs Attend Spring District Meeting

The Ruston club of Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was hostess to the spring district meeting on Sunday. Of the seven clubs comprising District 3, six clubs were represented.

A coffee hour and registration took place in the Home Economics Cottage of the Ruston High School, followed by the business session with Mrs. Eloise Barlow of Natchitoches, district director, presiding.

Reports from the clubs reflected a variety of activities and projects were being carried on with a high degree of success. Mrs. Mary Gene Lea, first vice president of the Monroe club gave a resume of the plans for the Little Business Clinic to be conducted by the Federation and the department of industry of Baton Rouge. She urged all who are interested in starting small business, developing a hobby into a commercial phase to plan now to exhibit their wares at the clinic to be held March 10 at the Frances Hotel.

Following the business session an informative and entertaining program, featuring the challenging subject "A Better Business Woman for a Changing World" was presented, with four clubs participating. Shreveport club offered a clever skit portraying "What B& PW Clubs can do for Women." Minden then graphically highlighted the importance of Improved Health" for the business women.

Mrs. Marguerite Meek of Monroe who was elected district director for the ensuing year, gave an excellent and comprehensive address on "A Woman's Place in the Business World."

Mrs. Meek pointed out the gains women had achieved in the business world and listed the fields of opportunities that remain to be conquered.

She mentioned the power of influence embodied in an organization composed of 165,000 women whose objectives are to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote the interest of business and professional women and to bring about a spirit of cooperation among the business and professional women of the United States and to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities. "Self Improvement in Dress," the final subject offered by Bastrop club suggested the importance of clothes and personal appearance to the employed woman.

A luncheon followed the program session with Miss Laudine Smith, first vice-president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club as guest speaker.

Supper Party Thursday Fetes Bridal Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerson were hosts at a supper party last Thursday evening, in their home on Roselawn, in honor of Mrs. Sheila Parrisiane, formerly of Maidstone, England, now of this city, and J. L. Stern, who are to be married next month.

The house was decorated with spring blossoms and the supper table, covered with a white cloth, was centered with a wedding bell filled with pink flowering quince and camellias. Pink candles burned in candelabra on each side of the bouquet.

Included with the honor guests were Mr. Stern's mother, Mrs. Ben Stern, his grandmother, Mrs. L.L. Leiber, Mrs. Hattie Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Baer, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Heninger, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schlossman, Mr. and Mrs. William Weinberg, Mrs. Richard Cohen, of Springfield, Ill. and Mr. Louis Stern.

Coffee Opens Residential Red Cross Drive

Planning the residential drive are Mrs. George Forman, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. A. S. Huffman, Mrs. Tom Davis and Mrs. Guy Gannaway.

Mrs. Forman stated: "This is not a glamourous task but a worthwhile one being undertaken by over 200 civic leaders, who will start ringing door bells Friday following the meeting, so when these volunteers call, please be a "good neighbor" by having your membership ready."

Mr. W. G. Haynes, Jr., chairman of fund campaign is most anxious that all workers be present for this meeting.

Clique Club Meets With Mrs. Mears

The Clique Club held its monthly meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Vernon Mears.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Carol Zachary formerly of Chicago. Mrs. Zachary, since the death of husband, has made her home with her brother and sister-in-law, the T. G. Stockwells, on Rilla Lane.

Mrs. Zachary showed a number of color slides of the Northwestern and western sections of the United States. There were beautiful scenes taken in the north woods of Michigan, of Lake Michigan and many shots of the Grand Canyon, the Colorado River and other places of interest in the west.

The guest prize was won by Mrs. Henry Hoffman. A guilt was also presented to Mrs. Zachary by the hostess as a token of appreciation.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members: Mesdames Vaughan Gardner, Jame Pittman, Thomas Zeagler, George Fortenberry, J. D. LaDarte, Henry Hoffman, Nick Herlevic, Francis Hays and two guests, Mrs. Zachary and Mrs. Crystal Anthony.

3 And PW Clubs Attend Spring District Meeting

The Ruston club of Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was hostess to the spring district meeting on Sunday. Of the seven clubs comprising District 3, six clubs were represented.

A coffee hour and registration took place in the Home Economics Cottage of the Ruston High School, followed by the business session with Mrs. Eloise Barlow of Natchitoches, district director, presiding.

Reports from the clubs reflected a variety of activities and projects were being carried on with a high degree of success. Mrs. Mary Gene Lea, first vice president of the Monroe club gave a resume of the plans for the Little Business Clinic to be conducted by the Federation and the department of industry of Baton Rouge. She urged all who are interested in starting small business, developing a hobby into a commercial phase to plan now to exhibit their wares at the clinic to be held March 10 at the Frances Hotel.

Following the business session an informative and entertaining program, featuring the challenging subject "A Better Business Woman for a Changing World" was presented, with four clubs participating. Shreveport club offered a clever skit portraying "What B& PW Clubs can do for Women." Minden then graphically highlighted the importance of Improved Health" for the business women.

Mrs. Marguerite Meek of Monroe who was elected district director for the ensuing year, gave an excellent and comprehensive address on "A Woman's Place in the Business World."

Mrs. Meek pointed out the gains women had achieved in the business world and listed the fields of opportunities that remain to be conquered.

MISS SHIRLEY RUTH PETERS' betrothal to Max Swaze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adam Swaze, of this city, is announced by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Peters, of Marion. A June wedding is planned.

The Clark Lees Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lee, of Forest, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Sunday with an open house in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Paul Harper, which is west of Forest.

Golden chrysanthemums tied with yellow ribbons were used in the living room. In the dining room, the table covered in an ecru linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of yellow jonquils. A tiered wedding cake, trimmed in golden roses, with the golden figures, 50 placed at the top, was at one end of the table and was served by Mrs. B. C. Watson. The punch service at the opposite end, was presided over by Mrs. Clyde B. Lee.

Mrs. Lee, dressed in navy silk with corsage of yellow jonquils, tied with golden ribbons, was assisted in greeting the 80 guests, by Mrs. Harper, and her other daughters, Mrs. H. E. Morrow and Mrs. Ted Jakubouski.

Present at this time were the six children of the Lee's. Mrs. Harper, Mrs. H. E. Morrow, of Shreveport, Clyde B. Lee of Newellton, Mrs. Ted Jakubouski of Los Angeles, Calif., Knile Lee of Waterproof and Lt. Com. C. A. Lee of Washington, D. C.

Girl Scout News

Have you promised your neighbor Scout to buy Gril Scout cookies beginning tomorrow? We know you look forward to buying them every year. Now's the time and until March 17. Cookie sales buy camp equipment, maintain and improve Pine Wood, our troop and day camp site. The sale gives the girls a chance to earn money for their troop treasuries, as the troop gets three cents for every box sold. Individually, an intermediate who sells 50 boxes and a Brownie who sells 30 gets a camping award - a day at camp on April 7 for Brownies, an overnight for intermediates in April or May.

On the Friday after the cookie sale ends, we usually have had a camp rally, at which pins are presented the girls who have earned them. At the rally, which will be held this year on March 2?, camp films will be shown, and the folders for summer camping, both day and established, will be ready for distribution.

At this time of year, troops of fourth grade Brownies start on Tenderfoot rank in order to be able to "fly-up" into intermediate Scouting. Troop 41, Mrs. Cyril Yancey and Mrs. P. R. Pierce, leaders, has been working on the flag requirements lately. At last week's meeting the girls went to the American Legion building, where the caretaker, Mr. Titus, showed them how to run the flag up on a halyard. Taking the flag down, the girls practiced folding it until they are sure they can do it correctly.

Another troop which is very busy on Tenderfoot rank is 39, made up of fourth - graders at Highland school, with Mrs. C. C. Stigall and Mrs. F. K. Fisher, leaders. At a recent meeting the troop practiced bedmaking, using the cot in the first aid room at school. Now, each girl is to make up her bed at home for a week. In the safety field, each girl made a sketch map of the route she travels to school. The group has been dramatizing the Girl Scout laws, has practiced fire-building, and planned to study about the flag and learn how to fold it at their next meeting. Mrs. Lonnie Smith is helping with the flag part. The girls are bringing pennies for the Juliette Low fund and planning to take part in the Girl Scout birthday program on March 11. Of course, they are selling cookies. We said they were busy; they are finding it fun, too.

Broiled chicken takes on good flavor when it is brushed with barbecue sauce during the broiling. Extra barbecue sauce may be heated and brought to the table with the chicken. Good with a big bowl of hot steamed rice and a green salad.

News From The Public Library

Among the new books added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week, there is a variety of matrial, although the quantity is not large. There is only one book of fiction. It is a delightful story called "Papa's wife" written by Thyra Ferre Bjorn. This is a novel based on many facts of the author's own life. The story begins in Lapland and shifts to the United States. It is a warm and human story and its leading character is a perfectly delightful person.

One of the most valuable sets of reference books which we own is "The interpretor's Bible." It is being published one volume at a time and when completed will consist of 12 volumes. At the present time we have ten. The latest one deals with the old Testament books of Ecclesiastes, Song of Songs, Isiah and Jeremiah. These books are wonderful commentaries on the Bible and should be most valuable to Bible students and Church school teachers.

Nursery school teachers will be interested in a new title called "The nursery school and child care center" by Clark E. Moustakas. This is a guide for parents and teachers.

A very interesting and attractive book is "Early American crafts and hobbies" by Raymond and Marquerite W. Yates. This is a wonderful book about the things people used to do in their spare time a hundred years before the invention of television. A very interesting feature of this book is that it gives directions as to how you can make many of these articles yourself. Eric Sloane is the author of two perfectly lovely new books. One is called "American barns and covered bridges" and the other is "Our vanishing landscape." The first one gives pictures and descriptions of many of the famous bridges of New England as well as old time barns. The second one discusses many of the interesting and attractive features which were once part of our landscape and are now disappearing. If you are interested in Americana be sure to see these books.

Two new children's books are among this week's additions. One for older children is called "The mystery of Mont Saint Michel" and the one for younger ones is "Millions and Millions and Millions" by Louis Slobodkin.

Your Ouachita Parish Public Library now has a collection of more than 43,000 books. If we do not have the material you need in our own collection, we will be glad to borrow it for you from the Louisiana State Library. If you are not a patron of the Library, do not delay but come at once and register.

Toast split English muffins and spread with tomato sauce. Now add bits of tuna, whole small sardines, minced canned clams or canned mushrooms. Sprinkle well with grated cheddar or Parmesan cheese and put under the broiler again briefly. Eat at once!

RECENT BRIDE — Mrs. Dan McAvoy was the former Miss Mary Lee Thames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Thames, of Oak Grove, before her marriage on February 19. Mr. McAvoy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McAvoy of Smackover, Ark.

Mrs. Jarrette Recounts Life Of Will Rogers

The following members and guests were present at the Baskin Woman's Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Janie Goforth, who was assisted by her daughter, Miss Kathlyn Goforth: Mrs G. M. Baskin, Mrs. A. M. Brand, Miss Hattie Brothers, Miss Jerrene Bishop, Mrs. Janie Goforth, Mrs. Mollie Wiggers, Miss Piro, a guest, Mrs. Estelle Pepper, Mrs. Lola Maude Eppinette, Mrs. Mary Belle Freilsen, Mrs. Lonez Shipman, Mrs. Annie Laurie Miller, Mrs. Ruby Miller, Mrs. Fannie Ada Lyles, Miss Lilliane Corley, Mrs. Louise Jarrette, Mrs. Mary Ellen LeFevre, Mrs. Lucille Black and Mrs. Ella Womble.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Lucille Black, called the meeting to order by asking the group to stand and give the pledge to the flag. Following this, Mrs. Baskin led the devotional.

Mrs. Jarrette then retold the life of Will Rogers, which every one thoroughly enjoyed.

A few matters of business were then disposed of, after which the club adjourned with all repeating the club collect.

A very interesting and attractive book is "Early American crafts and hobbies" by Raymond and Marquerite W. Yates. This is a wonderful book about the things people used to do in their spare time a hundred years before the invention of television. A very interesting feature of this book is that it gives directions as to how you can make many of these articles yourself. Eric Sloane is the author of two perfectly lovely new books. One is called "American barns and covered bridges" and the other is "Our vanishing landscape." The first one gives pictures and descriptions of many of the famous bridges of New England as well as old time barns. The second one discusses many of the interesting and attractive features which were once part of our landscape and are now disappearing. If you are interested in Americana be sure to see these books.

Two new children's books are among this week's additions. One for older children is called "The mystery of Mont Saint Michel" and the one for younger ones is "Millions and Millions and Millions" by Louis Slobodkin.

Your Ouachita Parish Public Library now has a collection of more than 43,000 books. If we do not have the material you need in our own collection, we will be glad to borrow it for you from the Louisiana State Library. If you are not a patron of the Library, do not delay but come at once and register.

Toast split English muffins and spread with tomato sauce. Now add bits of tuna, whole small sardines, minced canned clams or canned mushrooms. Sprinkle well with grated cheddar or Parmesan cheese and put under the broiler again briefly. Eat at once!

RECENT BRIDE — Mrs. Dan McAvoy was the former Miss Mary Lee Thames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Thames, of Oak Grove, before her marriage on February 19. Mr. McAvoy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McAvoy of Smackover, Ark.

Mrs. Jarrette Recounts Life Of Will Rogers

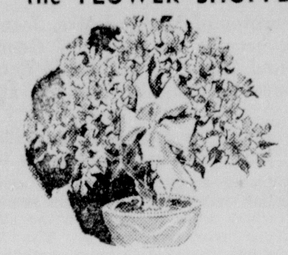

The following members and guests were present at the Baskin Woman's Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Janie Goforth, who was assisted by her daughter, Miss Kathlyn Goforth: Mrs G. M. Baskin, Mrs. A. M. Brand, Miss Hattie Brothers, Miss Jerrene Bishop, Mrs. Janie Goforth, Mrs. Mollie Wiggers, Miss Piro, a guest, Mrs. Estelle Pepper, Mrs. Lola Maude Eppinette, Mrs. Mary Belle Frellsen, Mrs. Lonez Shipman, Mrs. Annie Laurie Miller, Mrs. Ruby Miller, Mrs. Fannie Ada Lyles, Miss Lilliane Corley, Mrs. Louise Jarrette, Mrs. Mary Ellen LeFevre, Mrs. Lucille Black and Mrs. Ella Womble.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Lucille Black, called the meeting to order by asking the group to stand and give the pledge to the flag. Following this, Mrs. Baskin led the devotional.

Mrs. Jarrette then retold the life of Will Rogers, which every one thoroughly enjoyed.

A few matters of business were then disposed of, after which the club adjourned with all repeating the club collect.

Bacon-Varnado Wedding Solemnized In Bastrop

Miss Sylvia Varnado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edward Varnado of Bastrop, became the bride of George Donald Bacon Jr., son of Mr and Mrs. George Donald Bacon of Mer Rouge in an impressive candelight ceremony at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, February 19 at the First Baptist Church in Bastrop.

The Rev. Earl C. Whitsitt officiated. The altar was decorated with tall baskets of white stock and white chrysanthemums illuminated by a myriad of white cathedral tapers in wrought iron candelabras entwined with jade greenery.

Mrs. Earl C. Whitsitt presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Benaie Faye Berry, who sang "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Sammy Ingram and Martin Roger.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over candlelight satin with a sculptured bodice featuring a scalloped portrait neckline outlined in irredescent sequins which were repeated on the skirt and brief cap sleeves. The full skirt extended into a cathedral train. She wore long mitts of matching lace. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a jeweled headdress encrusted with pearls and irredescent sequins.

The bride carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, lillies of the valley and stephanotas in a cascade arrangement.

Miss Rita Varnado, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia Brister, Miss Merrille Parker and Miss Nelda Ruth Barnette, all of Bastrop and Miss Nina Duvall Corns of New Orleans.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore identical dresses of ceil blue lace and nylon tulle fashioned with strapless molded bodices and full skirts of tulle with overskirts of lace coming to a point in the back under which was fastened blue velvet bands in a deeper shade of blue ending in a bow. They wore matching blue velvet headdresses.

The maid of honor's bouquet was of red carnations in a heart arrangement with matching streamers. The bridesmaids carried heart shaped arrangements of pink carnations with streamers.

Jo Lynn White and Becky White, nieces of the bridegroom, wore replicas of the bridesmaids' dresses of white lace and tulle. They carried pink baskets of flowers.

Ushers and groomsmen were Max Broadnax, Martin Rodgers, Sammy Ingram and Scott Baker Buatt.

Mrs. Varnado, the bride's mother, chose for the occasion a rose brocaded satin with matching hat and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bacon, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in an orchid lace over matching taffeta encrusted with irredescent sequins.

Miss Norma Jean Weatherly played piano selections throughout the reception hours.

Tea girls were Miss Wayne Ard and Miss Suzanne Minyard, both of Bastrop and Miss Sarah Ewing of Ruston.

The bride's book was kept by Miss Lou Ann Weatherly.

Upon return they will make their home in Mer Rouge.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Joe L. Powell of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Weatherly of Springhill, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Calkins of Camden, Ark., Mrs. Clifton Flinn and daughter, Ann, of Monroe.

MRS. GEORGE DONALD BACON, JR.

Women Voters Plan Annual Business Meeting

The monthly board meeting of the League of Women Voters of Monroe was held in the home of the president, Mrs. R. M. Troy. The business session followed a buffet supper served by the hostess.

Plans for the coming year were discussed. The budget as submitted was accepted and will be presented to the general membership at the annual meeting on March 19th.

Suggestions for local projects were presented from the unit groups and the board voted to accept the two receiving the largest number of votes. They were: A Study of The Tax Structure of Ouachia Parish and (2) Zoning in the City of Monroe. These will also be submitted to general membership.

A discussion of the national program resulted in further recommendations from the Monroe League on the National Current Agenda. These will be presented at the annual meeting.

The annual meeting will be held on March 19th at the Frances Hotel at 7 p.m. This will be a dinner meeting. Officers for the coming year will be elected, and reports from the various chairmen will be given, a budget adopted, local current agenda adopted and plans for the finance drive will be formulated.

Beginning in April the board voted to set the first Thursday in every month as League Day. This means that there will be three unit group meetings — one in the morning, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. Each meeting will center around the same subject under the guidance of a qualified discussion leader.

Those present were: Mrs. N. Klam, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Raymond Boyd, Mrs. J. N. Riddle, Miss Jean Bonham Mrs. Sara Kennon, Mrs. Homer Chilton, Mrs. Elizabeth Manheim and Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale.

MISS BILLIE FINCHER

Miss Fincher Will Be Bride

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Billie Fincher to Lt. Owen Roy Phillips of Annapolis, Maryland, is announced by her mother Mrs. W. R. Ober of this city. She is the daughter of the late W. A. Fincher. Lt. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Phillips of Glenmora.

The wedding will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening, Saturday, March 31 at the Parkview Baptist Church.

A reception will follow in the church parlors.

Miss Fincher was graduated from Neville High School and Northwestern State College, where she was a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. She is presently employed as assistant home demonstration agent in LaSalle parish.

Lt. Phillips is a graduate of Glenmora High School and Northwestern. He is stationed in Annapolis, where the young couple will reside following their wedding.

Glaced canned pineapple rings in a mixture of butter and brown sugar to which a little soy sauce and grated fresh or ground ginger has been added. Serve with panfried pork chops.

Fresh pears that are pared, halved and cored can be cooked tender in simmering sugar syrup in ten to fifteen minutes. Make the syrup with a cup of water and about half a cup of sugar. After the pears are cooked and cooled, stir a little vanilla into the syrup for fine favor.

Lamb - liver, when it is fresh, is mild - flavored and tender. It may be pan fried.

PENNEY'S

Modern Penney's serving
Monroe for 33 years opens
THURSDAY, MARCH 1st
AT 328 DE SIARD STREET!
COMPLETELY MODERN,
TWICE AS BIG!

WHAT MAKES PENNEY'S TICK?

With a clock it's a pendulum. With a company, a policy. With Penney's it's the golden rule. Stop in at Penney's any day. Take any Penney-brand merchandise you see on our counters from a sheet to a shoe... These things you can be sure of: That you're getting first quality—without flaws or hidden defects! That our laboratory-testing assures you of reliable quality day in and day out in all Penney stores! That Penney merchandise is priced not to see how much the traffic will bear...but to see that no more than a fair profit is reflected in the price tag. That no hidden extras are included in the price—because Penney's has no charge accounts, delivery costs to take into account—everything is merchandise value alone! That if you buy on Lay-Away nothing extra will be added to the price.

That's the Penney way of doing business since the first Penney store in Kemmerer, Wyoming back in 1902. MISS BILLIE FINCHER

Miss Fincher Will Be Bride

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Billie Fincher to Lt. Owen Roy Phillips of Annapolis, Maryland, is announced by her mother Mrs. W. R. Ober of this city. She is the daughter of the late W. A. Fincher. Lt. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Phillips of Glenmora.

The wedding will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening, Saturday, March 31 at the Parkview Baptist Church.

A reception will follow in the church parlors.

Miss Fincher was graduated from Neville High School and Northwestern State College, where she was a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. She is presently employed as assistant home demonstration agent in La-Salle parish.

Lt. Phillips is a graduate of Glenmora High School and Northwestern. He is stationed in Annapolis, where the young couple will reside following their wedding.

Glaced canned pineapple rings in a mixture of butter and brown sugar to which a little soy sauce and grated fresh or ground ginger has been added. Serve with pan-fried pork chops.

Fresh pears that are pared, halved and cored can be cooked tender in simmering sugar syrup in ten to fifteen minutes. Make the syrup with a cup of water and about half a cup of sugar. After the pears are cooked and cooled, stir a little vanilla into the syrup for fine lavor.

Lamb - liver, when it is fresh, is mild - flavored and tender. It may be pan fried.

WHAT MAKES PENNEY'S TICK?

With a clock it's a pendulum. With a company, a policy. With Penney's it's the golden rule. Stop in at Penney's any day. Take any Penney-brand merchandise you see on our counters from a sheet to a shoe...

These things you can be sure of: That you're getting first quality—without flaws or hidden defects! That our laboratory-testing assures you of reliable quality day in and day out in all Penney stores! That Penney merchandise is priced not to see how much the traffic will bear...but to see that no more than a fair profit is reflected in the price tag.

That no hidden extras are included in the price—because Penney's has no charge accounts, delivery costs to take into account—everything is merchandise value alone! That if you buy on Lay-Away nothing extra will be added to the price.

Popular Couple Pledge Vows In Forest Church

FOREST — In a ceremony at 3 o'clock Saturday, February 11, in the Forest Baptist Church, Miss Ruby Dolores Hammons, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Hammons of Forest became the bride of Lt. Eldred E. Blackwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blackwell, also of Forrest.

The bride's father performed the double ring ceremony before a trellis covered in southern smilax and flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli. White tapers illuminated the setting.

Given in marriage by her uncle, T. L. Owen, the bride was attired in a gown of dresden white satin and chantilly lace. The sculptured bodice featured a torso bodice accented by a bateau neckline and long tight sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrist. The full skirt extended into a chapel length train. She wore a caplet of lace and seed pearls from which fell her fingertip veil of illusion. Her bouquet was of white carnations centered with a purple orchid.

Miss Betty Grigg of Doylie was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a rose taffeta waltz length gown with a matching bandeau and carried a bouquet of red and white.

Ushers were Robert Sanders and H. D. Bailey. The candles were lighted by Howard Hammons.

The bride's table was overlaid in white and featured the punch service and wedding cake and was decorated with white tapers.

Tea girls were Miss Margaret Hammons, Miss Jessie Hammons, Miss Cheryl Edmonson and Miss Karen Sanders.

For travelling the bride changed to a dusty rose suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Forest High School and attends Louisiana College in Pineville, from which she will graduate in May.

Lt. Blackwell graduated from Forest High School and Baylor University.

Among those from out-of-town attending the wedding were: Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Blackwell and daughter of Plain Dealing; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Owen of Alexandria, J. P. Owen of Dunach, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thompson of Winnfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hammons of Lake Providence, Rev. and Mrs. C. V. Martin of Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mulhearn, Mrs. Annie Brown, Mrs. E. E. Thomason, Mrs. W. H. Hicks and R. B. McKay of Alto, H. D. Bailey of Little Rock, Ark., Carolyn Edmonson of Shreveport, Joan Brumley, Barney Hart, Virginia Caliway, Rudolph B. Wyatt, Buddy Rusk, Carol Thomas, Clag Gladden, Bettie Gregg and W. C. Thompson, all of Louisiana College at Pineville.

'56 Officers Installed At Friday Session

WINNSBORO, Mrs. Fred Rollins, Northeast district director, and Mrs. Lillian Eubanks state vice-president, installed 1956 Franklin Parish Home Demonstration council officers in an impressive candelight ceremony in the extension auditorium here on January 27. Mrs. L. M. McIntyre, a past president of the council, assisted in the installation.

Present for the meeting and installation of officers were representatives of 21 clubs from thoughout the state. Lamar, Lone Cedar, Mixon and the Busy Bee clubs each had four members present.

Taking office were: Mrs. Roy McIntyre, president; Mrs. Rob Simon, vice-president; Mrs. Claude Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Sanders, reporter; Mrs. D. B. Fuller, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jim Carroll, citizenship chairman; Mrs. Henry Vickers, health chairman; Mrs. Joy Scott, song leader.

The incoming president, vice-president and outgoing president and the three installation officers were presented lovely corsages. Each of the remaining officers received a camellia.

Named as delegates to the Northeast district meeting in Columbia on Thursday, February 23, were Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Alice Teddlie, parish home demonstration agent.

Opening the session was a film "Remember Me," shown by John Murphy, Louisiana Forestry commission ranger. Mrs. D. B. Fuller presided and Mrs. Jim Carroll gave a devotional, inspiring council members to begin the New Year right.

Mrs. Brown McLemore and Mrs. George McManus led the pledge to the Bible and flag. In the absence of Mrs. Scott, Mrs. McLemore led the group in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Guests of the council were then introduced by Mrs. Teddlie.

Appointed as a committee to accompany Mrs. Teddlie in her visits to high schools concerning the home demonstration cuoncil scholarship award were Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Taylor.

The council voted to discard the operation of a concession stand at the annual fair, with each club pledging to earn funds individualy. A committee of five volunteers will meet with the board of directors of the Franklin Parish Fair association to make suggestions for increasing the educational value of the fair. They are Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Pauline Wiggers, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. L. A. Scott.

Following installation of officers, the incoming group assumed charge of the meeting. A discussion of the council's new year's goals and the observation of National Home Demonstration Week was conducted.

Named chairman of a proposed television show to be given during the national observation was Mrs. Asa Norwood. Co-workers will be Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Rob Simon and Mrs. Rheo Stewart.

Home demonstration week open house chairman will be Mrs. L. A. Scott, assisted by Mrs. McLemore, Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Wigger. Mrs. G. O. Miller will be in charge of national week publicity.

'56 Officers Installed At Friday Session

WINNSBORO, Mrs. Fred Rollins, Northeast district director, and Mrs. Lillian Eubanks state vice-president, installed 1956 Franklin Parish Home Demonstration council officers in an impressive candelight ceremony in the extension auditorium here on January 27. Mrs. L. M. McIntyre, a past president of the council, assisted in the installation.

Present for the meeting and installation of officers were representatives of 21 clubs from thoughout the state. Lamar, Lone Cedar, Mixon and the Busy Bee clubs each had four members present.

Taking office were: Mrs. Roy McIntyre, president; Mrs. Rob Simon, vice-president; Mrs. Claude Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Sanders, reporter; Mrs. D. B. Fuller, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jim Carroll, citizenship chairman; Mrs. Henry Vickers, health chairman; Mrs. Joy Scott, song leader.

The incoming president, vice-president and outgoing president and the three installation officers were presented lovely corsages. Each of the remaining officers received a camellia.

Named as delegates to the Northeast district meeting in Columbia on Thursday, February 23, were Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Alice Teddlie, parish home demonstration agent.

Opening the session was a film "Remember Me," shown by John Murphy, Louisiana Forestry commission ranger. Mrs. D. B. Fuller presided and Mrs. Jim Carroll gave a devotional, inspiring council members to begin the New Year right.

Mrs. Brown McLemore and Mrs. George McManus led the pledge to the Bible and flag. In the absence of Mrs. Scott, Mrs. McLemore led the group in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Guests of the council were then introduced by Mrs. Teddlie.

Appointed as a committee to accompany Mrs. Teddlie in her visits to high schools concerning the home demonstration cuoncil scholarship award were Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Taylor.

The council voted to discard the operation of a concession stand at the annual fair, with each club pledging to earn funds individualy. A committee of five volunteers will meet with the board of directors of the Franklin Parish Fair association to make suggestions for increasing the educational value of the fair. They are Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Pauline Wiggers, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. L. A. Scott.

Following installation of officers, the incoming group assumed charge of the meeting. A discussion of the council's new year's goals and the observation of National Home Demonstration Week was conducted.

Named chairman of a proposed television show to be given during the national observation was Mrs. Asa Norwood. Co-workers will be Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Rob Simon and Mrs. Rheo Stewart.

Home demonstration week open house chairman will be Mrs. L. A. Scott, assisted by Mrs. McLemore, Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Wigger. Mrs. G. O. Miller will be in charge of national week publicity.

MR. AND MRS. LAMAR HONEY

Honey-McGowen Vows Pledged

Miss Norma McGowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGowen of Mer Rouge, became the bride of Lamar Honey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Honey, Jr., of Bastrop, in a double ring ceremony performed Saturday by the Rev. A. A. Johnson at the Horseshow Baptist Church.

Tall standards of shell pink gladioli and greenery decorated the altar. The couple stood beneath an arch entwined with jade greenery.

Miss Nancy Eckles of Mer Rouge presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Emily Braddock who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride given in marriage by her father was wearing a gown of chantilly lace over white satin. The fitted bodice was attached to a three-tiered waltz-length skirt fashioned of scalloped lace. She wore matching lace mitts and carried a bouquet of white split carnations centered with a lavender orchid and a shower of white satin streamers attached to a white Bible. Her veil of illusion fell from a satin half hat which was adorned with sweetheart roses.

Serving as bridesmaid was Miss Shirley Thomas, cousin of the bride who wore a blue taffeta frock and carried a bouquet of pink split carnations with pale blue satin streamers.

J. L. Honey served his son as best man. The ushers were Jimmy McGowen, brother of the bride and O. D. Tyler, uncle of the bridegroom.

Mrs. J. C. McGowen chose for her daughter's wedding a black and white linen dress with matching accessories which was complemented by a corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and placed at one end was the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. At the opposite end was the punch service. Centering the table was a composition of pink carnations and chrysanthemums in a crescent shape.

Mrs. Jimmy McGowen presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. W. R. Ratcliff and Mrs. O. D. Tyler alternated at cutting and serving the cake.

For a wedding trip to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, points in Alabama and Florida. The bride changed to a grey wool suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Upon return the couple will make their home in Bastrop.

Ivy Guild Meets With Mrs. Renaud

The Ivy Guild held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. J. B. Renaud with Mrs. H. D. Massingill co-hostess.

The living room was beautifully decorated with narcissis, camellias, and flowering quince.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. G. L. Thompson who introduced Mr. Frank Spivey, guest speaker. Mr. Spivey gave an interesting talk on camellias, pointing out the way to select camellias when purchasing them, planting, fertilizing, spraying, pruning and grafting. Also he had different varieties of camellias which he showed us in bloom and they were very pretty.

After a lengthy discussion on camellias by all present was finished, Mrs. Ola Mae Passman gave the horticultural report which was enjoyed very much.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Ola Mae Passman, Mrs. R. A. Morrow, Jr., Mrs. W. A. Cornett, Mrs. T. L. Van Fossen, Mrs. H. D. Massingill, Mrs. F. C. Patterson, Mrs. Earl Vigg, Mrs. E. N. Craven, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mrs. G. L. Thompson, Mrs. H. T. Poulan and three guests, Mr. Frank Spivey, Mrs. James Brooks and Mrs. Joe Kilcoyne.

Urania Garden Club Plans For Entries In Show

Urania — Mrs. M. A. Tannehill and Mrs. Otto Kees were hostesses to members of the Sylvan Garden Club in Urania Wednesday afternoon, when they met in the Community Center for the February Meeting.

Several artistic arrangements of white narcissi, King Alfred jonquil and camellias were placed at vantage points.

The president, Mrs. R. L. Walsh, opened the meeting.

Plans were made to attend the 8th State Flower Show on March 3, to be held in Memorial Gymnasium in Ruston. The theme of the show is "Contemporary Louisiana."

The Sylvan Club's assignment in the show is "Church In The Wildwood" and the committee on arrangement is Mrs. W. C. Procter, Mrs. C. E. Tannehill, Mrs. A. M. Johnston and Mrs. J. H. Glidden.

Mrs. Q. T. Hardtner gave an interesting report on the tea held recently in Alexandria at the Hotel Bentley, honoring Mrs. U. B. Evans of Ferriday as the top horticulturist of the Nation.

During the business session it was unanimously voted to increase the club's membership to thirty-five.

A little crumbled blue cheese adds zip to a carton of creamstyle cottage cheese. Serve with crunchy raw celery.

MISS JOAN TAYLOR'S engagement and approaching marriage to Billy Joe Smith is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor of Choudrant. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Smith, also of Choudrant. The vows will be spoken there, in the Baptist Church, on Saturday evening, March 24 at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Roy Grant, of Bernice, will officiate.

Don't add sugar to dried prunes or dried apricots until after cooking; if sugar is added during the cooking, it may toughen the fruit.

Weight - watchers take note: A slice of high - protein bread (low in fat) may furnish as little as 46 calories.

Appliance Care Is Important

How much money have you invested in electrical appliances for your home? Stop, make a list of these with price of each: Toaster, electric perculator, waffle iron, mixer, iron, vacuum cleaner, mangle ironer, sewing machine, floor polisher, washing machine, refrigerator home freezer. Continue until you have a complete list. Now aren't you surprised at the investment you have made in home appliances? Isn't it wise to learn how to care for and to use efficiently these appliances? Surely your answer is yes to this question and you will attend the training meeting at the Agricultural Building, Tuesday, February 28th at 9:30 a.m. Mr. Koch, engineer of LSU Extension Service will be in charge of the instructions. Everyone interested is invited —— it is not for only leaders.

Fabrics Today

Have you visited the stores and observed the fabrics? The Oriental influence has laid its touch on everything in the fashion picture—color, style, fabric weaves and patterns. Everywhere you turn are signs of the east from Japan to Persia — Sari prints, batik type prints, brilliant colors, elaborate embroidery. Surface interests is big and promise to grow bigger. Right in the swing are the luxury looking cottons — satin, brocade tapestry, metalasse, some with embossed effects. The thicker cottons have body — will hold their shape and need no lining.

Tissue weight cottons are everywhere watch these light weights as summer rolls in. There are stripes of all kinds, bolder Roman of blazer variety in denims and sail cloth for dashing work and play clothes. Gold dominates many of the Orient inspired cotton — sometimes printed, sometimes woven or embroidered.

Pick the color that will do the most for you as all colors are a favorite this season. Just a visit to the piece goods department will inspire you to "make it yourself."

Flowering Shrubs

Flowering shrubs tell us spring is near. Some of the most beautiful shrubs in bloom now are the magnolias. Some of these magnolias, having been planted years ago in Monroe and West Monroe, have grown to be small trees. They are sometimes mistakenly referred to as tulip trees. There's a number of varieties of these magnolias. The choice you make will depend on the color of bloom desired. The Stellata Star varieties are white and red, the Soulangena, pale pink, the Nigra, dark purple. Other varieties are Danudata and Lennei. A good time to make your selection is while plants are in bloom at the nurseries. Several varieties are in bloom now. These magnolias are rather easily grown and require little care.

Another flowering shrub that is beautiful now is the Cydonias, known as flowering quince. This shrub when used in mass plantings adds color and beauty to any landscape. Several varieties of Cydonias can be purchased white, vermillion red and deep rose and some nurseries offer coral and shell pink. There are also several varieties of the dwarf Cydonia.

The Family Vegetable Garden

If you have the space, make a family garden. If will save money and produce family health. To be well fed, your family should eat daily a green, leafy or yellow vegetable and two other vegetables. Nutritionist tell us, tomatoes and cantaloupes may be used when you do not have a citrus fruit to provide Vitamin C. Also, they tell us a potato, sweet or Irish, is a good source of some of the minerals needed — phosphorus and calcium. Vegetables are at their best when fresh. Even though our markets have improved in the manner in which they handle fresh vegetable, those fresh from your garden are better and more nutritious.

Mrs. H. Tillman Hostess To Literary Club

Members of Mangham Literary Club met for their regular meeting in February, in the home of Mrs. Harvey Tillman. Hostesses for the night were Mrs. Charles Tillman and Mrs. Dan B. McKay, Jr.

Mrs. Yvonne DeVille, president, called the meeting to order at which time the pledge of allegiance to the American flag was given.

Mrs. Annie Boies, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. Marion Lyles, treasurer, gave her report.

Mrs. DeVille then introduced Miss Ola Cooper, leader of the program for the night. Miss Cooper introduced Mrs. Robert Bell, Jr. who spoke on Islam, The Misunderstood Religion.

Miss Ola Cooper then introduced the second speaker, Mrs. Edward Barfield, who talked on observing federation day. She traced the club from its beginning to the present day. She also told of many outstanding things that have been accomplished by the federated clubs of America and those abroad. She named several outstanding women of Louisiana, among whom were Mrs. Clinton Hester, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. H. M. Mims, Mrs. B. V. Todd and Mrs. Carl Stewart. Members of the club voted to distribute Easter Seals throughout the Mangham area.

Next month's meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Annette Coolidge with Mrs. Woodford Marlowe as co-hostess.

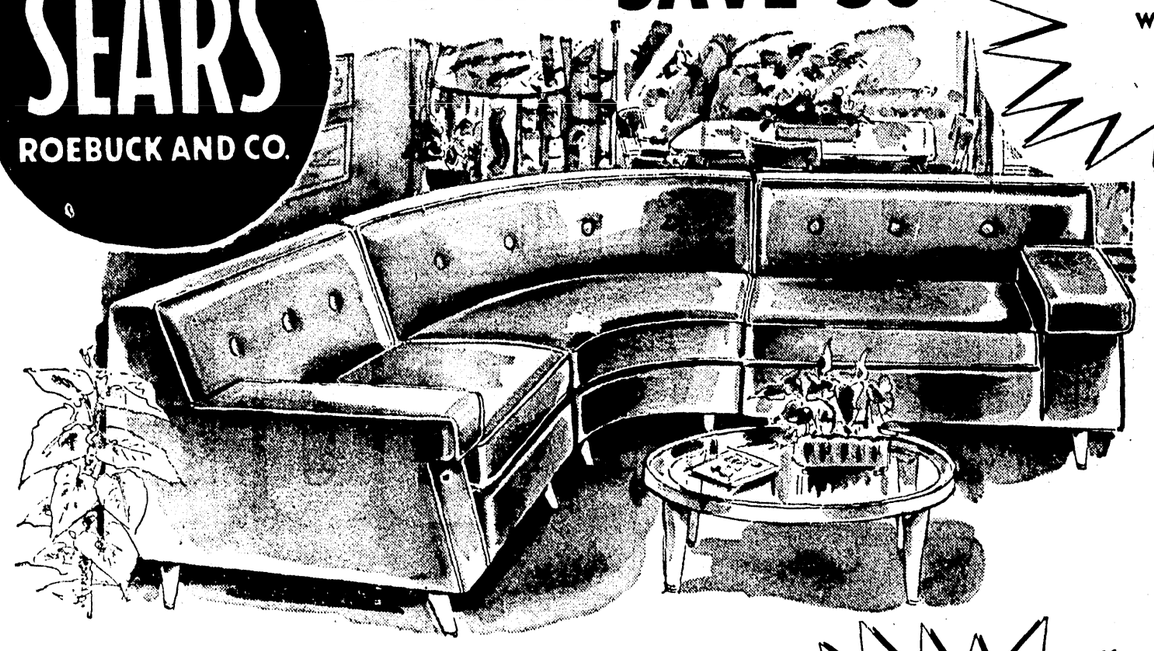

Those present were: Mrs. Edward Barfield, Mrs. Robert Bell, Jr., Mrs. Reese Boies, Mrs. Manning Boughton, Mrs. R. B. Boughton, Mrs. Otis Coolidge, Miss Ola Cooper, Mrs. Odelle DeVille, Mrs. Raymond Gieger, Mrs. Theo Jones, Mrs. Traylor Jones, Mrs. E. Landrum, Mrs. L. Lyles, Mrs. Kenneth McDonald, Jr., Mrs. Dan B. McKay, Jr., Mrs. W. T. Sartor, Mrs. Charles Tillman, and Mrs. Harvey Tillman, guest.

Small fry usually like bowls of two-way soup. Heat cream of tomato soup in a saucepan; in another pan heat cream of green pea soup. Holding one pan of soup in one hand, and the other pan of soup in the other hand, pour the two varieties into a soup bowl at the same time. The tomato soup will stay at one side of the bowl, the green pea soup at the other, creating an effect that will seem wonderful to Junior!

State Flower Show In Ruston Sat.

All lanes lead to Ruston to the state flower show, Saturday and Sunday. Doors are open from 4:00 to 9:00 p.m. Saturday and from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Sunday. This is the first time a state show has been held in this district. Many of us have yearned to go to New Orleans and other points and now we have that educational treat right next door. Call Mary Margaret at the Garden Center for entries and classifications and be sure to enter your garden specimen.

Garden Work

The purple magnolias (Japanese) are beginning to bloom. There are so many varieties and they are so beautiful. Also the star magnolia is out in all it's glory. You'll see this in full bloom in the McHenry garden, 1810 Riverside Drive. This plant comes in colors of pink, white and lavender. It requires rich soil and must have plenty of moisture. Both of these varieties of magnolias can be purchased at local nurseries.

Don't forget the crabapples. They'll be in bloom soon. There is a dwarf variety that fills in small areas, beautifully. The Flora Bunda is the palest of pinks and looks like regular apple blossom. The Hoppa family is a deeper rose and all of this variety bears crabapples in the summer. The Flora Bunda has no apples. Remember that several of the same variety and color make a better showing than different colors. There's a white that is lovely for dark corners (Buccata).

The little Roman Hyacinths are in bloom. This is the bulb that men like because they are never supposed to be moved. The white and pink are quite rare, so if you can find bulbs of those two colors, get a start.

Several weeks ago on "Open House" I stated that there was a pink oxalis, a white and maybe a yellow. A letter from Mrs. John Devine, Tallulah says there is a yellow and she is sending me a plant. Isn't that wonderful?

If you want to save disappointments — buy camellias and azaleas when they're in bloom. If they're balled and burlapped they can be moved successfully at that time. In fact I've moved small azaleas, bare rooted when they were blooming. Remember azaleas must be planted with the roots just below the surface of the ground. Use plenty of peat moss, some sand (if soil is heavy) and good loam. The small roots cannot go through heavy soil.

We are temporarily out of camellia bulletins but we do have a mimeographed leaflet on azaleas. Call 3-2251 if you'd like one of these. The new rose and freezing bulletins are here, too.

Food News

Seafood for Lenten menus is plentiful, at low to moderate prices. In the frozen fish and sea food you'll find red snapper, speckled trout, mackerel, flounder, perch, haddock, cod, salmon, lobster tails, hard shell crab and crab meat. In the shrimp foods there will be the frozen, peeled and deveined, those with shell on, breaded and ready to fry, shrimp sticks, gumbo. Fresh oysters will be on hand for those lenten meals.

Beef - eaters will find bargains this week end in sirloin steaks, round roast, boneless chuck and rib roast. Pork is still an excellent buy. Frying chickens are about the same price as well as dry beans and chunk tuna packed in oil.

Outstanding produce buys are onions, potatoes, salad greens, turnips, pascal celery, sweet potatoes and cabbage. Good fruit buys are confined pretty much to the usual list — apples, organges, grapefruit and tangerines.

Have you tried the new frozen fish sticks? The fish is cooked and then quick - frozen and packaged so that it has only to be heated and served. They are available in packages of eight or ten sticks. They are a real time-saver—but are not an inexpensive food. The cost of trimming, breading, and frying your own would probably be substantially lower.

New Material

There are advantages and disadvantages of fortisan, a new curtain material. Curtains made with this material may be washed and ironed by hand or machine. Sunlight, heat, moisture and impurities in the air have little effect on this special kind of rayon. But — Fortisan has little resistance to mildew. The new fiber is quite strong, and resists twisting and rubbing. The fabric has a silky texture, excellent draping qualities and shows little shrinkage after laundering. It is important to follow laundering instructions on the label. Fortisan is often blended with other fibers. These fibers may shrink more than fortisan.

We'll be wearing white this year, according to the fashion forecast. Remember that permanent finished materials whether in linen or cotton will not stand your regular chlorine bleach. The resin used to give the finish turns gold dust yellow when it comes in contact with this type bleach. Use sodium perborate that can be bought at any drug store. This chemical bleaches white resin treated materials satisfactorily.

Announcements

Your "Open House" programs for this week are: Monday, Peggy Callari from West Carroll parish will give you sewing tips; Tuesday, Jackie Mitchel from Morehouse will show you how to use and care for small electrical equipment; Wednesday, Mary Margaret will bring the flower arrangement winners from the Fifth District Garden Center and we'll prune crepe myrtles, spirea and evergreens; Thursday, you'll see a lovely style show from the home economics department at Jena, La. Friday is marketing and Food Preparation with Mildred and Mammy.

Mr. Kenneth A. Koch, assistant extension engineer from L. S. U. will give a demonstration on "Use and Care of Electrical Appliances" Tuesday, February 28, 9:30 a.m. at the Agriculture Building, West Monroe. The public is invited.

So far I have not been able to persuade anybody who sews to assist me with a tailoring class on TV. To give this in a way all can get — it is necessary for me to have help. Will you volunteer — if you sew and have worked on wool?

See you next Sunday.

Flower Show In Ruston To Start At 4 P. M. Saturday

The Clarklea Garden Club of Bastrop presented an all blue ribbon flower show at the Garden Center this week. The exhibits were point scored by accredited judges. In the Horticulture section blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. F. P. Robinson for Pink Perfection camellias, Mrs. Dennis Gray for King Alfred daffodils and Mrs. W. A. Kunze for purple iris.

In the arrangement section Mrs. Dennis Gray was awarded first place. A beautiful piece of driftwood was used as a container in which Mrs. Gray designed a triangular arrangement of pussy-willow branches and golden yellow daffodils. Soft foliage was placed at the base, giving the composition a naturalistic effect. Mrs. W. A. Kunze was awarded second place. Pear blossoms and self foliage were arranged in a triangular pattern in a light brown pedestral container. The container while pottery had the appearance of wood. The bronzy leaves of the pear blended perfectly in color. This arrangement had great distinction. Mrs. Dennis Lambert was awarded third place for a lovely arrangement of daffodils. A yellow bowl was chosen to hold the triangular design of pussywillow and King Alfred daffodils. Daffodil foliage added depth and interest to the design.

Added to the Garden Center library is Hortus Second, a concise dictionary of garening and general horticulture. This book gives brief descriptions, correct botanical and common names, and notes on culture and propagation for every group of plants known to be in cultivation in the United States and Canada. It is an excellent reference book. Come in and use it.

Here's an idea for rural mail boxes that I would like to pass on to you. In the Mountain Brook section in Birmingham, which is a lovely wooded mountain area of fine homes each had a rural mail box, either painted silver or white. At the base of each box there was planted a climbing rose or trumpet honeysuckle. Very effective. Also on large properties the early yellow daffodils were planted in great drifts. I don't know of any bulb more satisfactory than the daffodil. Just plant them in good well drained soil, fertilize after blooming and they will reward you year after year with more and more lovely yellow blooms.

The Flower Show season in this section of the state will start on March 3 and 4, when the Eighth State Flower Show will be staged in Ruston, Tech Memorial Gymnasium. The hours are 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday March 3 and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Admission free. Don't miss this outstanding event. There will be entries in horticulture and flower arrangements from federated garden clubs all over the state.

Gregory Conway is scheduled to appear in Vicksburg soon. I will have the date for you next week.

If you plan on making entries in the horticulture division of the State Show drop by the Garden Center for your entry blanks. These can be filled in before you arrive at the show saving a great deal of time for the exhibitor and entry clerks. A thoughtful friend gave us a Circus Rose for Christmas. We are eagerly waiting to see it bloom. This is the All America Winner for 1956. This amazing rose bloom is a thrilling show of bright red, rich yellow, orange, buff, pink and repeating red — all displayed at once! I can hardly wait!

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Protect Plants From Late Freeze

Southern gardens are under the threat of sudden freezes in late February and early March. Those fine daffodils may be spoiled just when they are getting ready to open for the show. All the flowering quince frequently gets burnt up. The Chinese magnolias are killed more often than not. Even early spireas frequently get killed back. All of these plants survive to bloom another year, however. The quinces come out again even after two or three successive freezes and are still blooming in June down in the foliage. Spireas grow new wood, and the Chinese magnolias usually lose only their flowers. Not too many camellias are ever damaged very much because their devoted owners will take the very cover off their beds and cover them up on frosty nights!

Fine daffodils that you are counting on for the show can be protected from sudden freezes. Keep some pine needles, straw or excelsoir near at hand. When the cold front from the northwest is announced, tuck some of one of these materials around the daffodils or put a cover of tobacco cloth or sacks over them before night. Daffodils growing underneath trees or shrubs will survive better than those in the open. It is the two inches of stem nearest the ground that is tender to the cold. This section of stem has just emerged from the bulb and has not had time to toughen up. If it freezes, the flowers will flop over on their faces when the sun warms the plants up.

If you do not like a permanent cover over your camellias, have stakes ready to drive into the ground around your plants on threatening nights. Sacks or other material can be wound around and over this structure. It is the wind which makes the cold most damaging, so the object is to cut off the wind. When morning comes after a cold night, do not take the cover off and expose frozen buds to the warm sun. The sudden action of the sun's warmth will pop the buds right off. If the freeze is not too severe, many buds will survive when allowed to thaw out gradually. Leave the cover on till warmer weather arrives.

Remember, when you set out camellias, that they are woods plants that grow in the shade in China underneath the forest cover. This does not mean that they prefer very dense shade. The ideal situation is that under a high canopy of tree limbs. Pines give a fine filtered light that prevents the frozen buds from thawing too fast in the morning after a cold night. You will notice that many of the camellia gardens in the south have very large trees. The lower limbs have long since been removed, and the high limbs provide a perfect canopy under which air can flow freely. If you must grow camellias under younger trees, just remove the lowest limbs as the trees increase in size.

The lower limbs have long since been removed, and the high limbs provide a perfect canopy under which air can flow freely. If you must grow camellias under younger trees, just remove the lowest limbs as the trees increase in size.

REV. G. W. POMEROY

Honorary Degree Will Go To Rev. George Pomeroy

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 25 (Special) — The Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, will be one of four persons to receive honorary degrees from Centenary College this year.

Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary, said the Monroe minister will receive the honorary doctor of divinity degree at Centenary's commencement exercises on May 27.

Others slated to receive honorary degrees are the following: Cecil Morgan, New York, a former Shreveporter now serving as executive assistant to Eugene Holman, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and one-time member of both the Louisiana House and Senate; the Rev. Carl F. Laeg, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lake Charles, and Rabbi David Lefkowitz, Jr., who holds the pulpit of Shreveport's Congregation B'nai Zion.

Morgan will receive the honorary doctor of laws degree, but the other three have been recommended for doctor of divinity degrees. They were nominated by the nominating committee, approved by the Centenary faculty and officially designated by the Centenary board of trustees.

The Rev. Mr. Pomeroy was graduated from Bastrop High school and received the AB degree magna cum laude from Centenary College in 1926. He attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., and received the BD degree from Yale Divinity school in 1929. He since has done graduate work at the University of Chicago. He joined the Louisiana conference of the Methodist Church in 1929.

He has served pastorates at Felicity Church in New Orleans and in Delhi, Oakdale, DeRidder, Crowley, Bogalusa and Minden, and from 1950 to 1955 was Ruston district superintendent for the Methodist church. He has held the pastorate in Monroe since 1955.

He is a member of the board of the Methodist Home hospital, the board of the Louisiana Children's Home, the joint commission of the Arkansas-Louisiana Methodists, the Louisiana Conference board of education, the South Central Jurisdictional board of education and the conference radio and film commission. He is chairman of the budget committee of the jurisdictional board of education and chairman of the Louisiana conference committee on memorials to the general conference.

The Rev. Mr. Pomeroy was a delegate to the South Central Jurisdictional Conferences of 1952 and 1956. He served as chairman of the board of trustees and the building committee of the Methodist camp on Caney Lake during its building in 1946-50.

He is married to the former Miss Lillie Mae McQuaid, of Baton Rouge, and they have one daughter, Pamela.

Korea Keeping North, South Dividing Line

"Korea, while still divided at the 38th Parallel, is giving itself feverishly to rehabilitation," reports the Rev. Dr. Thoburn T. Brumbaugh, administrative secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. But he holds out little hope for any early settlement of the political division of the nation.

"Though overtures are being made from the communist capital of Pyeng Yang looking toward the ultimate uniting of the two broken halves of the nation, there is little enthusiasm among serious-minded people in the South for any such negotiated union," says Dr. Brumbaugh. "This is especially true of the Christians in view of the scandalous treatment accorded all believers in democracy in periods and areas of communist occupation. Meanwhile little more is known about conditions in the northern half of the peninsula, except that there seems to be such an emphasis upon military and airforce potential as to constitute a growing threat to all that the South has fought to preserve."

Despite this ever-dangerous political situation, Dr. Brumbaugh notes that economic, social and even political progress is being made in South Korea. He says:

"The government's increased attention to land reform has brought greater rural stability, industrial development has brought a decrease in unemployment and hence of communist agitation, and a gradual restoration and expansion of public school facilities have made President Syngman Rhee's regime at least more acceptable than any other capable of wielding authority south of the demilitarized zone. In reconstruction, here has been remarkable progress within the past year. With the United Nations Command and all the American military units there seeking to get South Korea's farm lands completely under cultivation, there have been large contributions to the welfare of the rural people. This has been especially true among those who as refugees could be induced to return to farms long abused and theirs unfilled. New rural and community projects of many kinds are being promoted in war devastated area, with good roads, bridges, bathhouses, schools, town halls, and also churches being rebuilt with amazing speed."

Bishop Martin Will Be Speaker At IWSCA Meet

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church will hold its 15th annual meeting at the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., Feb. 28-Mar. 1.

Mrs. W. E. Horton, Jr., Houston, Tex., president, will preside at the three-day conference which will be attended by some 800 Methodist women from the eight states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Missouri.

Theme for the 1956 conference is "That the World May Know," and reports on the work the Woman's Division is doing in mission fields overseas and at home will be stressed. "That the Kingdom of God May Be Realized" was the goal set by the Woman's Division for the quadrennium the Methodist Church will complete May 31, and officers of the various department of WSCS work will report on how effectively that goal has been reached in the South Central Jurisdiction.

Principal speakers for the meeting include Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, Ark., head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church; Mrs. Charles W. Mead, Omaha, Neb., a member of the executive committee of the Woman's Division of the Board of Missions; Miss Connie Russell, New York, executive secretary of Town and Country Work for the Woman's Division; Miss Gertrude Fox, Shelbyville, Mo., who has served as a missionary in Japan and India; and Mrs. C. C. Lacy, Cincinnati, Ohio, circulation manager and secretary of literature for the Woman's Division.

St. Alban's Will Have Rev. George As Lenten Speaker

The Rev. W. Donald George, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, St. Joseph, will be the second guest speaker in the Episcopal series of Tuesday evening Lenten services. Fr. George will preach Tuesday evening, February 28, 7:30 p.m. at St. Alban's Church, 1101 Jackson St.

A native of Ohio, Father George is a graduate of Tulane University and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois. Prior to his ordination he was the organist and choirmaster at Christ Church Cathedral, New Orleans. He is a member of the American Guild of Organists. As the director of choir camp and staff member of Camp Hardtner, Episcopal Camp and Conference Center for Louisiana, he is widely known throughout the state. His ministry has been entirely in Louisiana in the Tensas and Concordia parishes.

WSCS Observes Children's Day Of Prayer In Church

The McGuire Methodist Church was host to the World Day of Prayer children's program, sponsored by the United Council of Church Women of the National Council of Churches. This program was held Friday, Feb. 17 at 3:30 p.m.

On that day thousands of Christians in the U.S.A. and around the world united in prayer on this first day of Lent. Services began on the Tonga Islands just west of the International Date Line. They continued through out the day in 134 countries, closing with observances on St. Lawrence Island in Alaska.

The offering was taken by children dressed in costumes of other lands. This money will be allocated for interdenominational work missions as follows: Indian Americans, Low-income farming communities, agricultural migrants, and for work in Japan, Korea, India, Pakistan, French Cameroun, Indonesia, Congo, refugee women and girls in the Near East, Africa, Germany, France, International Missionary Council, and help for Foreign Students in the U.S.A.

Mrs. Fred Riser, leader of the program developed through this theme, "One flock, One shepherd." Mrs. Henry Sanford led the song service, and Mrs. Chas. Chisholm was the accompanist. Fred Riser, Jr., read the scripture, Rev. Love led the congregation in prayer.

Mrs. M. L. DeFreese during the story hour gave an illustrated story, "An International Dinner". She also related the story, "The Prayer that is Prayed Around the World." Rev. Ira Love, the pastor host, gave the closing benediction.

College Youth Are Needed In Mission Area

"Methodist mission projects in many areas overseas will be seriously undermanned this year, unless there is a decided response in the next two months by college seniors and young college graduates to the call for special term missionaries."

That statement emphasizing the urgent need for three-year Methodist missionaries is made by personnel secretaries of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. The board, through its Office of Missionary Personnel in New York, is seeking 25 young men and 25 young women who will serve three years as overseas missionaries to Japan, Korea and countries of Southeast Asia and Latin America.

Of the 50 persons needed this year, only twelve have been obtained to date, seven men and five women. Since mid-May is the final date for processing applications, the Missionary Personnel Office is making a concerted effort in February and March to fill the remaining vacancies.

"Unless the full quota of special term missionaries set for this year is obtained," the personnel secretaries said, "mission projects in such areas as Japan, Malaya, and Brazil will be seriously understaffed and important work will be left undone."

Persons interested in the three-year missionary program are urged to write immediately to the Office of Missionary Personnel, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York 11, N.Y.

The three-year overseas missionaries will receive a cash salary, housing, medical care and travel to and from their field of service. Applicants must be between 21 and 28 years of age, college graduates, unmarried and in good health and must have "a sensitivity to human need, adaptability of personality and a desire to carry the Christian message to all men."

Most of the needs are in the fields of education, evangelism and social work, but there is a wide range of needs in each classification. Teachers of physical education, dramatics, English, home economics, agriculture, science and mathematics are needed in Japan, Korea, Malaya, Sumatra, Burma, the Philippines, Peru, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Panama, Argentina, Uruguay and Chile. Women for rural church work are being sought for the Philippines, and evangelists, audio - visual experts and social workers are needed in southeast Asia and Latin America.

GARY, Ind. — UP — Police caught a burglar who broke into a drug store and shattered 30 pint bottles of whisky. The burglar had swept them away to get at the half pints, which he apparently preferred. He had two half pint whisky bottles in his pockets.

Monroe, La.

Rev. Wayne W. Gray, Minister
9:30 a.m., Sunday School, D. W. Griffith, Supt.
11:00 a.m., Morning Worship Service. Sermon: "The Church's World Mission."
The church has a mission. It is to take the good news, the Gospel of Jesus Christ, to all people everywhere. The church is rendering a wonderful service to mankind but it is doing far less than it could and should be doing because so many nominal Christians are not obeying the commands of Christ. Today we will consider what is being done and what needs yet to be done.
A nursery is provided for each service.
6:00 p.m., Pioneers and Seniors.
Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., Family night supper and movie, "Korean Victory."
Come, worship with us. We will welcome you to worship and work with us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
First Church of Christ, Scientist
No. 2nd at Auburn St.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 26, 1956.
The golden text is: "Thou art fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into thy lips: therefore God hath blessed thee for ever" (Ps. 45:2).
Among the citations which compose the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man" (Luke 2:52).
The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ expresses God's spiritual, eternal nature. The name is synonymous with Messiah, and alludes to the spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment" (333).

REV. G. W. POMEROY

Honorary Degree Will Go To Rev. George Pomeroy

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 25 (Special) — The Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, will be one of four persons to receive honorary degrees from Centenary College this year.

Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary, said the Monroe minister will receive the honorary doctor of divinity degree at Centenary's commencement exercises on May 27.

Others slated to receive honorary degrees are the following: Cecil Morgan, New York, a former Shreveporter now serving as executive assistant to Eugene Holman, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and one-time member of both the Louisiana House and Senate; the Rev. Carl F. Lueg, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lake Charles, and Rabbi David Lefkowitz, Jr., who holds the pulpit of Shreveport's Congregation B'nai Zion.

Morgan will receive the honorary doctor of laws degree, but the other three have been recommended for doctor of divinity degrees. They were nominated by the nominating committee, approved by the Centenary faculty and officially designated by the Centenary board of trustees.

The Rev. Mr. Pomeroy was graduated from Bastrop High school and received the AB degree magna cum laude from Centenary College in 1926. He attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., and received the BD degree from Yale Divinity school in 1929. He since has done graduate work at the University of Chicago. He joined the Louisiana conference of the Methodist Church in 1929.

He has served pastorates at Felicity Church in New Orleans and in Delhi, Oakdale, DeRidder, Crowley, Bogalusa and Minden, and from 1950 to 1955 was Ruston district superintendent for the Methodist church. He has held the pastorate in Monroe since 1955.

He is a member of the board of the Methodist Home hospital, the board of the Louisiana Children's Home, the joint commission of the Arkansas Louisiana Methodist, the Louisiana Conference board of education, the South Central Jurisdictional board of education and the conference radio and film commission. He is chairman of the budget committee of the jurisdictional board of education and chairman of the Louisiana conference committee on memorials to the general conference.

The Rev. Mr. Pomeroy was a delegate to the South Central Jurisdictional Conferences of 1952 and 1956. He served as chairman of the board of trustees and the building committee of the Methodist camp on Caney Lake during its building in 1946-50.

He is married to the former Miss Lillie Mae McQuaid, of Baton Rouge, and they have one daughter, Pamela.

Korea Keeping North, South Dividing Line

"Korea, while still divided at the 38th Parallel, is giving itself feverishly to rehabilitation," reports the Rev. Dr. Thoburn T. Brumbaugh, administrative secretary of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. But he holds out little hope for any early settlement of the political division of the nation.

"Though overtures are being made from the communist capital of Pyeng Yang looking toward the ultimate uniting of the two broken halves of the nation, there is little enthusiasm among serious-minded people in the South for any such negotiated union," says Dr. Brumbaugh. "This is especially true of the Christians in view of the scandalous treatment accorded all believers in democracy in periods and areas of communist occupation. Meanwhile little more is known about conditions in the northern half of the peninsula, except that there seems to be such an emphasis upon military and air-force potential as to constitute a growing threat to all that the South has fought to preserve."

Despite this ever-dangerous political situation, Dr. Brumbaugh notes that economic, social and even political progress is being made in South Korea. He says:

"The government's increased attention to land reform has brought greater rural stability; industrial development has brought a decrease in unemployment and hence of communist agitation, and a gradual restoration and expansion of public school facilities have made President Syngman Rhee's regime at least more acceptable than any other capable of wielding authority south of the demilitarized zone. In reconstruction, here has been remarkable progress within the past year. With the United Nations Command and all the American military units there seeking to get South Korea's farm lands completely under cultivation, there have been large contributions to the welfare of the rural people. This has been especially true among those who as refugees could be induced to return to farms long abused and fields untilled. Now rural and community projects of many kinds are being promoted in war devastated areas, with good roads, bridges, bathhouses, schools, town halls, and also churches being rebuilt with amazing speed."

Bishop Martin Will Be Speaker At IWSCA Meet

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church will hold its 15th annual meeting at the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., Feb. 28-Mar. 1.

Mrs. W. E. Horton, Jr., Houston, Tex., president, will preside at the three-day conference which will be attended by some 800 Methodist women from the eight states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Missouri.

Theme for the 1956 conference is "That the World May Know," and reports on the work the Woman's Division is doing in mission fields overseas and at home will be stressed. "That the Kingdom of God May Be Realized" was the goal set by the Woman's Division for the quadrennium the Methodist Church will complete May 31, and officers of the various departments of WSCS work will report on how effectively that goal has been reached in the South Central Jurisdiction.

Principal speakers for the meeting include: Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, Ark., head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church; Mrs. Charles W. Mead, Omaha, Neb., a member of the executive committee of the Woman's Division of the Board of Missions; Miss Connie Russell, New York, executive secretary of Town and Country Work for the Woman's Division; Miss Gertrude Feely, Shellyville, Mo., who has served as a missionary in Japan and India; and Mrs. C. C. Long, Cincinnati, Ohio, circulation manager and secretary of literature for the Woman's Division.

St. Alban's Will Have Rev. George As Lenten Speaker

The Rev. W. Donald George, rector of Cnrist Episcopal Church, St. Joseph, will be the second guest speaker in the Episcopal series of Tuesday evening Lenten services. Fr. George will preach Tuesday evening, February 28, 7:30 p.m. at St. Alban's Church, 1401 Jackson St.

A native of Ohio, Father George is a graduate of Tulane University and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois. Prior to his ordination he was the organist and choirmaster at Christ Church Cathedral, New Orleans. He is a member of the American Guild of Organists. As the director of choir camp and staff member of Camp Hardtner, Episcopal Camp and Conference Center for Louisiana, he is widely known throughout the state. His ministry has been entirely in Louisiana in the Tensas and Concordia parishes.

WSCS Observes Children's Day Of Prayer In Church

The McGuire Methodist Church was host to the World Day of Prayer children's program, sponsored by the United Council of Church Women of the National Council of Churches. This program was held Friday, Feb. 17 at 3:30 p.m.

On that day thousands of Christians in the U.S.A. and around the world united in prayer on this first day of Lent. Services began on the Tonge Islands just west of the International Date Line. They continued through out the day in 134 countries, closing with observances on St. Lawrence Island in Alaska.

The offering was taken by children dressed in costumes of other lands. This money will be allocated for interdenominational work missions as follows: Indian Americans, Low-income farming communities, agricultural migrants, and for work in Japan, Korea, India, Pakistan, French Camerun, Indonesia, Congo, refugee women and girls in the Near East, Africa, Germany, France, International Missionary Council, and help for Foreign Students in the U.S.A.

Mrs. Fred Riser, leader of the program developed through this theme, "One flock, One shepherd," Mrs. Henry Sanford led the song service, and Mrs. Chas. Chisholm was the accompanist. Fred Riser, Jr., read the scripture, Rev. Love led the congregation in prayer.

Mrs. M. L. DeFreese during the story hour gave an illustrated story, "An International Dinner". She also related the story, "The Prayer that is Prayed Around the World." Rev. Ira Love, the pastor host, gave the closing benediction.

College Youth Are Needed In Mission Area

"Methodist mission projects in many areas overseas will be seriously undermanned this year, unless there is a decided response in the next two months by college seniors and young college graduates to the call for special term missionaries."

That statement emphasizing the urgent need for three-year Methodist missionaries is made by personnel secretaries of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. The board, through its Office of Missionary Personnel in New York, is seeking 25 young men and 25 young women who will serve three years as overseas missionaries to Japan, Korea and countries of Southeast Asia and Latin America.

Of the 50 persons needed this year, only twelve have been obtained to date, seven men and five women. Since mid-May is the final date for processing applications, the Missionary Personnel Office is making a concerted effort in February and March to fill the remaining vacancies.

"Unless the full quota of special term missionaries set for this year is obtained," the personnel secretaries said, "mission projects in such areas as Japan, Malaya, and Brazil will be seriously understaffed and important work will be left undone."

Persons interested in the three-year missionary program are urged to write immediately to the Office of Missionary Personnel, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York 11, N.Y.

The three-year overseas missionaries will receive a cash salary, housing, medical care and travel to and from their field of service. Applicants must be between 21 and 28 years of age, college graduates, unmarried and in good health and must have "a sensitivity to human need, adaptability of personality and a desire to carry the Christian message to all men."

Most of the needs are in the fields of education, evangelism and social work, but there is a wide range of needs in each classification. Teachers of physical education, dramatics, English, home economics, agriculture, science and mathematics are needed in Japan, Korea, Malaya, Sumatra, Burma, the Philippines, Peru, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Panama, Argentina, Uruguay and Chile. Women for rural church work are being sought for the Philippines, and evangelists, audio - visual experts and social workers are needed in southeast Asia and Latin America.

GARY, Ind. — UP — Police caught a burglar who broke into a drug store and shattered 30 pint bottles of whisky. The burglar had swept them away to get at the half pints, which he apparently preferred. He had two half pint whisky bottles in his pockets.

Parade Launches Delhi Livestock Show On Monday

DELHI, Feb. 25 — The grand parade launching the Northeast Louisiana District Livestock Show — a colorful procession of floats, bands and riding clubs — will be staged here at 2 p.m. Monday.

The Delhi High School band will be host to visiting bands that will compete for prizes from $100 to $25. No band taking part will receive less than $25, officials said.

The awards for bands will be $100; $80; $60; $40; and $25.

Awards for commercial floats will range from $25, to $15, and $10. Adult clubs and organizations such as Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Garden, and P.-T. A., will compete for prizes of $25; $15; and $10.

Other clubs and organizations will share in some six prizes running from $100; $75; $50; $25; $12; to $8. Three cash prizes will be awarded to riding clubs — $25, $15, $10.

The parade elements will be assembled on Chicago street near the baseball park at 12 noon for instructions from officials. At 12:30 p.m. a preview inspection will be conducted by parade judges.

The brooder house should be cleansed and put in good repair several days prior to the arrival of the chicks. Opearte the brooding equipment also to be sure it is in proper operating condition. The first few days of the chick's life are very important. Give them the start they need. Consult the county or home demonstration agent for further information.

Stars And Bars Over Chicago

Record Jockey To 'Bomb' Windy City In Retaliation

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The stars and bars of the Confederacy, lowered in defeat over the South almost a century ago, will fly over Chicago Monday.

Disc jockey Allen English of Oxford radio station WSUH plans to drop 25,000 tiny Confederate paper battle banners from a plane over the heart of the Windy City.

English plans the move as an answer to a Mississippi-born Chicago Negro disc jockey who had copies of the U. S. Constitution dropped over Mississippi last week "to wake up the citizens of Mississippi because their leaders are leading them in the wrong direction."

Al Benson pulled out of making the trip over Mississippi personally last week because Mississippi authorities did not answer his request for protection.

The 27-year-old English said his trip Monday has two purposes. First, he said, the Confederate battleflag "is still, and will for some time to come, remain an honored symbol of the great Southland."

Secondly, he added, Chicago natives who have never seen a Confederate flag might like one as a souvenier.

When told about English's proposed flight, the 48-year-old Benson said as far "as I am concerned, there is only one flag—the American flag, representing 48 states, including Mississippi."

But English retorted the average Mississippian's working knowledge of the U. S. Constitution is as good as that of Benson's or almost anyone else.

Spokesmen for the Civil Aeronautics Administration said in Washington they had no objection to English making the proposed flight, as long as all safety rules are observed.

THREE STOCK SHOW ENTRIES—J. B. McPherson, Jr., 15, 4-H Club member from Monticello community in East Carroll parish stands with three calves—two Herefords and one Angus—which he has entered in the district livestock show opening Monday at Delhi. The 4-H'er entered his first club calf in the Delhi show three years ago and won a red ribbon. The next year he won a blue ribbon, and last year won two blue ribbons.

Cub Pack 132 Of Boy Scouts Held Annual Banquet

Cub Pack 132, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Plum Street Grammar School P. T. A. held their annual Blue and Gold Banquet in the school Auditorium.

A short business meeting was held before supper was served. Den Three opened the ceremonies with the presentation of colors and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Larry Simpson. Levins Thompson, cubmaster, introduced Alex Lea who in turn presented awards to the following boys.

Jerry Bennett, Larkin McNeil, Buddy Pearson, Grady Thompson, Billy Kolb, Larry White, Sandy Craven, Tony Bagwell, Lavelle Price, Buddy Anders, Jake O'Neal, Bobby Wright, Danne Brady, Tommy Holden, Luther Jones, Mike Pearson, Freddy Poe, Henry Reno, Clifford Simpson, Johnny Trichelle. Mrs. Fred Poe received her Den Mother's Certificate, having completed the prescribed course for this work.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, each Den retired to individual tables for supper. The tables were decorated in Blue and Gold, the Boy Scout colors, and the boys had made the place cards and decorations in their weekly Den meetings. About 100 boys and their parents were present.

Families need to share planning with their children. Parents are responsible for training children in the skill of making decisions and in taking responsibilities.

Goals need to be family-centered and group-determined. Families should make plans for better health to meet the decreased strength and lessened income of aging years. Chronic diseases of the aged are costly.

Alterations Are Planned For Two Schools In Parish

Firms receiving plans and specifications from the architectural offices of John & Neel, of Monroe, for the alterations and additions planned to Highland school, West Monroe and Swayze school, Monroe are being listed.

Ransom Pre-School Roundup Slated

The annual pre-school roundup for Ransom School will be held at the school on Friday at 9 o'clock in the morning. All children who will enter Ransom School for the first time in the first grade next September are expected to be present.

This announcement was made by the PTA round up chairman, Mrs. Roy Crain, at the February Founders Day meeting of the Ransom PTA, held recently. Doctors and a nurse will be at the round up and will give each child a thorough physicial examination.

The Founder's Day was held at night with a large assemblage of parents, both fathers and mothers. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Lionel Green.

Interspersed throughout the program a group of fifth and sixth grade children sang songs.

Children taking part in the program were: Sharon Weston, Penny Green, Barbara Yeager, Sandra Cannon, Billie Rose Fuller, Patricia Ann Wilson, Lillie Mae Shell, Viva Denton, Janice Cook, Linda Letterman, Jerry Roberts, George Meridth, Willie Rogers, Wayne Oglesbee, Raymond Frazier, and Harper Chilton.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Charles Shackelford, who announced that the nominating committee would make its recommendations at the March meeting as to the officers for next session.

Parade Launches Delhi Livestock Show On Monday

DELHI, Feb. 25 — The grand parade launching the Northeast Louisiana District Livestock Show — a olorful procession of floats, bands and riding clubs — will be staged here at 2 p.m. Monday.

The Delhi High School band will be hot to visiting bands that will compete for prizes from $100 to $25. No band taking part will receive less than $25, officials said.

The awards for bands will be $100; $80; $60; $40; and $25.

Awards for commercial floats will range from $25, to $15, and $10. Adult clubs and organizations such as Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Garden, and P.-T. A., will compete for prizes of $25; $15; and $10.

Other clubs and organizations will share in some six prizes running from $100; $75; $50; $25; $12; to $8. Three cash prizes will be awarded to riding clubs — $25, $15, $10.

The parade elements will be assembled on Chicago street near the baseball park at 12 noon for instructions from officials. At 12:30 p.m. a preview inspection will be conducted by parade judges.

The brooder house should be cleansed and put in good repair several days prior to the arrival of the chicks. Opearte the brooding equipment also to be sure it is in proper operating condition. The first few days of the chick's life are very important. Give them the start they need. Consult the county or home demonstration agent for further information.

Stars And Bars Over Chicago

Record Jockey To 'Bomb' Windy City In Retaliation

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The stars and bars of the Confederacy, lowered in defeat over the South almost a century ago, will fly over Chicago Monday.

Disc jockey Allen English of Oxford radio station WSUH plans to drop 25,000 tiny Confederate paper battle banners from a plane over the heart of the Windy City.

English plans the move as an answer to a Mississippi-born Chicago Negro disc jockey who had copies of the U. S. Constitution dropped over Mississippi last week "to wake up the citizens of Mississippi because their leaders are leading them in the wrong direction."

Al Benson pulled out of making the trip over Mississippi personally last week because Mississippi authorities did not answer his request for protection.

The 27-year-old English said his trip Monday has two purposes. First, he said, the Confederate battleflag "is still, and will for some time to come, remain an honored symbol of the great Southland."

Secondly, he added, Chicago natives who have never seen a Confederate flag might like one as a souvenier.

When told about English's proposed flight, the 48-year-old Benson said as far "as I am concerned, there is only one flag—the American flag, representing 48 states, including Mississippi."

But English retorted the average Mississippian's working knowledge of the U. S. Constitution is as good as that of Benson's or almost anyone else.

Spokesmen for the Civil Aeronautics Administration said in Washington they had no objection to English making the proposed flight, as long as all safety rules are observed.

THREE STOCK SHOW ENTRIES—J. B. McPherson, Jr., 15, 4-H Club member from Monticello community in East Carroll parish stands with three calves—two Herefords and one Angus—which he has entered in the district livestock show opening Monday at Delhi. The 4-H'er entered his first club calf in the Delhi show three years ago and won a red ribbon. The next year he won a blue ribbon, and last year won two blue ribbons.

Cub Pack 132 Of Boy Scouts Held Annual Banquet

Cub Pack 132, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Plum Street Grammar School P. T. A. held their annual Blue and Gold Banquet in the school Auditorium.

A short business meeting was held before supper was served. Den Three opened the ceremonies with the presentation of colors and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Larry Simpson. Levins Thompson, cubmaster, introduced Alex Lea who in turn presented awards to the following boys.

Jerry Bennett, Larkin McNeil, Buddy Pearson, Grady Thompson, Billy Kolb, Larry White, Sandy Craven, Tony Bagwell, Lavelle Price, Buddy Anders, Jake O'Neal, Bobby Wright, Danne Brady, Tommy Holden, Luther Jones, Mike Pearson, Freddy Poe, Henry Reno, Clifford Simpson, Johnny Trichelle. Mrs. Fred Poe received her Den Mother's Certificate, having completed the prescribed course for this work.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, each Den retired to individual tables for supper. The tables were decorated in Blue and Gold, the Boy Scout colors, and the boys had made the place cards and decorations in their weekly Den meetings. About 100 boys and their parents were present.

Families need to share planning with their children. Parents are responsible for training children in the skill of making decisions and in taking responsibilities.

Goals need to be family-centered and group-determined. Families should make plans for better health to meet the decreased strength and lessened income of aging years. Chronic diseases of the aged are costly.

Answer To Question No. 1

1. Yes. In a study of suicides—both attempted and accomplished—in Seattle from 1948 to 1952, sociologists C. F. Smid and M. D. Van Arsdale, Jr., found that of the 468 accomplished suicides, three-fourths (round figures were men, and one-fourth were women. However, of the 1,055 attempted suicides, only 38 per cent were men; while 61 per cent were women. In "successful" suicides, men preferred firearms; women, asphyxia. Poison was the most widely used by both sexes in attempted suicide. Are you emotionally upset?

"Managing Feeling and Emotions" shows you how to control emotions for happiness. Booklet nonprofit. Send 25 cents, coin only, and stamped, fully addressed reply envelope to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. Yes. When Melville E. Stone, founder of the Associated Press, started a penny newspaper in Chicago in 1876, to compete with five-cent papers, he convinced merchants they would sell more if goods were marked 99 cents or 49 cents instead of 50 cents or $1.00. Results were astonishing. The government had to ship out pennies by the barrel, and his paper went over big. People seem to reason not from the bottom up but from the top down.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Almost always, because, unlike cases in which only paternity is disputed, there are two sets of parents and two babies, says Dr. Alex Wiener, in "Scientific American." There is, in cases of disputed paternity, far greater chance of the accused man and the supposed parents and baby having the same blood types. But, with two sets of parents and two babies, the chances of all having the same blood types are remote. Such cases are easily solved, says Dr. Wiener.

Important Board Meet For YMCA Set For Monday

It was announced yesterday by Dr. Roy L. Robertson, president of the Twin Cities YMCA board of directors, that the regular February meeting of the YMCA board of directors will be held Monday at 6 p.m. in the YMCA, 217 Breard Street.

Harry H. Hudson, YMCA ranch straw boss, will give final results of the 1956 membership roundup. Dr. Robertson will appoint special representatives to the Southern Area council of YMCA's which will meet at Blue Ridge, N. C. June 22-June 24, 1956.

A special committee will be appointed to plan the 1956 annual meeting of the local YMCA which will be held in the near future. New officers will be elected to serve from March 1, 1956 - March 1, 1957. The nominating committee for new board members will also present its report.

The Personnel committee composed of Max L. Riley, chairman, Harry Hudson, O. N. McNeil, and Van Odom will meet immediately after the Board meeting.

Every board member is extended a special invitation to attend.

Corrigan Named To Four Member Board

RUSTON, Feb. 25 —(Special)— Dr. Glen L. Corrigan, head of the department of petroleum and geological engineering at Louisiana Tech, has been appointed as one of a four-member committee of the Texas-Gulf Coast to serve with the Petroleum Branch Education committee.

Dr. Corrigan attended a meeting of the Petroleum Branch Education committee and the Minerals Industries Educational Division held in connection with the annual convention of the American Institute of Mining, Metalurgical and Petroleum Engineers. The convention was held at the Statler Hotel in New York City.

All Out Protection To Be Made In Ga.

ENGLAND, Ark. — UP — An Augusta, Ga., newspaper publisher here last night said that the Georgia governor would call in the state militia, national guard and mobilize every able bodied man to guard their schools to stop integration.

Roy V. Harris, former Georgia state senator and publisher of the Augusta Courier, quoted the governor as saying "come hell or high water, as long as I'm governor we ain't going to integrate the schools."

He also said it is now a felony in Georgia for any county school official to spend a dollar of the state's money if one Negro attends any (white) school in that county. He said the governor is empowered to close any school at any time he sees fit, and begin subsidation to the parents in order for them to send their child to any school they prefer.

1st Strawberries Make Shortcake

HAMMOND, La. — UP — Louisiana's first crate of strawberries in the 1956 season will end up as strawberry shortcake at the Casa de Fresca hotel here.

The hotel bought the first case yesterday for $25. Grower of the first batch of the year was Clarence C. Howes of Ponchatoula. A second case of 24 pints also moved yesterday and was sold to a Baton Rouge food store.

Wholesalers who handled the fruit said it was some of the finest to start the season and that five to 10 crates would probably move today.

The crop this year is estimated at 10,500 acres compared to 8,800 last year.

Quarles Disagrees That Reds Lead Missile Contest

NEW YORK —UP— Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles Saturday flatly rejected any claim that Russia is ahead of the United States in development of ballistic missiles.

Such claims have been voiced frequently by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.).

In a speech prepared for a homecoming conference of the New York university graduate school of business administration, Quarles warned that Russia is pushing missile development at top speed. But he said the nation should "avoid any undue alarm" over its relative position.

He quoted Sir Frederick Brundrett, research and development head of the British Defense Ministry, as saying the Russians may be ahead of Britain in the ballistic missile field but "definitely are not ahead of the United States."

"This is a well-informed and, I believe, a sound estimate of the situation," Quarles said.

Quarles said the world is now passing from a "unilateral deterrence" to a "mutual deterrence" phase in which both sides are held back from starting a war by the retaliatory power of the other. He saw in that "a ray of hope" for a period of enforced peace.

MOREHOUSE PARISH

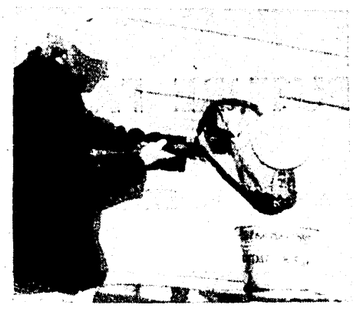

"Where Industry And Agriculture Meet"

Cotton is the backbone of Morehouse farm income, accounting for 89% of the parish total farm take. Here is an exhibit (at left) at the North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair held each fall in Bastrop. Parish farmers made 38,825 bales on 31,500 acres in 1955—an average of 607 pounds of lint per acre.

In Morehouse Parish, agriculture is balanced with industry. Industry payrolls are around $15 million, while agriculture earns around $10 million annually. Like industry, farming is becoming mechanized; a National Cotton Council Report indicates only 13 per cent of the cotton in 1955 was produced by mule farming methods.

International Paper Company Mills—Bastrop, La.

Morehouse farmers are conservation minded; they had constructed 457 fish ponds for sport and water conservation in 1955.

4-H Club members, Nancy McKoin and Patsy Smith from McGinty demonstrate to other club members "How to Make Biscuits." Both Girls are enrolled in Baking.

Freezing is one of the major projects carried by Reatagoe Kinnaird of Bonita, Senior 4-H Club. Reatagoe, vice president of her 4-H Club won the Silver Spoon presented by the Home Demonstration Council for the best Food Preservation Record.

Kit Williams of Bonita with a Blue Ribbon Sow, is one of about 400 Morehouse Swine Producers — whose annual income is about $200,000.

As a result of giving a method demonstration on building a self-feeder 10 of these have been constructed in the parish. By the use of self-feeders pigs make the most economical gain in the shortest period of time.

These 4-H Club members promote the beef cattle industry by feeding out baby beeves and exhibiting them at the parish fair, district and state shows. This year 11 head of beef calves will be exhibited at the district show by Morehouse Parish 4-H Club members.

Four 4-H members are shown here with their registered Duroc gilts, sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Pig Chain. With these good breeding gilts good stock is place-

Quarles Disagrees That Reds Lead Missile Contest

NEW YORK —UP— Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles Saturday flatly rejected any claim that Russia is ahead of the United States in development of ballistic missiles.

Such claims have been voiced frequently by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.).

In a speech prepared for a homecoming conference of the New York university graduate school of business administration, Quarles warned that Russia is pushing missile development at top speed. But he said the nation should "avoid any undue alarm" over its relative position.

He quoted Sir Frederick Brundrett, research and development head of the British Defense Ministry, as saying the Russians may be ahead of Britain in the ballistic missile field but "definitely are not ahead of the United States."

"This is a well-informed and, I believe, a sound estimate of the situation," Quarles said.

Quarles said the world is now passing from a "unilateral deterrence" to a "mutual deterrence" phase in which both sides are held back from starting a war by the retaliatory power of the other. He saw in that "a ray of hope" for a period of enforced peace.

Secrets Of Pacific Fish Are Studied

STANFORD, Calif. — UP — Edible creatures of the deep, beware!

Stanford University's new ocean research laboratory is out to get you.

O. E. Sette, director of the unit founded by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, says one of his staff's first projects will be to crack the mystery of fluctuating fish populations in the Pacific Ocean.

For years West Coast net-casters have experienced either feast or famine in their catches as certain kinds of fish disappear for apparently no reason at all while others suddenly become plentiful.

"These fluctuations have been studied in a local way," said Sette, "but no one has come up with an explanation."

The Stanford research leader explained the basic concept behind his planned program of fish-shift analysis:

"Water and air are both fluids. Both obey the same natural laws. Ocean currents are even driven by air currents. If we can discover any connection between the presence of fish and the climate of surrounding air and water, we may be able to predict where to find fish."

The laboratory's staff of six will busy itself with collecting data for this and following problems from weather stations, oceanographic labs and other fish research societies.

The Stanford lab workers anticipate much aid in their fish-finding efforts from the more than a dozen floating oceanography stations set up in eastern Pacific waters by other universities and the U. S. and Canadian governments. The western Pacific area will be covered information - wise by research vessels patroling under the auspices of the United States, France, Japan and Australia.

Liberty Ships Now Are Radar Pickets

WASHINGTON — UP — Liberty ships, the troop and cargo - carrying heroes of World War II, are back again for sentry duty.

As radar picket ships, they are specifically assigned to extend the warning net against enemy air attack far out to sea. Four already have been commissioned by the Navy and are part of the Continental Air Defense Command.

Four more of the 10,760-ton vessels are in the Norfolk, Va., and Charleston, S. C. naval yards undergoing conversion. Radar, special communications and electronics equipment will cost the Navy close to $4,000,000 for each outfitting.

The YAGRs as the Navy designates them, will act as advance posts to warn of surprise enemy attacks. They also are equipped to control and coordinate interceptor aircraft in combat.

Each YAGR stands alone. It lacks the protection of capital ships and must defend itself as best it can with relatively light guns.

Junior Judges Compete

Thursday, F. F. A. and 4-H club members from around the district will take part in judging of beef and dairy cattle and swine.

The first place team will receive $50, with the suggestion that it be used to pay expenses of the team and instructor to the state livestock show at Baton Rouge immediately following the Delhi show.

Second place team will receive $25; third place, $15; fourth, $10. All members of the first four teams will receive stock canes.

The competition will get under way around 9 a.m. Thursday, and probably will be wound up by noon. Announcement of winners will be made as soon as judges can go through the results and add points. This probably will be early in the afternoon.

Actual presentation of awards to winners will take place at 12:30 p.m. Friday in the livestock sales pavillion, shortly before staging of the annual junior livestock auction.

State Board Awaits Action By Congress

BATON ROUGE — UP — The Louisiana Welfare Board will await Congressional action on a pending federal plan to distribute surplus food to low-income families rather than go ahead and give out food to some 500,000 needy persons.

Board Chairman James Bolton said yesterday the board would delay giving out food until some action is taken by federal officials.

Some 200,000 farmers, sharecroppers, tenant farmers and day laborers in the state are now receiving free food out of the federal surpluses. Welfare officials estimate another 500,000 persons do not have enough money to buy proper food supplies.

Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce recently suggested the free-food program be expanded to cover all needy families in the state.

The U. S. natural gas industry has 29,210,000 customers.

Yuba City Opens Yuletide Bundles Two Months Late

Thousands of youngsters opened gifts to replace those that were swept away by flood waters last Dec. 24. Santa Claus himself was here to deliver them.

The distributions of truck loads and plane loads of toys added a bright climax to a week of belated Christmas activities that often was interrupted by driving rain and fierce winds.

Santa arrived officially Friday night on "Christmas Eve" but made his gift-bearing entry at the head of a parade throughout downtown streets Saturday. The horde of youngsters met St. Nick at the town's football stadium where a circus and variety show followed the gifts.

Gov. and Mrs. Goowin J. Knight toured the city with Santa stopping at several homes to present gifts. Earlier Knight had presented unit citations to the airmen and officers at nearby Beale Air Force Base for the arduous hours they spent on the waterlogged levees before and during the floods.

The Yuba City Lions Club, sponsors of the belated Christmas along with clubs throughout the state, had spent more than a week wrapping gifts.

Soviets Announce 'New Look' In Farming Program

MOSCOW —UP— The Soviet Union Saturday announced a "new look" agricultural program utilizing American farming methods and fitting crop production to local conditions.

Matskevich told the Soviet Communist Party congress that several American farm methods and techniques will be introduced to Soviet agriculture.

He said experimental research stations had been ordered for every Soviet agricultural area. They will study and exploit the farming possibilities peculiar to each region.

The experimental stations were one of the ideas he picked up on his trip to the United States.

In the past, Soviet agricultural practice has been directed from Moscow, which imposed a general production plan.

Under the old system, for example, areas best suited for sugar beet production were forced to raise wheat or tobacco.

Matskevich also told the Congress that steps would be taken to profit from American seeding practices in developing hybrid corn.

He said cows will be milked twice daily in accordance with the American procedure.

The agriculture minister admitted various deficiencies in Soviet agriculture which were not fulfilled in the past five-year plan.

Painter Killed By Voltage Wire

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — Cleo P. Hardaway, 60-year-old Memphis, Tenn., painter, died last night of injuries received when his paint spray gun struck a high voltage electric wire and knocked him from a ladder.

Physicians said Hardaway received burns from the shock and a brain concussion from the 30-foot fall Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held in Memphis.

Masonite Corp. To Appeal Conviction

LUCEDALE, Miss. (AP) — The Masonite Corp. of Laurel said it will appeal a conviction of stream pollution to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

The company filed notice of appeal yesterday after conviction by a Circuit Court jury and posted $750 appeal bond.

The trial Wednesday was on appeal from a previous conviction on charges of pollution of the Tallahala Creek and Lear and Pascagoula rivers in April, 1955. The company had been fined $3,000 earlier by George County Justice of the Peace George M. Johnson.

SHORT DURATION

MERCED, Calif. (UP) — The title of Merced city veterinarian lasted only five minutes. The city council created the new municipal post only to rescind its action in favor of another solution. Officials decided it was more practical to deputize a regular veterinarian as a deputy poundmaster to vaccinate dogs and issue licenses.

OAK GROVE SALUTES NORTHEAST LOUISIANA LIVESTOCK SHOW

Oak Grove truly realizes the importance of livestock in a farming community. As the trade center of hundreds of small, family-type farms, the town, through interested businessmen, has led in supporting the parish junior livestock show; annually an event that attracts fine "show quality" livestock of all types. Many of these animals will be exhibited at the district show.

Too, the West Carroll Produce Association was formed in Oak Grove two years ago to help promote the development of a commercial vegetable production and marketing program. This year, the program offers markets for 8,000 acres of vegetable crops, embracing eight separate vegetables. This is but another step forward in development of a diversified farm program in the Oak Grove trade territory by residents of the area.

Junior Judges Compete

Thursday, F. F. A. and 4-H club members from around the district will take part in judging of beef and dairy cattle and swine.

The first place team will receive $50, with the suggestion that it be used to pay expenses of the team and instructor to the state livestock show at Baton Rouge immediately following the Delhi show.

Second place team will receive $25; third place, $15; fourth, $10. All members of the first four teams will receive stock canes.

The competition will get under way around 9 a.m. Thursday, and probably will be wound up by noon. Announcement of winners will be made as soon as judges can go through the results and add points. This probably will be early in the afternoon.

Actual presentation of awards to winners will take place at 12:30 p.m. Friday in the livestock sales pavillion, shortly before staging of the annual junior livestock auction.

State Board Awaits Action By Congress

BATON ROUGE — UP — The Louisiana Welfare Board will await Congressional action on a pending federal plan to distribute surplus food to low-income families rather than go ahead and give out food to some 500,000 needy persons.

Board Chairman James Bolton said yesterday the board would delay giving out food until some action is taken by federal officials.

Some 200,000 farmers, sharecroppers, tenant farmers and day laborers in the state are now receiving free food out of the federal surpluses. Welfare officials estimate another 500,000 persons do not have enough money to buy proper food supplies.

Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce recently suggested the free-food program be expanded to cover all needy families in the state.

The U. S. natural gas industry has 29,210,000 customers.

Yuba City Opens Yuletide Bundles Two Months Late

Thousands of youngsters opened gifts to replace those that were swept away by flood waters last Dec. 24. Santa Claus himself was here to deliver them.

The distributions of truck loads and plane loads of toys added a bright climax to a week of belated Christmas activities that often was interrupted by driving rain and fierce winds.

Santa arrived officially Friday night on "Christmas Eve" but made his gift-bearing entry at the head of a parade throughout downtown streets Saturday. The horde of youngsters met St. Nick at the town's football stadium where a circus and variety show followed the gifts.

Gov. and Mrs. Goowin J. Knight toured the city with Santa stopping at several homes to present gifts. Earlier Knight had presented unit citations to the airmen and officers at nearby Beale Air Force Base for the arduous hours they spent on the waterlogged levees before and during the floods.

The Yuba City Lions Club, sponsors of the belated Christmas along with clubs throughout the state, had spent more than a week wrapping gifts.

Soviets Announce 'New Look' In Farming Program

MOSCOW —UP— The Soviet Union Saturday announced a "new look" agricultural program utilizing American farming methods and fitting crop production to local conditions.

Matskevich told the Soviet Communist Party congress that several American farm methods and techniques will be introduced to Soviet agriculture.

He said experimental research stations had been ordered for every Soviet agricultural area. They will study and exploit the farming possibilities peculiar to each region.

The experimental stations were one of the ideas he picked up on his trip to the United States.

In the past, Soviet agricultural practice has been directed from Moscow, which imposed a general production plan.

Under the old system, for example, areas best suited for sugar beet production were forced to raise wheat or tobacco.

Matskevich also told the Congress that steps would be taken to profit from American seeding practices in developing hybrid corn.

He said cows will be milked twice daily in accordance with the American procedure.

The agriculture minister admitted various deficiencies in Soviet agriculture which were not fulfilled in the past five-year plan.

Painter Killed By Voltage Wire

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — Cleo P. Hardaway, 60-year-old Memphis, Tenn., painter, died last night of injuries received when his paint spray gun struck a high voltage electric wire and knocked him from a ladder.

Physicians said Hardaway received burns from the shock and a brain concussion from the 30-foot fall Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held in Memphis.

Masonite Corp. To Appeal Conviction

LUCEDALE, Miss. (AP) — The Masonite Corp. of Laurel said it will appeal a conviction of stream pollution to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

The company filed notice of appeal yesterday after conviction by a Circuit Court jury and posted $750 appeal bond.

The trial Wednesday was on appeal from a previous conviction on charges of pollution of the Tallahala Creek and Lear and Pascagoula rivers in April, 1955. The company had been fined $3,000 earlier by George County Justice of the Peace George M. Johnson.

SHORT DURATION

MERCED, Calif. (UP) — The title of Merced city veterinarian lasted only five minutes. The city council created the new municipal post only to rescind its action in favor of another solution. Officials decided it was more practical to deputize a regular veterinarian as a deputy poundmaster to vaccinate dogs and issue licenses.

OAK GROVE SALUTES NORTHEAST LOUISIANA LIVESTOCK SHOW

Oak Grove truly realizes the importance of livestock in a farming community. As the trade center of hundreds of small, family-type farms, the town, through interested businessmen, has led in supporting the parish junior livestock show; annually an event that attracts fine "show quality" livestock of all types. Many of these animals will be exhibited at the district show.

Too, the West Carroll Produce Association was formed in Oak Grove two years ago to help promote the development of a commercial vegetable production and marketing program. This year, the program offers markets for 8,000 acres of vegetable crops, embracing eight separate vegetables. This is but another step forward in development of a diversified farm program in the Oak Grove trade territory by residents of the area.

Elements Contributing To Success Of Show At Delhi Cited By Martin

DELHI, Feb. 25 — Geographical location and the enthusiasm and support of the residents of the area are elements credited with helping build the Northeast Louisiana district Livestock Show into an important annual exposition, according to W. P. Martin, organization president.

It is "located in the center of one of the largest and richest alluvial soil areas in the nation . . ." he pointed out. "However credit for the phenomenal growth and success of the show is due to the universal backing of the populace as a whole and to the progressive business elements in particular throughout the fifteen parishes comprising the district . . ."

Martin said that recent federal statistics revealed that Louisiana had the biggest percentage gain in cattle population over all other states in the nation, and that northeast Louisiana had a one per cent higher gain than the state as a whole.

In the foreword published in the show's current catalog, Martin observed that "Some 25 years ago the income from livestock in this area was practically nil. During recent years the income from this source has mounted into millions of dollars annually. Farmers and livestock producers have become 'quality minded' and so are potential buyers of foundation stock. Therefore it would seem logical for breeders to exhibit their show herds at Delhi . . ."

DEER MISTAKE

ballet and many special performances.

Since the orchestra's inception, seven distinguished men have held the post of music director; Frank van der Stucken, Leopold Stokowski, Ernst Kunwald, Eugene Ysaye, Fritz Reiner and Eugene Goossens. In the 1947-48 season, Thor Johnson was appointed the music director, and under his brilliant direction, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is reaching even greater preeminence today.

While Cincinnati can claim this distinguished group of musicians as a part of the cultural forces in its own community, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra enjoys just as broad acceptance in hundreds of other communities throughout the United States. Back in its eighth season, 1901-02, it played seven concerts on tour. Since that time, it has not missed touring for a single season, giving well over eleven hundred concerts, in thirty-five states.

One of the high points of the 1951-52 touring season was the brilliant concert given in New York's famous Carnegie Hall in mid-November. Critics were unanimous in their praise of the orchestra and of its conductor.

Go Ahead Given For Improvements

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Gas Pipe Line Co. of Shreveport and the Southern Natural Gas Co. of Birmingham, Ala., are free to proceed with improvements totaling more than 12 million dollars.

Federal Power Commission approval became final Feb. 20 when no exceptions were filed against a Jan. 19 examiner's order.

United plans to spend $10,035,832 to expand pipeline facilities in Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

Southern will spend $2,361,219 to expand its facilities in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Famed Symphony Orchestra To Be Heard In Ruston

Music lovers will be given an opportunity to hear one of the country's major symphony orchestras Tuesday, in Howard Auditorium at 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. when the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra gives a concert under the auspices of the Louisiana Concert Association. Thor Johnson, distinguished American conductor, will direct both concerts.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is acclaimed as one of the finest symphonic ensembles in the country. Established in 1895, it has maintained and perpetuated down to the present time the rich musical heritage which had its beginnings in this midwestern community at the turn of the nineteenth century.

Today, this 87-member organization of virtuosi players gives approximately a hundred concerts each season, planned especially for all types of concert-goers — the regular subscription series of twenty pairs of concerts, the young people's and junior high school series, popular concerts, tour concerts.

There are about 20,000 bighorn sheep in the United States.

Liabilities Still Outweigh Assets In Heart Campaign

The "balance sheet" of heart disease, the leading cause of death, shows that the "assets" are accumulating rapidly, although they are still far outweighed by the liabilities, according to the 1955 annual report of the American Heart Association, issued today.

The local affiliate of the association, Louisiana Heart, simultaneously issued a publication "Heart in Louisiana," outlining the program of the association on the local level, Rayford C. Rogers, executive director announced.

"Both are available, free of charge, through the offices at 426 Balter Building in New Orleans," he said.

The national report, entitled "Hearts in the Balance," presents an accounting of gains made in combating cardiovascular diseases. It notes that support of scientific research continued as the Heart Association's biggest "investment" in 1955, with close to $3,800,000 allocated for this purpose by the national office, local and state affiliates.

"In Louisiana," Rogers said, "the Louisiana Heart Association during 1955 supported research grants in aid totaling nearly $40,000 while American Heart contributed an additional $12,000.

Sizeable sums also were invested in community programs designed to lessen the impact of cardiovascular disease on those who must live with its consequences," Mr. Rogers added.

To expand the research support program as well as community service and educational activities, they are conducting the annual Heart Fund. No funds are being solicited in New Orleans, Baton Rouge or Lafayette since the association participates in federated giving in those areas. In Alexandria, Denham Springs and Bogalusa, they participate in the business and industry solicitation portion of a federated drive but residential contributions will be sought by mail and an extensive educational program held.

In Monroe today a vast solicitation is planned for this afternoon. Today is "Heart Sunday" in Monroe.

Kitchen arithmetic: A ready-to-cook stewing chicken that weighs about four pounds will give you about three cups of cooked meat.

Orchestra Slated At La. Tech Tues.

RUSTON, Feb. 25 (Special)—Two concerts by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra will be given in Howard auditorium here on Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association. Thor Johnson, distinguished American conductor, will direct.

This 87-member organization gives approximately one hundred concerts each season, planned especially for all types of concert-goers — the regular subscription series of twenty pairs of concerts, the young people's and junior high school series, popular concerts, tour concerts, ballet and many special performances.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is a pioneer in the recording industry. Currently, it is the first American orchestra to make records for the London Gramophone Corporation. Its first discs were cut in 1917, then making it the third symphony orchestra anywhere in the world to make records.

Ouachita Parish Students Named On Honor Roll

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 25 (Special) — Eight Ouachita Parish students at Northwestern State College were named to the fall semester honor roll. They are among 296 NSC students who maintained an overall "B" average and had no grade lower than "C" for the semester.

The School of Education tallied the highest number with 151 majors; nursing reported 68, arts and sciences 58, and applied arts and sciences 53.

Sister Brigida Corcoran, nursing major from Monroe, received special honors for high scholastic achievement. Other nursing students were Betty Jean Fite, Monroe; Charlotte Foster, Calhoun; and Lila Weith, West Monroe.

The School of Education had four Ouachita students on the coveted list. They were Beverly Ann Baxter, elementary education; John M. Moore, Jr., upper elementary, both of Monroe; Clyde Birch Fulton, math, West Monroe; and Vashti Elizabeth Hem, home economics, Fairbanks.

SERVICE, PLEASE!

OSKALOOSA, Ia. (UPI) — There are days when Jack Craig wonders if he hasn't taught one of his two pointer dogs his lesson too well. He keeps the dogs in a pen at the back of his lot and if he doesn't take their supper to them by 4 p.m. each day the older dog jumps the fence and trots to the house. There, standing on his hind legs, he puts a paw on the button and rings the door bell until he gets his food.

Liabilities Still Outweigh Assets In Heart Campaign

The "balance sheet" of heart disease, the leading cause of death, shows that the "assets" are accumulating rapidly, although they are still far outweighed by the liabilities, according to the 1955 annual report of the American Heart Association, issued today.

The local affiliate of the association, Louisiana Heart, simultaneously issued a publication "Heart in Louisiana," outlining the program of the association on the local level, Rayford C. Rogers, executive director announced.

"Both are available, free of charge, through the offices at 426 Balter Building in New Orleans," he said.

The national report, entitled "Hearts in the Balance," presents an accounting of gains made in combating cardiovascular diseases. It notes that support of scientific research continued as the Heart Association's biggest "investment" in 1955, with close to $3,800,000 allocated for this purpose by the national office, local and state affiliates.

"In Louisiana," Rogers said, "the Louisiana Heart Association during 1955 supported research grants in aid totaling nearly $40,000 while American Heart contributed an additional $12,000.

Sizeable sums also were invested in community programs designed to lessen the impact of cardiovascular disease on those who must live with its consequences," Mr. Rogers added.

To expand the research support program as well as community service and educational activities, they are conducting the annual Heart Fund. No funds are being solicited in New Orleans, Baton Rouge or Lafayette since the association participates in federated giving in those areas. In Alexandria, Denham Springs and Bogalusa, they participate in the business and industry solicitation portion of a federated drive but residential contributions will be sought by mail and an extensive educational program held.

In Monroe today a vast solicitation is planned for this afternoon. Today is "Heart Sunday" in Monroe.

Orchestra Slated At La. Tech Tues.

RUSTON, Feb. 25 (Special)—Two concerts by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra will be given in Howard auditorium here on Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association. Thor Johnson, distinguished American conductor, will direct.

This 87-member organization gives approximately one hundred concerts each season, planned especially for all types of concertgoers — the regular subscription series of twenty pairs of concerts, the young people's and junior high school series, popular concerts, tour concerts, ballet and many special performances.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is a pioneer in the recording industry. Currently, it is the first American orchestra to make records for the London Gramophone Corporation. Its first discs were cut in 1917, then making it the third symphony orchestra anywhere in the world to make records.

Ouachita Parish Students Named On Honor Roll

NATCHITOCHES, Feb. 25 (Special) — Eight Ouachita Parish students at Northwestern State College were named to the fall semester honor roll. They are among 296 NSC students who maintained an overall "B" average and had no grade lower than "C" for the semester.

The School of Education tallied the highest number with 151 majors; nursing reported 68, arts and sciences 58, and applied arts and sciences 53.

Sister Brigida Corcoran, nursing major from Monroe, received special honors for high scholastic achievement. Other nursing students were Betty Jean Fite, Monroe; Charlotte Foster, Calhoun; and Lila Wolff, West Monroe.

The School of Education had four Ouachita students on the coveted list. They were Beverly Ann Baxter, elementary education; John M. Moore, Jr., upper elementary, both of Monroe; Clyde Birch Fulton, math, West Monroe; and Vashti Elizabeth Ham, home economics, Fairbanks.

SERVICE, PLEASE!

OSKALOOSA, Ia. (UP) — There are days when Jack Craig wonders if he hasn't taught one of his two pointer dogs his lesson too well. He keeps the dogs in a pen at the back of his lot and if he doesn't take their supper to them by 4 p.m. each day the older dog jumps the fence and trots to the house. There, standing on his hind legs, he puts a paw on the button and rings the door bell until he gets his food.

Homestead Tax Exemption Roles To Open Monday

Bert Coverdale, Ouachita Parish tax assessor, announced Saturday that beginning Monday morning, homestead tax exemptions roles for 1956 could be signed in his office.

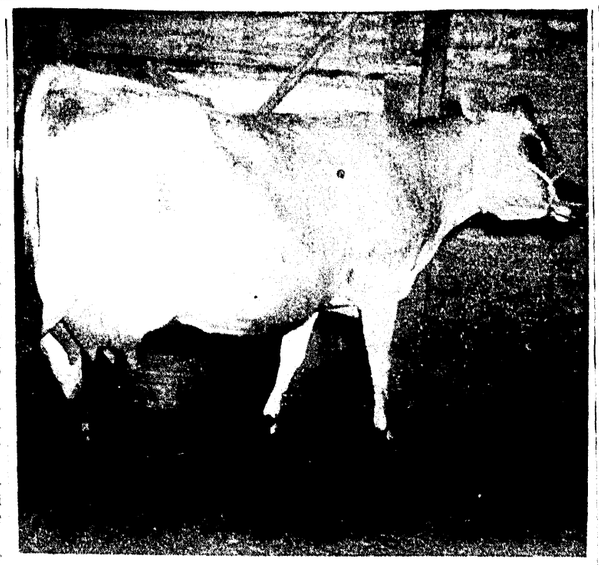

All residents of the Twin City area, including those in wards recently annexed by West Monroe, are required to come to the office of the tax assessor which is in the north wing of the 1st floor of the Ouachita Parish courthouse to sign for exemptions.

Those living in wards outside the city limits should go to the warden of their particular ward. He will have the necessary forms.

Coverdale urged everyone claiming the exemption sign early and avoid the last minute rush. The deadline is April 15.

Coverdale pointed out that the regular homestead exemption is $2,000. Veterans may receive up to $5,000 exemption until 1959.

Tree Surgeon In Critical Condition

SHREVEPORT, La. (UP)— A 25-year-old tree surgeon remained in critical condition today from burns received when a scaffold slipped and plunged him into high tension wires.

The accident occurred as Jack Clark was trimming trees.

Fellow workers watched helplessly as he swung back and forth for 10 minutes, brushing into wires which carried 7,200 volts. The current finally was shut off and he was brought down.

Doctors said he suffered second and third degree burns over his face, arms and legs.

MISSING ELEPHANTS

TRACY, Calif. (UP) — Police are searching for 500 stolen elephants which have disappeared here during the past six months. Mrs. Clifford Harmon of Tracy reported the theft when she discovered her miniature carved elephants, valued at about $3 each, were missing.

JOHN O. ALLEN

Senior Analyst Appointed By Affairs Council

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25—(Special) — The appointment of John Allen as senior research analyst with the Public Affairs Research Council was announced today by Edward J. Steimel, executive director.

Allen comes to the Council from the Utah Foundation in Salt Lake City where he was research analyst. He had previously served as executive secretary of the Greene County Branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League with headquarters at Waynesburg, Pa. He fills a vacancy on the Council's staff.

Steimel said that Allen holds a batchelor's degree in political science from Brigham Young University and has had a year of graduate work in public administration at Wayne University in Detroit under a working fellowship program.

Allen is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity; Pi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary society; and of the Governmental Research Association.

The Public Affairs Research Council is a non-profit, privately supported organization for non-partisan research in government problems in Louisiana.

CAR GIFT

ADRIAN, Mich. (UP) — Carl Shaw of Mosherville hired James Eckert, a former diver for both the Army and Navy, to raise his car from nearby Devils Lake after it plunged through thin ice. He gave the salvaged car to Eckert to pay for the tedious job.

Cities Told To Get Set For 'Copters

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Most cities may not realize it, but if they don't start making plans now they're going to be left out in the cold when the helicopter age arrives, according to Carl Agar, new president of the Helicopter Assn. of America.

Agar said he expects the whirlybird industry to be ready for regularly scheduled commercial flights from airports to downtown areas throughout the country within the next five years.

"And it's imperative that city officials start making their plans immediately for the heliports they're going to need to handle this traffic," he said.

"By 1960 we should have the necessary twin - engine, multi-passenger 'copters perfected to the point that they can be used commercially. Every city is going to want that service. But they won't be able to have it if they don't have the necessary landing and take-off facilities."

Agar, vice president of Okanagan Helicopters, Ltd., at Vancouver, B. C., said cities, "and small towns too," should begin laying plans for their heliports by thinking about financing and allocation of space.

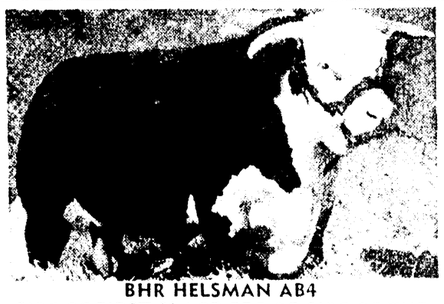

"Otherwise they're going to wake up some day and find the helicopter industry ready for them before they have the facilities available," he said.

Agar said it is "only a matter of time" when most cities will have, "at the very least," helicopters running passengers from airports to downtown and suburban terminals.

"This alreayd is being done in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York," he said. "Eventually it will be commonplace."

Agar added that "this thing will grow so fast, the average city will need room to land helicopters on strategic public buildings, too. Every hospital, for example, should start making plans for a heliport."

Three points to remember!

The Louisiana Forestry Association has designed a program to encourage good forest management practice. As part of a Coast to Coast movement called "tree farming," this fine program is designed to give public recognition to the private timberland owner who has protected and correctly managed his forest for tree years. The management includes protection from fire, insects and disease, selective cutting and reforestation in areas where needed.

The Louisiana Tree Farms System is an intricate part of a nation-wide movement by forestry leaders who believe that through a knowledge of forest management our nation may always enjoy the blessings of adequate forests. They realize that through the practice of good forestry, we may harvest all our timber resources today while providing new crops of trees for tomorrow.

The Louisiana Forestry Association deserves the praise of every citizen of the state. They are providing a much-needed hope, the promise of tomorrow.

Legislature May Hold Key To Gov. Kennon's Future

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The 1956 Legislature of Gov.-designate Earl Long and its impact on the public holds the key to any political plans for challenging U. S. Sen. Russell Long in the July Senate primary.

While outgoing Gov. Robert Kennon has been rather quiet about his future, an administration informant said today public reaction to the performance of the 1956 Legislature may give Kennon a springboard for a possible bid against Sen. Long.

Uncle and nephew were wide apart in the 1952 gubernatorial rivalry, when the senator broke with his uncle to back U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs for the governorship.

It must be remembered that Kennon, while mentioning law practice, has been in public life 30 years as district attorney, appeal judge, Supreme Court justice, governor.

While the Kennon administration tasted bitter defeat Jan. 17 when Kennon's choice, former highway Chairman Fred Preaus, finished third in the bid for governor, Earl Long had to swallow the same kind of medicine only four years earlier.

Political patterns can change, sometimes without warning.

Kennon finished third when Earl Long won the governor's office in 1948. Later this year, Long's nephew, Sen. Long, shoved Kennon aside by a slim margin in a bid for the Senate.

The governor in power sets his administration program in his first Legislature, and the stress and strain of a new administration taking over is felt in that session. The popularity or unpopularity of a new administration is constructed in that first Legislature.

While Kennon reiterates his only plans now call for reopening law offices in Shreveport and his home town, Minden, his lifelong record shows an unending attraction for the political world.

In bedrock political langauage, Kennon will be on "the outside" when he leaves office May 15. Like the judge that he is, his friends report, Kennon will weigh his future steps carefully before making any decision.

The governor has no comment now on whether he holds future political hopes. All during his term in office, however, he has avoided talk about what he might do.

The presidential sweepstakes will become an important factor in the Louisiana Senate race. While Kennon was for Eisenhower, both Earl and Russell Long rode with Adlai Stevenson.

Man Catches Wife Atop Miss. Bridge

NEW ORLEANS — UP — A jobless New York man was forced to chase his overwrought wife high atop the middle span of the Mississippi river bridge here after she jumped from the family car while the couple were enroute to Texas.

State police said the woman apparently suffered a nervous breakdown shortly after midnight today.

Robert Drew, 27, who said he was driving his family from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to San Antonio, Tex., where he intends to look for employment, said his young wife didn't try to leap from the span.

He told officers he chased and caught his wife and returned her to the car where the couple's two children were sleeping in the back seat.

Legislature May Hold Key To Gov. Kennon's Future

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The 1956 Legislature of Gov.-designate Earl Long and its impact on the public holds the key to any political plans for challenging U. S. Sen. Russell Long in the July Senate primary.

While outgoing Gov. Robert Kennon has been rather quiet about his future, an administration informant said today public reaction to the performance of the 1956 Legislature may give Kennon a springboard for a possible bid against Sen. Long.

And the Longs are a tightly knit political unit, after Sen. Long patched up a quarrel with Uncle Earl by giving his support this time to Earl Long's successful campaign for governor.

Uncle and nephew were wide apart in the 1952 gubernatorial rivalry, when the senator broke with his uncle to back U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs for the governorship.

It must be remembered that Kennon, while mentioning law practice, has been in public life 30 years as district attorney, appeal judge, Supreme Court justice, governor.

While the Kennon administration tasted bitter defeat Jan. 17 when Kennon's choice, former highway Chairman Fred Preaus, finished third in the bid for governor, Earl Long had to swallow the same kind of medicine only four years earlier.

Political patterns can change, sometimes without warning.

The Longs have humbled Kennon three times, and Kennon won a round against the politically powerful Longs.

Kennon finished third when Earl Long won the governor's office in 1948. Later this year, Long's nephew, Sen. Long, shoved Kennon aside by a slim margin in a bid for the Senate.

The governor in power sets his administration program in his first Legislature, and the stress and strain of a new administration taking over is felt in that session. The popularity or unpopularity of a new administration is constructed in that first Legislature.

Kennon had his moments of glory in the 1952 Legislature, and he had his troubles, particularly in dealing with patronage.

While Kennon reiterates his only plans now call for reopening law offices in Shreveport and his home town, Minden, his lifelong record shows an unending attraction for the political world.

In bedrock political langauage, Kennon will be on "the outside" when he leaves office May 15. Like the judge that he is, his friends report, Kennon will weigh his future steps carefully before making any decision.

The governor has no comment now on whether he holds future political hopes. All during his term in office, however, he has avoided talk about what he might do.

The presidential sweepstakes will become an important factor in the Louisiana Senate race. While Kennon was for Eisenhower, both Earl and Russell Long rode with Adlai Stevenson.

Man Catches Wife Atop Miss. Bridge

NEW ORLEANS — UP — A jobless New York man was forced to chase his overwrought wife high atop the middle span of the Mississippi river bridge here after she jumped from the family car while the couple were enroute to Texas.

State police said the woman apparently suffered a nervous breakdown shortly after midnight today.

Robert Drewy, 27, who said he was driving his family from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to San Antonio, Tex., where he intends to look for employment, said his young wife didn't try to leap from the span.

He told officers he chased and caught his wife and returned her to the car where the couple's two children were sleeping in the back seat.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

This Male Likes Tall Girls; Favors Long Hair, Heels

A male reader says, "The tall girl of my dreams will carry herself like a Queen, let her hair fall on her shoulders a little and wear high-heeled shoes."

Once in a while I let you have a look at some of my "Why Grow Old?" mail. I do this because I receive so many interesting letters from readers and they reflect problems which are more or less universal so far as the feminine part of the population is concerned.

The following is taken from a letter from a masculine reader:

"I read with great interest your article in this morning's paper about tall girls. I for one have always wondered why a tall girl should be self-conscious. If she maintains good posture she need not worry about being attractive.

"I also wonder where these tall gals get the idea that they have to run around in shoes with heels that almost let them feet scrape the pavement.

Walk Like Queen

"The tall girl of my dreams will carry herself like a Queen, let her hair fall on her shoulders a little and wear high heeled shoes. Please Mrs. Lowman, get our girl back in high heels and with long hair on their heads."

Well, here you have one man's view. As I often have written in this column, the only way in which more-than-average-height can affect a girl adversely is if it makes her self-conscious.

This in turn may make her slump in order to look shorter and may cause her to wear all sorts of unattractive clothes because of rules she has heard about how to look shorter. For instance, she may wear skirt lengths just below the knees with the idea that this will cut her height. It simply makes her look awkward — all legs.

A tall woman should wear her skirts at mid calf, which is the most flattering length for any figure. There are certain suggestions which will make her look shorter. For instance, anything which breaks the straight up and down impression such as horizontal trimming or lines and different colors in tops and skirts or any irregular or zigzag lines or breaks in color will help do the trick.

If this man's letter is proof it seems that men still like their women feminine and in high heels even when they are tall.

TV Notes

The first cut frees [illegible] still causes an occasional [illegible] in TV. Movie star Kim Novak, who looks well in such, showed up for "What's My Line?" wearing one that the producer decided was just too revelatory. They got another dress from her hotel suite just in time for her to go on the air.

William Bendix felt right at home playing a policeman in "Kyria Kashio" on a recent NBC "TV Playhouse" program. It was in such a role that he got to be big break more than 15 years ago when he was a copper in the Broadway production of William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life."

The CBS "Climax" program March 8 will consist of a dramatization on film columnist Louella Parsons' autobiography, "The Gay Literate," with a number of movie personalities appearing as themselves.

The girl who is all-around assistant to Will Rogers Jr., on the new CBS "Good Morning!" program is Pamela Good, winner over 30 candidates in an audition. She is five-foot, brunette, hazel eyes. From Boston, worked in TV in Palm Beach, Fla., and Charleston, W. Va.

A cross-country search for performers of "Talent Scouts" on CBS is going to be launched soon by Arthur Godfrey. His representatives will audition performers on their home grounds.

Mary Jane Croft is the radio and television actress who "voices" Cleo, the talking basset hound on Jackie Cooper's "The People's Choice" program.

Art Carney's next relaxation from his duties as Jackie Gleason's funny sidekick will come on March 16 when he plays the leading role in "The Man Who Was Irresistible to Women" on the "Star Stage" program on NBC.

Kim Hunter, dramatic actress who has a movie Oscar, will sing for the first time in her acting career on Feb. 29 when she stars in a "U. S. Steel Hour" play, "Moments to Remember."

The date for the third and last of the series of programs about the U.S. Constitution on "Omnibus" is March 4.

Record Reviews

Popular Records

Pianist - composer Jack Shaindlin has come forth with an off-beat album that will evoke many pleasant memories from those who were movie fans in the old flicker days.

It's called "Silent Movie Music" and is on the Coral label. If you're old enough to remember the piano player beating out a furious background to a silent movie chase then this is a must album for your record collection.

And if you're too young to remember but still have a sense of humor and an ability to visualize through sound, you'll enjoy "Silent Movie Music."

Tops in Sound — "The Hi-Fi Nightingale" by Caterina Valente, 12 songs that show off the amazing voice of a new recording star (Decca) and "Arthur Smith Special," (M-G-M), a dozen guitar numbers, with band, that lend living - room realism.

Tops in pops — "Rustic Old Cathedral" by Eddy Howard (Mercury), "Innamorata" by Dean Martin (Capitol) and "The Bitter With the Sweet" by Billy Eckstine (RCA-Victor).

Top interest, a concentration of design on the upper portion of the body, makes the rounded, natural bustline more important. This lifted, more subtly shaped bustline is part of the Empire line. Watch this in your bra.

South, Pass; West, Pass.

Opening lead: Eight of hearts.

It took a neat bit of teamwork on the part of East and West in today's hand to defeat South's contract of three no trump, which had been reached in easy stages.

West was not deterred from leading hearts by the circumstance that North had made a one over one response in that suit. A certain number of contemporary players, in responding at the one level, shade the requirements for a biddable suit down to almost the vanishing point.

When the dummy played low, East, employing the rule of 11, played the ten which held the trick. Subtracting the size of the card led from 11 leaves three, the number of cards held by North, East and South combined that could beat the eight. Since all three were in plain view, the ten must hold the trick. East cashed the ace of hearts and got out with a club. Dummy won with the queen and the king of spades was played. East took the ace and returned another club. South now had eight tricks, and the only hope for the ninth was to establish a long diamond.

However, he could not afford to let West in to cash the third heart as the defenders would then have three hearts, a spade and a diamond. He tried to prevent this by leading toward the king in dummy, intending to pass a trick into East. West, however, carefully put in the ten, which forced the king. East now entered the scene. He reasoned that if West had the J-10 of diamonds alone, declarer could not be prevented from picking up the suit in two leads. If West had the jack, ten and a small diamond, it would be mandatory to get out of his way. On the king of diamonds, East, therefore, played the queen. Declarer returned to the ace of diamonds and played a third round but West got in to cash the setting trick.

Note that if East had thoughtlessly played the four on the first diamond lead, declarer would continue the suit and permit East to hold the queen, thus establishing the long diamond for the ninth trick.

Art In Review

Uccello's "Saint George Killing the Dragon" is one of the rarest jewels even in such a unique and priceless collection as that which the Wildenstein Gallery has on loan from the Jacquemart-Andre Museum in Paris.

The picture was done around 1456 when Uccello was nearing his 60's.

The investigation of perspective was the life hobby of this great Florentine master. He established its rules, but did not apply them too methodically in his paintings.

In his "Saint George," the hero, his horse and the dragon in the foreground are perfectly modeled in three - dimensional space; the beautiful lady cleodolinda is painted flat, probably in order to hush every sensuous allusion. As usual, Uccello's great preoccupation with mathematical and geometrical exactitude and the odd, unexpected gestures of his dream-world, delightful protagonists make the whole scene look like a play of marionettes rather than a real life and death struggle.

The foreground remains perspectively unconnected with the rest of the painting. In the middle and backgrounds linear perspective is applied, but not with great consequence (the figures are diminishing in size toward the background, but the parallels do not converge).

In fact, the role of perspective is here somewhat ambiguous. The alleys and fields lead the eye not only toward the modern "vanishing point" of linear perspective; they also lead the mind — a medieval idea — toward the future, namely toward the abbot of the monastery who is going to baptize the entire city of Beirut as a consequence of St. George's feat.

It is obvious that, though enamored by perspective, Uccello did not make it the over-all principle upon which to build his pantings. Yet because his theme is a legend and features a miracle where everything is possible and life's routine reality has no place whatsoever and because everything is unified spiritually by Uccello's child-like faith and refreshing naivete, we accept every contradiction as we do in fairy tales.

But however much we admire his artistry and his spirit, we cannot fail to recognize that — unlike his great contemporaries — he had not the intellectual power to integrate his important technical inventions into the frame of the modern world conception of the unfolding Renaissance. He is like a child who finds the key to a treasure vault and uses it as a toy.

'WATCH THE BIRDIE'—And Clifford Brown of Los Angeles, did. When his pet parakeet finally landed on Uncle Bill's glasses, he fired away. His photo notes reveal he shot at 1/50th at f 11 with a number 5 bulb, bounced off the ceiling.

Small Memo Pad Will Help

AP Newsfeatures

A personal photo notebook, small enough to be kept in a guy's pocket or a gal's pocket-book at all times, would be a helpful item for camera fans. In it should be recorded all useful information usually trusted to memory or written on scraps of paper which soon disappear. It would be also a permanent memo as pictures are taken telling how, when, where and who.

I've found that a pocketbook diary is about the right size and is handier for quick notations and easy reference where dates are a major factor, as they are with me. Its disadvantage is that the space alloted for each date is too small for extensive notes.

Many photographers, and all beginners, should make written memos of their exposure data where conditions are the least bit unusual. It is something that should be referred to when prints are finished and the results are studied. It is the best way to see where mistakes were made in exposure and what to avoid in the future under similar conditions. This is especially true in flash photography where the important factor to watch and check is the distance from the flashlamp to the subject.

In this connection, it's interesting to note that news photographers think and talk of their pictures as ". . .a 6-foot, a 10-foot or a 20-foot shot, etc." That's because they know from past experience the proper exposure combination of lens opening and speed setting for the particular film and flashlamp they are using.

A camera fan's written notes of his shooting data are a permanent shortcut to experience if they are studied later with the picture results and then applied to future shooting. Minor allowances have to be made for brighter or darker settings or clothes for later perfection by adjusting the lens one-half stop. For brighter settings, close the lens that much; for darker settings, open it.

When checking black-and-white prints, always refer to the original negatives as well. Eventually, you should learn to "read" negatives as well as a finished print. In many cases, prints alone are misleading. They may represent extreme darkroom craftsmanship in correcting under or over-exposed negatives. By studying negatives, you could change your shooting to correct such errors. By looking only at prints, you might continue making mistakes in exposure without being aware of it.

Explorers have been crisscrossing the Canadian Far North for nearly 400 years, but they have barely begun to plumb the secrets of its vast territories — more than 1,500,000 square miles of contradictions, where forestland, semi-arid plains and frozen wastes share the same parallel of latitude and where temperatures in one area may range from 90 degrees in the summer shade to 70 below in the wintry storm.

The Mysterious North (Knopf) records the knowledge and personal impressions accumulated on recent journeys by Pierre Berton, managing editor of Maclean's Magazine. He was born in the fabled Yukon and never misses an opportunity to revisit his native Northland. Berton has seen the North from planes, trains, automobiles and riverboats, and he probably knows it as well as any man who has not made the "top of the map" his career.

It is a land of feast and famine, where every present-day boomtown has a ghost town to remind it that good fortune is liable to be temporary in the remote Arctic and sub-Artic.

For years, the North has been known to be rich in fur, oil, uranium, gold, and base metals. The uneasy political climate of the mid-20th century has made it valuable for two of its dimensions —space and time. One of the North's currently most bustling enterprises, the Canadian-American Distant Early Warning radar screen, is designed to exploit these treasures.

The Mysterious North is a comprehensive and well-written report on North America's last frontier, where vast wealth lies within the reach of almost any man — if he can devise a practical way to exporting it to the world outside. . .

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

This Male Likes Tall Girls; Favors Long Hair, Heels

A male reader says, "The tall girl of my dreams will carry herself like a Queen, let her hair fall on her shoulders a little and wear high-heeled shoes."

Once in a while I let you have a look at some of my "Why Grow Old?" mail. I do this because I receive so many interesting letters from readers and they reflect problems which are more or less universal so far as the feminine part of the population is concerned.

The following is taken from a letter from a masculine reader:

"I read with great interest your article in this morning's paper about tall girls. I for one have always wondered why a tall girl should be self-conscious. If she maintains good posture she need not worry about being attractive.

"I also wonder where these tall gals get the idea that they have to run around in shoes with heels that almost let their feet scrape the pavement.

Walk Like Queen

"The tall girl of my dreams will carry herself like a Queen, let her hair fall on her shoulders a little and wear high heeled shoes. Please, Mrs. Lowman, get our girls back in high heels and with longer hair on their heads."

Well, here you have one man's view! As I often have written in this column, the only way in which more-than-average-height can affect a girl adversely is if it makes her self-conscious.

This in turn may make her slump in order to look shorter and may cause her to wear all sorts of unattractive clothes because of rules she has heard about how to look shorter. For instance, she may wear skirt lengths just below the knees with the idea that this will cut her height. It simply makes her look awkward — all legs.

A tall woman should wear her skirts at mid calf, which is the most flattering length for any figure. There are certain suggestions which will make her look shorter. For instance, anything which breaks the straight up and down impression such as horizontal trimming or lines and different colors in tops and skirts, or any irregular or zigzag lines or breaks in color will help do the trick.

If this man's letter is proof it seems that men still like their women feminine and in high heels even when they are tall.

MUSIC

White horses can be taken as symbols of the ever - increasing emphasis on "good theatre" at the Metropolitan Opera. The white horses were used in a new production of "Der Rosenkavalier."

But they were used quite incidentally. The audience glimpsed them through the great windows of a palace, drawing the carriage in which Octavian was arriving for the presentation of the silver rose.

This is not the place to describe Baron Ochs' lecherous gestures toward Octavian while the latter was in the guise of a flirtatious lady's maid. But, like the horses, they contributed their bits of detail to the whole illusion of realness which is "good theatre."

Musically this new "Der Rosenkavalier" lacked in nothing. Indeed, Rudolf Kempe, the conductor, produced such a welding of musical expression to the action and the sentiment on the stage that you realized more than ever what an exceedingly fine opera this opera is. So many conductors never get some part of it off the printed score.

But most impressive was the casting. In every part was an individual who combined musicality and characterizing skill in most exceptional degree. Otto Edelmann's Baron Ochs stood out, perhaps because you have been a little disappointed by his lukewarm Hans Sachs in "Die Meistersinger."

Lisa Della Casa a relatively new personality at the Met, sang and played the part of the Princess with emotional fulfillment which left the listener - watcher glowing. Rise Stevens' Octavian is so well known it scarcely merits comment beyond a notation that it grows more polished with the seasons.

TV Notes

The low cut dress still causes an occasional crisis in TV. Movie star Kim Novak, who looks well in such, showed up for "What's My Line?" wearing one that the producer decided was just too revelatory. They got another dress from her hotel suite just in time for her to go on the air.

William Bendix felt right at home playing a policeman in "Kyria Katina" on a recent NBC "TV Playhouse" program. It was in such a role that he got is big break more than 15 years ago when he was a copper in the Broadway production of William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life."

The CBS "Climax" program March 8 will consist of a dramatization of film columnist Louella Parsons' autobiography, "The Gay Illiterate," with a number of movie personalities appearing as themselves.

The girl who is all-around assistant to Will Rogers Jr., on the new CBS "Good Morning!" program is Pamela Good, winner over 30 candidates in an audition. She is five-four; brunette, hazel eyes. From Boston; worked in TV in Palm Beach, Fla., and Charleston, W. Va.

A cross-country search for performers of "Talent Scouts" on CBS is going to be launched soon by Arthur Godfrey. His representatives will audition performers on their home grounds.

Mary Jane Croft is the radio and television actress who "voices" Cleo, the talking basset hound on Jackie Cooper's "The People's Choice" program.

Art Carney's next relaxation from his duties as Jackie Gleason's funny sidekick will come on March 16 when he plays the leading role in "The Man Who Was Irresistible to Women" on the "Star Stage" program on NBC.

Kim Hunter, dramatic actress who has a movie Oscar, will sing for the first time in her acting career on Feb. 29 when she stars in a "U. S. Steel Hour" play, "Moments to Remember."

The date for the third and last of the series of programs about the U.S. Constitituion on "Omnibus" is March 4.

Record Reviews

Popular Records

Pianist - composer Jack Shaindlin has come forth with an off-beat album that will evoke many pleasant memories from those who were movie fans in the old flicker days.

It's called "Silent Movie Music" and is on the Coral label. If you're old enough to remember the piano player beating out a furious background to a silent movie chase then this is a must album for your record collection.

And if you're too young to remember but still have a sense of humor and an ability to visualize through sound, you'll enjoy "Silent Movie Music."

Tops in Sound — "The Hi-Fi Nightingale" by Caterina Valente, 12 songs that show off the amazing voice of a new recording star (Decca) and "Arthur Smith Specials" (M-G-M), a dozen guitar numbers, with band, that lend living - room realism.

Tops in pops — "Rustic Old Cathedral" by Eddy Howard (Mercury), "Innamorata" by Dean Martin (Capitol) and "The Bitter With the Sweet" by Billy Eckstine (RCA-Victor).

Top interest, a concentration of design on the upper portion of the body, makes the rounded, natural bustline more important. This lifted, more subtly shaped bustline is part of the Empire line. Watch this in your bra.

Opening lead: Eight of hearts.

It took a neat bit of teamwork on the part of East and West in today's hand to defeat South's contract of three no trump, which had been reached in easy stages.

West was not deterred from leading hearts by the circumstance that North had made a one over one response in that suit. A certain number of contemporary players, in responding at the one level, shade the requirements for a biddable suit down to almost the vanishing point.

When the dummy played low, East, employing the rule of 11, played the ten which held the trick. Subtracting the size of the card led from 11 leaves three, the number of cards held by North, East and South combined that could beat the eight. Since all three were in plain view, the ten must hold the trick. East cashed the ace of hearts and got out with a club. Dummy won with the queen and the king of spades was played. East took the ace and returned another club. South now had eight tricks, and the only hope for the ninth was to establish a long diamond.

However, he could not afford to let West in to cash the third heart as the defenders would then have three hearts, a spade and a diamond. He tried to prevent this by leading toward the king in dummy, intending to pass a trick into East. West, however, carefully put in the ten, which forced the king. East now entered the scene. He reasoned that if West had the J-10 of diamonds alone, declarer could not be prevented from picking up the suit in two leads. If West had the jack, ten and a small diamond, it would be mandatory to get out of his way. On the king of diamonds, East, therefore, played the queen. Declarer returned to the ace of diamonds and played a third round but West got in to cash the setting trick.

Note that if East had thoughtlessly played the four on the first diamond lead, declarer would continue the suit and permit East to hold the queen, thus establishing the long diamond for the ninth trick.

Art In Review

Uccello's "Saint George Killing the Dragon" is one of the rarest jewels even in such a unique and priceless collection as that which the Wildenstein Gallery has on loan from the Jacquemart-Andre Museum in Paris.

The picture was done around 1456 when Uccello was nearing his 60's.

The investigation of perspective was the life hobby of this great Florentine master. He established its rules, but did not apply them too methodically in his paintings.

In his "Saint George," the hero, his horse and the dragon in the foreground are perfectly modeled in three - dimensional space: the beautiful lady cleodolinda is painted flat, probably in order to hush every sensuous allusion. As usual, Uccello's great preoccupation with mathematical and geometrical exactitude and the odd, unexpected gestures of his dream-world, delightful protagonists make the whole scene look like a play of marionettes rather than a real life and death struggle.

The foreground remains perspectively unconnected with the rest of the painting. In the middle and backgrounds linear perspective is applied, but not with great consequence (the figures are diminishing in size toward the background, but the parallels do not converge).

In fact, the role of perspective is here somewhat ambiguous. The alleys and fields lead the eye not only toward the modern "vanishing point" of linear perspective; they also lead the mind — a medieval idea — toward the future, namely toward the abbot of the monastery who is going to baptize the entire city of Beirut as a consequence of St. George's feat.

It is obvious that, though enamored by perspective, Uccello did not make it the over-all principle upon which to build his pantings. Yet because his theme is a legend and features a miracle where everything is possible and life's routine reality has no place whatsoever and because everything is unified spiritually by Uccello's child-like faith and refreshing naivete, we accept every contradiction as we do in fairy tales.

But however much we admire his artistry and his spirit, we cannot fail to recognize that — unlike his great contemporaries — he had not the intellectual power to integrate his important technical inventions into the frame of the modern world conception of the unfolding Renaissance. He is like a child who finds the key to a treasure vault and uses it as a toy.

CAMERA NEWS

Small Memo Pad Will Help

AP Newsfeatures

A personal photo notebook, small enough to be kept in a guy's pocket or a gal's pocket-book at all times, would be a helpful item for camera fans. In it should be recorded all useful information usually trusted to memory or written on scraps of paper which soon disappear. It would be also a permament memo as pictures are taken telling how, when, where and who.

I've found that a pocketbook diary is about the right size and is handier for quick notations and easy reference where dates are a major factor, as they are with me. I's disadvantage is that the space alloted for each date is too small for extensive notes.

Many photographers, and all beginners, should make written memos of their exposure data where conditions are the least bit unusual. It is something that should be referred to when prints are finished and the results are studied. It is the best way to see where mistakes were made in exposure and what to avoid in the future under similar conditions. This is especially true in flash photography where the important factor to watch and check is the distance from the flashlamp to the subject.

In this connection, it's intereting to note that news photographers think and talk of their pictures as ". . .a 6-foot, a 10-foot or a 20-foot shot, etc." That's because they know from past experience the proper exposure combination of lens opening and speed setting for the particular film and flashlamp they are using.

A camera fan's written notes of his shooting data are a permanent shortcut to experience if they are studied later with the picture results and then applied to future shooting. Minor allowances have to be made for brighter or darker settings or clothes for later perfection by adjusting the lens one-half stop. For brighter settings, close the lens that much; for darker settings, open it.

When checking black-and-white prints, always refer to the original negatives as well. Eventually, you should learn to "read" negatives as well as a finished print. In many cases, prints alone are misleading. They may represent extreme darkroom craftsmanship in correcting under or over-exposed negatives. By studying negatives, you could change your shooting to correct such errors. By looking only at prints, you might continue making mistakes in exposure without being aware of it.

Explorers have been crisscrossing the Canadian Far North for nearly 400 years, but they have barely begun to plumb the secrets of its vast territories — more than 1,500,000 square miles of contradictions, where forestland, semi-arid plains and frozen wastes share the same parallel of latitude and where temperatures in one area may range from 90 degrees in the summer shade to 70 below in the wintry storm.

The Mysterious North (Knopf) records the knowledge and personal impressions accumulated on recent journeys by Pierre Berton, managing editor of Maclean's Magazine. He was born in the fabled Yukon and never misses an opportunity to revisit his native Northland. Berton has seen the North from planes, trains, automobiles and riverboats, and he probably knows it as well as any man who has not made the "top of the map" his career.

It is a land of feast and famine, where every present-day boomtown has a ghost town to remind it that good fortune is liable to be temporary in the remote Arctic and sub-Artic.

For years, the North has been known to be rich in fur, oil, uranium, gold, and base metals. The uneasy political climate of the mid-20th century has made it valuable for two of its dimensions —space and time. One of the North's currently most bustling enterprises, the Canadian-American Distant Early Warning radar screen, is designed to exploit these treasures.

The Mysterious North is a comprehensive and well-written report on North America's last frontier, where vast wealth lies within the reach of almost any man — if he can devise a practical way to exporting it to the world outside. . .

Eduard Franz as an Indian chief, and Kirk Douglas as a scout and guard, have top roles in "The Indian Fighter," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre. The picture was filmed in CinemaScope and printed in Technicolor.

Kirk Douglas Stars In 'The Indian Fighter'

"The Indian Fighter," starring Kirk Douglas in the title role, also marks Kirk's bow as an independent producer. Bryna Productions, sponsor of the film, is Kirk's own company.

A stirring yarn of covered wagons in the bloody Indian wars of the 1870's, "The Indian Fighter" was filmed in CinemaScope and color on location the wilds of Oregon. Co-starred with Kirk are Walter Matthau, Walter Abel and Elsa Martinelli, beautiful 20-year-old Italian discovery who makes her film debut as, of all unlikely things, an Indian princess. The large featured cast of "The Indian Fighter," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release, includes such players as Lon Chaney, Eduard Franz, Alan Hale, Elisha Cook and Ray Teal.

William Schorr was the producer of "The Indian Fighter" and Andre de Toth directed. The original story was by Ben Kadish, and the screenplay was written by Frank Davis and Ben Hecht. Wilfrid M. Cline was director of photography; Franz Waxman conducted the musical score; and special songs were composed for the picture by Irving Gordon.

Following the current Hollywood fashion of filming on location, "The Indian Fighter" was shot in its entirety in the actual Oregon Trail site of its story.

The two women who vie for Kirk's affections in "The Indian Fighter" are Diana Douglas and Elsa Martinelli. Miss Martinelli is an import from Italy. Miss Douglas is Kirk's ex-wife. A top fashion model in Rome and New York, the twenty-year-old, beautiful Elsa Martinelli makes her acting debut in "The Indian Fighter" in the role of Onahti, daughter of an Indian chieftan. Diana Douglas plays the role of a widow with designs on Kirk. She was signed for the role as Kirk put it — "ex-wife or not, because she's a darn good actress and perfect for the part."

Walter Abel, distinguished stage, screen and television star, plays the role of Captain Trask, commander of a regiment of U. S. Cavalry; Eduard Franz, one of Hollywood's best portrayers of aboriginal Americans (despite the fact that he is of French and German descent) is seen in "The Indian Fighter" as Chief Red Cloud; and Walter Matthau, Lon Chaney, Alan Hale, Frank Cady and Harry Landers play an assortment of villains, redskinned and white.

Academy Awards

HOLLYWOOD, February 25 — Did you pick them? The nominees for Academy Awards? The Academy membership will start voting March 2 for best actor and best actress for 1955, and will end the selection effort March 17. The Oscars will be awarded March 21 at RKO Pantages theater in Hollywood. Votes will be cast for the best actress among these gals: Susan Hayward, in "I'll Cry Tomorrow;" Katharine Hepburn in "Summertime;" Jennifer Jones in "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing;" Anna Magnani in "The Rose Tattoo;" and Eleanor Parker, in "Interrupted Melody."

For the best actor: Ernest Borgnine in "Marty"; James Cagney, in "Love Me or Leave Me"; James Dean in "East of Eden"; Frank Sinatra in "The Man With the Golden Arm," and Spencer Tracy in "Bad Day at Black Rock." For the best picture these will be among the top contenders: "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," "Marty," "The Rose Tattoo," "Picnic" and "The Blackboard Jungle."

The exciting custom of awarding motion picture Oscars was initiated in 1927-1928. To win one of the tokens is a signal honor, and the ambition of every movie artist. Let's go down the years and see what personalities have risen to the heights: 1927-1928, Emil Jannings and Janet Gaynor; 1928-1929, Warner Baxter and Mary Pickford; 1929-1930, George Arliss and Norma Shearer; 1930-1931, Lionel Barrymore and Marie Dressler; 1931-1932, Fredric March and Helen Hayes; 1932-1933, Charles Laughton and Katharine Hepburn.

Seventh Year, 1934, Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert; eighth year, 1935, Victor McLaglen and Bette Davis; 1936, Paul Muni and Luise Rainer; 1938, Spencer Tracy and Bette Davis; 1939, Robert Donat and Vivien Leigh; 1940, James Stewart and Ginger Rogers; 1941, Gary Cooper and Joan Fontaine; 1942, James Cagney and Greer Garson; 1943, Paul Lukas and Jennifer Jones; 1944, Bing Crosby and Ingrid Bergman; 1945, Ray Milland and Joan Crawford.

Nineteenth year, 1946, Fredric March and Olivia de Havilland; 1947, Ronald Colman and Loretta Young; 1948, Laurence Olivier and Jane Wyman; 1949, Broderick Crawford and Olivia de Havilland; 1950, Jose Ferrer and Judy Holliday; 1951, Humphrey Bogart and Vivien Leigh; 1952, Gary Cooper and Shirley Booth; 1953, William Holden and Audrey Hepburn; 1954, Marlon Brando and Grace Kelly.

Who'll pick up the Oscars for 1955?

George Seaton, president of the Academy, is urging the film industry to sponsor the telecast of the awards after this year. The cost for the national distribution will approximate $800,000. . . . Jerry Lewis will emcee the big event. . . . Jack Benny has just celebrated (what's this?) his 62nd birthday. He and Bing Crosby went golfing before birthday cake time. . . . Dean Martin and estranged wife, Jean, have been horseback riding together. That, to me, indicates a reconciliation may be in the making. . . . John Derek and wife, Patti, are still struggling with problems of property settlement. John wants the attorney's fees for Patti to be reduced. But John, I'm told, continues to date Ursula Andress, who is asking the Immigration Department for an extension of her working permit. . . . I hear that Geordie Hormel who not too long ago was divorced from Leslie Caron, has asked Vikki Dougan a beautiful model, to tie the knot with him. . . . The romance of Jean Pierre Aumont, the French star and Marissa Pavan is warming up. Jean Pierre is going to Australia soon and will not be here for the Oscar Awards March 21, where Marissa will be awaiting announcement of the best supporting actresses. She's one of the nominees. . . .

Betty Lee, former Miss Texas in a national beauty contest, has told friends she's engaged to Fernando Casanova, Mexican actor. She as been visiting him in Mexico City. . . . Nora Haymes, ex-wife of Dick Haymes, fell in her home and chipped an elbowbone. . . . Jayne Mansfield, I hear, has been very sick in New York. . . . Ginger Rogers and French husband, Jacques Bergerac, have been invited to the Cannes film festival—among the first to be so honored. . . . Two-some: Jeff Hunter and Rita Moreno. . . .

Apparently the reconciliation of the Cameron Mitchells is working. They're going to Hawaii together on a vacation. . . . Robert Mitchum as just emerged from a flu attack, and is now in Gotham for conversations with Sheldon Reynolds on "Foreign Intrigue," which they produced in Europe. . . . Grace Kelly's parents have returned to their home in Philadelphia after several weeks in Honolulu and Hollywood.

STAMPS

Ardent U.S. collectors will have a field day when the Fifth International Philatelic Exhibition is held in the New York Coliseum April 28 to May 6. The date also marks the opening of the magnificient new exhibition center.

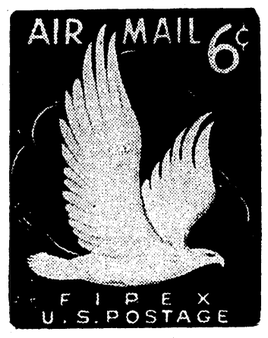

Four philatelic items will be issued — an 11 cent souvenir sheet on April 28, a 3-cent commemorative stamp on April 30, a 6-cent air mail embossed envelope and a 2-cent commemorative postal card.

The 11-cent souvenir sheet shows enlarged reproductions of the 3-cent purple and the 8-cent red and blue Statue of Liberty stamps. The sheet will be in red, blue and purple and will also bear the signature of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

First day collectors may send their addressed envelopes with remittance (11 cents for each) to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y. prior to April 28. Because of the size of the sheet, the address should be placed in the extreme lower left corner of the envelope.

The 3-cent FIPEX commemorative features a likeness of the New York Coliseum with the Columbus Monument in the foreground. First day collectors should send their addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., with money order remittances. The outside envelope should be endorsed "First Day Covers 3-cent stamp." The date for this one, remember, is April 30.

The 6-cent embossed air mail stamped envelope will have a stamp bearing an artist's conception of an American eagle in flight forming a silhouette against the clouds. The stamp will be red and the lettering and eagle white.

Collectors wishing first day cancellations should send their orders to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., for a reasonable number of stamped envelopes, plainly indicating full name and address. The remittance to cover the cost is seven cents for each. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 6-cent Envelope." The release date is May 2.

The 2-cent postal card, which goes on first day sale May 4, will conform in dimension and style to the present 2-cent postal card except for the stamp. The stamp itself is an equitateral triangle pointing upward. The color is magenta and blue and the central design depicts the arm of the Statue of Liberti holding the torch of liberty.

Orders for first day cancelations of the 2-cent card should be sent to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., for a reasonable number of cards, plainly indicating full name and address.

It will greatly aid the Postmaster is servicing these covers if separate orders and separate remittances are sent for each item.

Jack Palance Heads Star Cast As 'Big Knife' Hero

It used to be, in Hollywood, that a hero was a hero and a villain a villain, and between the two was an invisible barrier that could never be breeched. But these days, dramaturgy is subtler and casting more liberal, with the result that actors cross and recross the line between virtue and vice with increasing frequency and ease.

The latest of these trans-morality travelers is Jack Palance, who made his reputation as a film scoundrel and now, in "The Big Knife," plays the role of a movie-idol hero. This, in the parlance of the trade, is known as "the big switcheroo."

Palance co - stars in "The Big Knife" with Ida Lupino, Wendell Corey, Jean Hagen, Rod Stieger and Shelley Winters. The featured cast is headed by Everett Sloane, Ilka Chase, Paul Langton, and Wesley Addy. An adaptation of Clifford Odets' controversial Broadway hit about the lives and loves of Hollywood's stars, "The Big Knife" opens today at the Jim Theatre through United Artists release. Robert Aldrich was producer and director of the film.

After college—in which Palance hal dabbled in dramatics — he decided to become an actor. After the usual and largely unvarying vicisitudes that beset young aspirants to the drama, he got his first break. He was chosen as a temporary replacement for Marlon Brando when Brando became ill during the run of "Streetcar Named Desire." The man who chose him, Elia Kazan, remembered him when he needed a menace for "Panic in the Streets," and thus Jack Palance made his Hollywood debut.

After a second role in "Halls of Montezuma," Palance returned to Broadway and was a smash success in the Broadway stage version of Koestler's "Darkness at Noon." He was summoned back to Hollywood, where he appeared in "Shane," and "Sudden Fear," and with those two pictures he won successive Academy Award nominations. It took him exactly two years to make the jump from unknown to one of Hollywood's most - sought - after leading men.

There have been an annual average of 3,800,000 babies a year in the United States since the end of World War I.

Who'll pick up the Oscars for 1955?

George Seaton, president of the Academy, is urging the film industry to sponsor the telecast of the awards after this year. The cost for the national distribution will approximate $800,000. . . . Jerry Lewis will emcee the big event. . . . Jack Benny has just celebrated (what's this?) his 62nd birthday. He and Bing Crosby went golfing before birthday cake time. . . . Dean Martin and estranged wife, Jean, have been horseback riding together. That, to me, indicates a reconciliation may be in the making. . . . John Derek and wife, Patti, are still struggling with problems of property settlement. John wants the attorney's fees for Patti to be reduced. But John, I'm told, continues to date Ursula Andress, who is asking the Immigration Department for an extension of her working permit. . . . I hear that Geordie Hormel who not too long ago was divorced from Leslie Caron, has asked Vikki Dougan a beautiful model, to tie the knot with him. . . . The romance of Jean Pierre Aumont, the French star and Marissa Pavan is warming up. Jean Pierre is going to Australia soon and will not be here for the Oscar Awards March 21, where Marissa will be awaiting announcement of the best supporting actresses. She's one of the nominees. . . .

Betty Lee, former Miss Texas in a national beauty contest, has told friends she's engaged to Fernando Casanova, Mexican actor. She as been visiting him in Mexico City. . . . Nora Haymes, ex-wife of Dick Haymes, fell in her home and chipped an elbowbone. . . . Jayne Mansfield, I hear, has been very sick in New York. . . . Ginger Rogers and French husband, Jacques Bergerac, have been invited to the Cannes film festival—among the first to be so honored. . . . Two-some: Jeff Hunter and Rita Moreno. . . .

Apparently the reconciliation of the Cameron Mitchells is working. They're going to Hawaii together on a vacation. . . . Robert Mitchum as just emerged from a flu attack, and is now in Gotham for conversations with Sheldon Reynolds on "Foreign Intrigue," which they produced in Europe. . . . Grace Kelly's parents have returned to their home in Philadelphia after several weeks in Honolulu and Hollywood.

STAMPS

Ardent U.S. collectors will have a field day when the Fifth International Philatelic Exhibition is held in the New York Coliseum April 28 to May 6. The date also marks the opening of the magnificient new exhibition center.

Four philatelic items will be issued — an 11 cent souvenir sheet on April 28, a 3-cent commemorative stamp on April 30, a 6-cent air mail embossed envelope and a 2-cent commemorative postal card.

The 11-cent souvenir sheet shows enlarged reproductions of the 3-cent purple and the 8-cent red and blue Statue of Liberty stamps. The sheet will be in red, blue and purple and will also bear the signature of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

First day collectors may send their addressed envelopes with remittance (11 cents for each) to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y. prior to April 28. Because of the size of the sheet, the address should be placed in the extreme lower left corner of the envelope.

The 3-cent FIPEX commemorative features a likeness of the New York Coliseum with the Columbus Monument in the foreground. First day collectors should send their addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., with money order remittances. The outside envelope should be endorsed "First Day Covers 3-cent stamp." The date for this one, remember, is April 30.

The 6-cent embossed air mail stamped envelope will have a stamp bearing an artist's conception of an American eagle in flight forming a silhouette against the clouds. The stamp will be red and the lettering and eagle white.

Collectors wishing first day cancellations should send their orders to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., for a reasonable number of stamped envelopes, plainly indicating full name and address. The remittance to cover the cost is seven cents for each. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 6-cent Envelope." The release date is May 2.

The 2-cent postal card, which goes on first day sale May 4, will conform in dimension and style to the present 2-cent postal card except for the stamp. The stamp itself is an equitateral triangle pointing upward. The color is magenta and blue and the central design depicts the arm of the Statue of Libertl holding the torch of liberty.

Orders for first day cancelations of the 2-cent card should be sent to the Postmaster, New York 1, N.Y., for a reasonable number of cards, plainly indicating full name and address.

It will greatly aid the Postmaster is servicing these covers if separate orders and separate remittances are sent for each item.

Jack Palance Heads Star Cast As 'Big Knife' Hero

It used to be, in Hollywood, that a hero was a hero and a villain a villain, and between the two was an invisible barrier that could never be breeched. But these days, dramaturgy is subtler and casting more liberal, with the result that actors cross and recross the line between virtue and vice with increasing frequency and ease.

The latest of these trans-morality travelers is Jack Palance, who made his reputation as a film scoundrel and now, in "The Big Knife," plays the role of a movie-idol hero. This, in the parlance of the trade, is known as "the big switcheroo."

Palance co - stars in "The Big Knife" with Ida Lupino, Wendell Corey, Jean Hagen, Rod Stieger and Shelley Winters. The featured cast is headed by Everett Sloane, Ilka Chase, Paul Langton, and Wesley Addy. An adaptation of Clifford Odets' controversial Broadway hit about the lives and loves of Hollywood's stars, "The Big Knife" opens today at the Jim Theatre through United Artists release. Robert Aldrich was producer and director of the film.

After college—in which Palance hal dabbled in dramatics — he decided to become an actor. After the usual and largely unvarying vicisitudes that beset young aspirants to the drama, he got his first break. He was chosen as a temporary replacement for Marlon Brando when Brando became ill during the run of "Streetcar Named Desire." The man who chose him, Elia Kazan, remembered him when he needed a menace for "Panic in the Streets," and thus Jack Palance made his Hollywood debut.

After a second role in "Halls of Montezuma," Palance returned to Broadway and was a smash success in the Broadway stage version of Koestler's "Darkness at Noon." He was summoned back to Hollywood, where he appeared in "Shane," and "Sudden Fear," and with those two pictures he won successive Academy Award nominations. It took him exactly two years to make the jump from unknown to one of Hollywood's most - sought - after leading men.

There have been an annual average of 3,800,000 babies a year in the United States since the end of World War I.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

Tryouts for "The Tender Trap", Max Shulman's and Robert Paul Smith's hilarious comedy, will be held at the playhouse on Monday and Tuesday Feb. 27 and 28 at 8 o'clock.

We hope to see a lot of talent at the playhouse vying for the roles of the four women and four men to be cast in this mirth-provoking play.

"The Tender Trap" revolves around Charlie Reader, bachelor - about town; Poppy Matson, Jessica Collins, Sylvia Crewes and Julie Gillis, a bevy of gorgeous gals, who have matrimonial designs on Charlie. Contributing to the hilarity is Joe McCall, married man on a business trip and temporary escape from wall - to - wall carpeting, dental braces for the children and a social climbing wife; Earl Lindquist, chemist, who can't keep his mind on his work because he is so busy trying to prevent his girl from getting bachelor Charlie in her clutches and Sol Schwartz, a real cool musician who likes crazy parties the most.

We hope our brief description of "The Tender Trap" gives you some idea of the fun in store for this show. Come to tryouts and join us. If you can't make it on Monday, February 27, then come on Tuesday February 28.

Incidentally, tryouts are open to the public, regardless of whether or not you are a member of Little Theatre. So come one, come all. The more the merrier.

Random notes: Little Theatre's Beth Breese will go to New Orleans in the very near future to make more television commercials for a utilities company. We are sure you have seen Beth in some of these commercials but did you know that they are being shown not only locally, but throughout the Gulf South. . .

Little Theaterites who met New Orleanian Al Shea when he visited Director Ivan Uttal will be interested to know that he has a key role in New Orleans' Community Theatre presentation of the psychological drama "Twilight Walk" which will have its premiere on March 1. We hear that Al is quite a proficient actor. Maybe one of these days we can prevail upon him to lend his talents to one of our productions. . .

Former Little Theaterite Scherck Bogen sent Julius Cahn a program from the latest productions of Davenport, Iowa's community theatres "Masquers, Inc.". The play —"Dial M For Murder" — a present favorite with community theatres throughout the country. Remember how many theatres were doing the show about the same time we presented it here? Coincidentally, we noticed on the "Masquens" program that, like us, they are in their 24th season. . .

Between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. today (Sunday), volunteer workers for the Heart Fund will ring your doorbell. Please give. Your contributions are needed.

Forget the sheath. The alternate fashion type, the gored skirt balances the topheavy figure. The open neckline minimizes the bust. High mounted sleeve, medium to narrow in width, reduces the contrast between bust and hips.

Lake Enterprise Garden Club Is Entertained

Mrs. Joe Calloway entertained members of the Lake Enterprise Garden club of Wilmot at their February meeting, at which time Mrs. John Currie was the program leader for the timely subject "In the Garden" with Mrs. Joe Waggner serving as co-hostess.

Of special interest were the colorful films and slides showing "Wild Flowers of Arkansas, Buffalo River and Lake Conway" by Mr. George Purvis of the Arkansas Fish and Game commission. Club members enjoyed a most interesting and informative task by him on "Birds."

Preceding a brief business session, Mrs. E. H. Dunning called the roll with members answering by giving quotations about birds.

An item of importance discussed during the transaction of business, which was presided over by the president, Mrs. Vesta de Yampert, was the new project to be undertaken by the Garden club which plans to further its city beautification program by awarding the "Garden of the Month" marker to the deserving yard of the town.

Present were Mesdames E. K. Dunning, Austin Bordeaux, J. D. Brame, Lee Foster, Richard Bradshaw, Bonnie Denham, J. T. Kidwell, A. B. Cone, Norman Kirkwood, Vesta DeYampert, John Currie, Harry Porter, George Channel, I. A. Janes, and Leon Doles.

HEY, DAGWOOD, LOOK! I'M TAKING TROMBONE LESSONS

IT'S STARTED.....

DAGWOOD-- WHAT ARE YOU THINKING ABOUT?

I'M GOING OVER AND CONGRATULATE HERB--- FIRST TELL ME, DEAR, WHERE DO YOU KEEP THE CLOTHESLINE?

LISTEN TO THESE DEEP, DEEP, STATELY BASS NOTES

BEAUTIFUL, HERB--SIMPLY BEAUTIFUL

WHILE HE'S IN THE KITCHEN, I'LL TIE THE ROPE TO THE TROMBONE AND THROW THE OTHER END OUT THE WINDOW

COME, DAGWOOD-- I MADE SOME COFFEE

I HAVE TO GO, PAL, BUT FIRST A TOAST TO THE TROMBONE

CLINK

TO MY MUSICAL CAREER

DAGWOOD! WHAT HAVE YOU TIED TO THE OTHER END OF THAT ROPE?

I'LL GIVE YOU ONE GUESS

BAM

AH, SUCCESS-- HERE IT COMES-- MY SUPERIOR THINKING PAID OFF

THANKS FOR MY TROMBONE, AND HERE'S A BILL FOR EIGHTY-SIX DOLLARS' DAMAGE TO OUR FURNITURE

DAGWOOD, WHAT ARE YOU THINKING OF DOING NOW?

DICK TRACY

HE MUST HAVE BEEN HURT —BADLY

TOOLS

SPEED? DID YOU LOOK AT THIS MOTOR? A FUEL INJECTION JOB!

AND THESE TIRES—WITH CHAINS!

WITH ALL THIS BLOOD IN EVIDENCE, TRACY, I DON'T SEE HOW JOE PERIOD COULD HAVE GOT AWAY.

Regular detergents in your automatic washer may cause "suds lock" and clog your machine. AD, with just-right suds, lets your machine work smoothly.

Today try AD — to wash clothes really clean, in any type of washing machine!

AD . . . with just-right suds . . . gives you the cleanest wash possible and the whitest wash you've ever seen. And AD lets your automatic machine work freely and easily . . . without stress or strain. Yes, package-for-package, AD's cleaning and whitening ingredients combine to outwash any other product in your automatic washer—or your money back! Just send boxtop to: Colgate-Palmolive Co., Dept. C, P. O. Box 444, Jersey City 3, N. J.

MISTAKE! SWEENEY'S COUSINS THINK HE'S RICH!

NOW, IF ONLY WE HAD YOUR MONEY, COUSIN ROSCO.

OR IF ONLY WE COULD AFFORD TO BUY A NEW CAR LIKE YOURS.

OR EVEN A NEW PAINT JOB!

AW, SHUCKS, FOLKS.

LET'S BE RESOURCEFUL. LET'S USE OUR HEADS. LET'S SAVE MONEY. YOU BUY THE PAINT AND I'LL MAKE YOUR CAR LOOK LIKE NEW.

THE TIGHTWAD! HE DIDN'T EVEN OFFER TO BUY THE PAINT.

BOY, CAN HE SQUEEZE THE PENNIES!

YOU LISTEN TO ME, CLAUDE. ANYONE WHO CAN GET RICH FARMING IS A SMART COOKIE! YOU JUST WATCH HOW UNCLE ROSCO'S BRAIN WORKS AND MAYBE YOU'LL BECOME A MILLIONAIRE.

HERE'S THE PAINT, BUT I COULDN'T GET A BLOW-TORCH—

BUT WE GOT TO SOFTEN THE OLD PAINT BEFORE WE CAN SCRAPE IT OFF. AH, WELL.... NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF INVENTION.

I'VE GOT IT— WE'LL BUILD A BONFIRE. BETTER STILL... WE'LL BUILD TWO BONFIRES! ONE ON EACH SIDE OF YOUR CAR.

ER... DON'T YOU THINK WE BUILT THE FIRE A TRIFLE CLOSE?

LOOK! THE TIRES ARE SMOKING!!

THEY'RE BURNING UP!

NO NEED FOR ALARM, FOLKS. JUST PUSH THE CAR TO SAFETY.

HELP! FIRE! FIRE!

OW! OUCH! IT'S TOO HOT TO TOUCH!

BUT WHERE? THE PUMP'S DRY!

BUT HOW'D THE CAR CATCH FIRE?

WELL, I— I DON'T KNOW. ALL OF A SUDDEN, THE BONFIRES WERE TOO CLOSE, THE CAR TOO HOT, AND NO WATER.

THEN WHY DIDN'T YOU TAKE A RAKE AND PULL THE BONFIRES BACK, YOU NINNY?!

WELL, ER— AH...

HAH! HE NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT, THE DOPE!

BURNED UP OUR CAR!

I DON'T GET IT, MAMA. YOU SAID COUSIN ROSCO WAS SMART. YOU SAID TO WATCH HOW HIS BRAIN WORKS AND MAYBE I'D BECOME A MILLIONAIRE!

The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

THEN THE CHAMPIONS GATHER IN THE GREAT JUNGLE ARENA, WATCHED BY THOUSANDS OF JUNGLE-FOLK.

THERE IS A HUSH AS THE LEGENDARY PHANTOM, RULER OF THE JUNGLE, ENTERS THE ARENA. MANY SEE HIM NOW FOR THE FIRST TIME.

THEN HE BEGINS THE CEREMONIES - AND THE MATCHES START - THE FINAL WINNER TO MEET HIM!

MAY THE BEST MAN WIN. MAY HE RULE THE JUNGLE IN PEACE AND WISDOM.

THE CROWD ROARS AS HE LEAVES.

I WILL RETURN IN ONE WEEK TO FACE THE WINNER, AS IS OUR CUSTOM.

MEANWHILE, AT THE JUNGLE'S EDGE, A CONVICT PLOTS ESCAPE.

I'VE HAD ENOUGH OF THIS - I'M GETTING AWAY - MY FIRST CHANCE.

STOP GRIPING, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM. IT AIN'T EVERY DAY THAT SOCIALLY PROMINENT PEOPLE LIKE THE P.G. BUCKS INVITE US OUT FOR A FREE MEAL.

THE VERY IDEA! YOU WANTING TO GO IN A BUS AND LOOK LIKE A COUPLE OF NOBODIES TO THOSE SWANKY SUBURBANITES.

OH, TAXI-CAB!

I DON'T SEE WHY THE BUCKS WANT TO LIVE WAY OUT HERE IN THE COUNTRY.

OH, FOR PITY'S SAKE!

TAKE A LOOK AT THAT METER AND MAYBE YOU'LL STOP.

ULP! OH, MY WORD!

WELL, HERE WE ARE. NOW DON'T GO GETTING EXCITED. I HAVE A PLAN WHICH MAY MAKE OUR TRIP COST US NOTHING.

HUH?

WELL, I'LL FLIP YOU HEADS OR TAILS TO SEE IF MY HUSBAND PAYS YOU DOUBLE OR NOTHING.

OKAY, LADY. I'LL SAY TAILS.
